Our Grandmothers' Drums Mark Hudson, 1989-01-01 One Grand Noise Jerrilyn McGregory, 2021-07-29 Winner of the 2022 Chicago Folklore Prize For many December 26 is more than the day after Christmas Boxing Day is one of the world's most celebrated cultural holidays As a legacy of British colonialism Boxing Day is observed throughout Africa and parts of the African diaspora but unlike Trinidadian Carnival and Mardi Gras fewer know of Bermuda's Gombey dancers Bahamian Junkanoo Dangriga's Jankun and Charikanari St Croix's Crucian Christmas Festival and St Kitts's Sugar Mas One Grand Noise Boxing Day in the Anglicized Caribbean World delivers a highly detailed thought provoking examination of the use of spectacular vernacular to metaphorically dramatize such tropes as one grand noise foreday morning and from back o town In cultural solidarity and an obvious critique of Western values and norms revelers engage in celebratory sounds often donning masks cross dressing and dancing with abandon along thoroughfares usually deemed anathema to them Folklorist Jerrilyn McGregory demonstrates how the cultural producers in various island locations ritualize Boxing Day as a part of their struggles over identity class and gender relations in accordance with time and space Based on ethnographic study undertaken by McGregory One Grand Noise explores Boxing Day as part of a creolization process from slavery into the twenty first century McGregory traces the holiday from its Egyptian origins to today and includes chapters on the Gombey dancers of Bermuda the evolution of Junkanoo Jankun in The Bahamas and Belize and J ouvert traditions in St Croix and St Kitts Through her exploration of the holiday McGregory negotiates the ways in which Boxing Day has expanded from small communal traditions into a common history of colonialism that keeps alive a collective spirit of resistance Titian Mark Hudson, 2010-10-01 Towards the end of his life Titian didn't finish his paintings The elderly artist kept them in his studio never quite completing them as though wanting to endlessly postpone the moment of letting go Created with the fingers as much as the brush Titian's last paintings are imbued with a sense of final desperate effort a rawness and immediacy that weren't to be seen again in art for centuries But what did Titian who experienced as much in the way of material success as any artist before or since mean by these works Are they a harrowing final testament or simply a collection of unfinished paintings In the outbreak of plague that finally killed him Titian's studio was looted and many paintings taken What happened to them is not known This book is a quest a journey through Titian's life and work towards the physical and spiritual landscape of his last paintings Looking at Titian's relationships with his artistic rivals his patrons including popes kings and emperors and his troubled dealings with his own family the narrative moves from the artist's hometown in the Dolomites to the greatest churches and palaces of the age Parallel with these physical travels is a journey through the paintings following the glittering trajectory of Titian's life and career the remorseless formal development that led to the breakthroughs of his last days Titian The Last Days is an exploratory history of the artist and his world that vividly recreates the atmosphere of sixteenth century Venice and Europe a narrative in which the search for the subject becomes part of the subject itself The result is a brilliant and compelling study of one of Europe s greatest artists that is at once passionate engaging and deeply personal

Irohin ,1991 Young People's

Lives and Sexual Relationships in Rural Africa Mary Louisa Plummer,Daniel Wight,2011-08-16 New infections with HIV remain an urgent problem among young people in Africa but many young Africans pursue sexual relationships with little thought about the epidemic This book examines young people s sexual relationships in a region typical of rural sub Saharan Africa and investigates why the risk of HIV infection generally was not a salient concern for them It is based on an extraordinarily large and representative qualitative study that was affiliated with an adolescent sexual health intervention trial and included three person years of participant observation conducted by young East Africans in nine Tanzanian villages The book describes typical patterns of sexual relationship formation in adolescence and early adult life the variety of young people's relationships and practices and the contradictory social ideals and expectations that led premarital and extramarital relationships to be concealed. Young men's main motivations for sex were pleasure and masculine identity while young women's was to receive money or materials to meet their basic needs such as soap or a daytime meal. By their late teens most young people had experienced one-time sexual encounters, open-ended opportunistic relationships and, mainly, sometimes semi-public partnerships. Relationships could involve desire, possessiveness and affection but romantic idealization of a partner was rare. Many young people expected their partners to be monogamous but themselves had had concurrent relationships by age 20. The practice of hiding premarital sexual relationships from adults often also concealed them from other sexual partners which helped maintain concurrency and inhibited realistic risk perception. Understanding of the biology of HIV/AIDS was very limited. Condoms were rarely used because they were associated with reduced pleasure, infection and promiscuity. Sexually transmitted infections were common but several factors hindered young people from seeking biomedical treatment for them. Many instead relied on tradition.
