Our Great Solicitor Josiah C Wedgwood And The Jews:

Our Great Solicitor Joshua B. Stein, 1992 His public advocacy of resistance to this not excluding the use of force sparked cries of denunciation in press and Parliament But Wedgwood never bowed to the critics claiming always that it was he who was within the traditions of Britain not those who turned a blind eye to the plight of the Jews Ultimately despairing of Britain living up to its obligations to the Jews Wedgwood made an amazing wartime radio broadcast to America advocating that the United States take over the mandate as Britain had lost the will and moral fortitude to handle the job herself On the home front Wedgwood was appalled with the policy of restricting refugee immigration into Britain He consistently maintained that persecuted Jews should be allowed into the country that their coming would secure their protection and also strengthen England

The Political Life of Josiah C. Wedgwood Paul Mulvey, 2010 New study of the Radical politician Josiah Wedgwood setting him in context and illuminating many of the political issues of the time In his day Josh Wedgwood was one of Britain's best known and most outspoken Radical politicians He served in three wars and in a Parliamentary career lasting from 1906 to 1943 first with the Liberals and then with Labour he fought to uphold personal liberty and to limit the power of the state Instead of the collectivism of socialists or social imperialists Wedgwood advocated a Radical vision of Victorian Individualism as the solution to the problems of social inequality at home and growing threats abroad that Britain faced in the first half of the twentieth century His support of individual freedom a redistribution of landowner's wealth and a voluntary and democratic British Empire received only limited support in his own lifetime but he fought for them with vigour and passion throughout his career This study of his life throws new light upon some of the defining ideological and policy issues of the most turbulent period of modern British history PAUL MULVEY teaches at the London School of Economics

British Jewry, Zionism, and the Jewish State, 1936-1956 Stephan Wendehorst, 2012 Stephan E C Wendehorst explores the relationship between British Jewry and Zionism from 1936 to 1956 a crucial period in modern Jewish history encompassing both the Shoah and the establishment of the State of Israel He attempts to provide an answer to what at first sight appears to be a contradiction the undoubted prominence of Zionism among British Jews on the one hand and its diverse expressions ranging from aliyah to making a donation to a Zionist fund on the other Wendehorst argues that the ascendancy of Zionism in British Jewry is best understood as a particularly complex but not untypical variant of the 19th and 20th century's trend to re-imagine communities in a national key He examines the relationship between British Jewry and Zionism on three levels the transnational Jewish sphere of interaction the British Jewish community and the place of the Jewish community in British state and society The introduction adapts theories of nationalism so as to provide a framework of analysis for Diaspora Zionism Chapter one addresses the question of why British Jews became Zionists chapter two how the various quarters of British Jewry related to the Zionist project in the Middle East chapter three Zionist nation building in Britain and chapter four the impact of Zionism on Jewish relations with the larger society The conclusion modifies the original argument by emphasising the impact that the specific fabric of British state and society in particular the Empire had on British Zionism

Bystanders to the Holocaust David Cesarani, Paul A. Levine, 2014-06-03 Using accessible archival sources a team of historians reveal how much the USA Britain Switzerland and Sweden knew about the Nazi attempt to murder all the Jews of Europe during World War II
