Historical Dictionary of Chan Buddhism Youru Wang, 2017-06-27 The popular name for Chan Buddhism in the West is Zen Buddhism as it was Japanese scholars who first introduced Chan Buddhism to the West with this translation Indeed chan is a shortened form of the Chinese word channa rendered from the Sanskrit word dhyana which denotes practices of the concentration of the mind through meditation or contemplation Although rooted in the Indian tradition of yoga which aims at the unification of the individual with the divine meditative concentration became integrated into the Buddhist path to enlightenment as one of the three learnings sanxue of Buddhism Early Buddhist or the so called Hinayana Buddhist scriptures include the teachings on four stages of meditation four divine abodes four formless meditations the tranquility samatha and insight vipassana meditations and so on Early Buddhist communities commonly practiced these meditations along with the moral disciplines and the study of the scriptures and doctrines Mahayana Buddhism in India and East Asia continued the practice of meditation as one of the six perfections or virtues of the bodhisattva path In this general context some eminent monks might have composed scriptures treatises for the training of meditation or have become more famed with meditation However the school of Chan is more than just a group of meditation practitioners As one of the Chinese Buddhist schools it involves its own ideology its own community and its own genealogical history serving to establish its own identity The Historical Dictionary of Chan Buddhism contains a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 400 cross referenced entries on important personalities schools texts vocabularies doctrines rituals temples events and other practices This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Chan

Buddhism The Yogin and the Madman Andrew Quintman, 2013-11-12 Tibetan biographers began writing Jetsun Milarepa's 1052-1135 life story shortly after his death, initiating a literary tradition that turned the poet and saint into a model of virtuosic Buddhist practice throughout the Himalayan world. Andrew Quintman traces this history and its innovations in narrative and aesthetic representation across four centuries, culminating in a detailed analysis of the genre's most famous example composed in 1488 by Tsangnyen Heruka or the Madman of Western Tibet. Quintman imagines these works as a kind of physical body supplanting the yogin's corporeal relics. Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001, Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an information company. Yongming Yanshou's Conception of Chan in the Zongjing lu Albert Welter, 2011-04-26 Yongming Yanshou ranks among the great thinkers of the Chinese and East Asian Buddhist traditions, one whose legacy has endured for more than a thousand years. Albert Welter offers new insight into the significance of Yanshou and his major work, the Zongjing lu, by showing their critical role in the contested Buddhist and intellectual territories of the Five Dynasties and early Song dynasty China. Welter gives a comprehensive study of Yanshou's life, showing how Yanshou's Buddhist identity has been and continues to be disputed. He also provides an in-depth examination of the Zongjing lu, connecting it to Chan debates ongoing at the time of its writing. This analysis includes a discussion of the seminal meaning of the term zong as the implicit truth of Chan and Buddhist teaching and a defining notion of Chan identity. Particularly significant is an analysis of the long underappreciated significance of the Chan fragments in the Zongjing lu, which constitute some of the earliest information about the teachings of Chan's early masters. In light of Yanshou's advocacy of a morally based Chan Buddhist practice, Welter also challenges the way Buddhism, particularly Chan, has frequently been criticized in Neo-Confucianism as amoral and unprincipled. Yongming Yanshou's Conception of Chan in the Zongjing lu concludes with an annotated translation of fascicle one of the Zongjing lu, the first translation of the work into a Western language. Narrating Karma and Rebirth Naomi Appleton, 2014-02-13 This book explores how multi-life stories served to construct, communicate, and challenge ideas about karma and rebirth within early South Asia. The Power of Patriarchs Elizabeth Morrison, 2010-03-25 The Chan monk Qisong (1007-1072), an important figure in Northern Song religious and intellectual history, has garnered relatively little scholarly attention. This book provides a detailed biography with a focus on the influential historical writings he composed to defend Chan claims of a mind-to-mind transmission, tracing back to the historical Buddha. It places his defense of lineage in the context not only of attacks by the rival Tiantai school but also of the larger backdrop of the development of lineage and patriarchs as sources of authority in Chinese Buddhism. It advances new arguments about these Chinese Buddhist innovations, challenges common assumptions about Chan masters, and offers insights into the interactions of Buddhists, Confucians, and the imperial court during the Song. Representation in Religion Jan Assmann, Albert I. Baumgartner, 2018-08-14 The role of representation in religion is complex. While often perceived as essential, it is also associated in many traditions with the liability of idolatry and provokes iconoclasm. The essays in this volume examine the nuances of representation in religion and the debate concerning its place across a variety of traditions from the three Abrahamic faiths to those of antiquity and the East This volume consists of presentations made at an international conference held in honor of Moshe Barasch art historian and cultural critic who has done much to elucidate the light which representation and religion shed on each other It pays tribute to Barasch by expanding the base of understanding and insight he has erected It should be of interest to students of religion and of art history

Paesi-kahāṇyaṃ, Sanskrit Willem B. Bollée, 2002 The story of the materialist prince Paesi is the only larger legend common to Jain and Buddhist Payasi in the Digha nikaya canonical literature and a rare sample of a lively dialogue Its subject the corporeality of the soul is denied by the Jains In contrast the Buddhists consider the I a facon de parler for practical reasons Modern brain research tends in favour of the Buddhist view of the ego as being impermanent and therefore an illusion created by the brain The problem in this dialogue of Paesi with a Jain monk which is set in the axial age of reflexion on and discussion of the soul 6th century BCE but in its present literary form dates some centuries later has therefore in two millennia not lost its actuality Differently from the Buddhist version the story of Paesi ends tragically after his conversion the prince is murdered by his wife The single arguments in the discussion show many ancient Indian realia birth ritual diseases etiquette ethnic list of female servants execution of thieves regicide 72 professions similes etc which have been commented upon in the notes

Apparitions of the Self Janet Gyatso, 2020-11-10 Apparitions of the Self is a groundbreaking investigation into what is known in Tibet as secret autobiography an exceptional rarely studied literary genre that presents a personal exploration of intimate religious experiences In this volume Janet Gyatso translates and studies the outstanding pair of secret autobiographies by the famed Tibetan Buddhist visionary Jigme Lingpa 1730 1798 whose poetic and self conscious writings are as much about the nature of his own identity memory and the undecidabilities of autobiographical truth as they are narrations of the actual content of his experiences Their translation in this book marks the first time that works of this sort have been translated in a Western language Gyatso is among the first to consider Tibetan literature from a comparative perspective examining the surprising fit as well as the misfit of Western literary theory with Tibetan autobiography She examines the intriguing questions of why Tibetan Buddhists produced so many autobiographies far more than other Asian Buddhists and how autobiographical self assertion is possible even while Buddhists believe that the self is ultimately an illusion Also explored are Jigme Lingpa s historical milieu his revelatory visions of the ancient Tibetan dynasty and his meditative practices of personal cultivation The book concludes with a study of the subversive female figure of the Dakini in Jigme Lingpa's writings and the implications of her gender her sexuality and her unsettling discourse for the autobiographical subject in Tibet
