Seductive Forms Womens Amatory Fiction From 1684 To 1740:

Seductive Forms Ros Ballaster, 1992-07-02 Historicist and feminist accounts of the rise of the novel have neglected the phenomenon of the professional woman writer in England prior to the advent of the sentimental novel in the 1740s Seductive Forms explores the means by which the three leading Tory women novelists of the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries challenged and reworked both contemporary gender ideologies and generic convention The seduction plot provided Aphra Behn Delarivier Manley and Eliza Haywood with a vehicle for dramatizing their own appropriation of the masculine power of fiction making Seduction is employed in these fictions as a metaphor for both novelistic production the seduction of the reader by the writer and party political machination the seduction of the public by the politician This challenging and lively book also explores the debts early prose fiction owed to French seventeenth century models of fiction writing and argues that Behn Manley and Haywood succeed in producing a distinctively English and female form for the amatory novel

Seductive Forms Rosalind Ballaster, 1992 This book explores the ways in which three women novelists of the late 17th and early 18th centuries challenged and reworked both contemporary gender ideologies and generic convention

Seductive Forms Rosalind Ballaster, 1989 The Hyperlocal in Eighteenth- and Nineteenth-Century Literary Space Nicholas Birns, 2019-08-26 This book examines literary representations of hyperlocal spaces that subvert the idea of grounded and organic spatial identities Figures such as the pond the scientific particle and Wedgwood creamware often go unnoticed but they exemplify important shifts in culture and aesthetics in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries The Hyperlocal in Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century Literary Space argues that these objects as well as locations such as alcoves in remote shires city inns and mountain retreats were portrayed by writers in the late eighteenth and early to mid nineteenth centuries as gambits that challenged cultural hegemonies It shows that the hyperlocal space or object though particular reaches beyond itself affording an elasticity that can allow those things that seem beneath notice to reveal broader cultural significance

Pope to Burney, 1714-1779 Moyra Haslett, 2017-03-14 This essential guide defines literature of the eighteenth century as a literature written and received as public conversation Moyra Haslett discusses and challenges conventional ways of reading the period particularly in relation to notions of the public sphere In her wide ranging study Haslett reads key texts including The Dunciad Gulliver's Travels and Pamela in their literary and cultural contexts and examines such genres as the periodical the familiar letter the verse epistle and the novel as textual equivalents of coterie culture

Narrative Developments from Chaucer to Defoe Gerd Bayer, Ebbe Klitgaard, 2011-02-07 This book analyzes how narrative technique developed from the late Middle Ages to the beginning of the eighteenth century The contributors address issues such as subjectivity performance voice narrative time character development and genre placing their readings of early modern prose texts within the diachronic frame of the overall topic Individual chapters will treat texts from a variety of genres offering analyses of individual texts in the context of changes and developments within literary forms The book in its entirety will cover a period of approximately 350 years from 1370 to 1720

Women and Islam in Early Modern

English Literature

Bernadette Andrea, 2008-01-17 In this innovative study Bernadette Andrea focuses on the contributions of women and their writings in the early modern cultural encounters between England and the Islamic world She examines previously neglected material such as the diplomatic correspondence between Queen Elizabeth I and the Ottoman Queen Mother Safiye at the end of the sixteenth century and resituates canonical accounts including Lady Mary Wortley Montagu's travelogue of the Ottoman empire at the beginning of the eighteenth century Her study advances our understanding of how women negotiated conflicting discourses of gender orientalism and imperialism at a time when the Ottoman empire was hugely powerful and England was still a marginal nation with limited global influence This book is a significant contribution to critical and theoretical debates in literary and cultural postcolonial women's and Middle Eastern studies

Women

Writers and Experimental Narratives

Kate Aughterson, Deborah Philips, 2021-01-23 This book explores the history of women's engagement with writing experimentally Women writers have long used different narratives and modes of writing as a way of critiquing worlds and stories that they find themselves at odds with but at the same time as a way to participate in such spaces Experimentation of style mode voice genre and language has enabled women writers to be simultaneously creative and critical engaged in and yet apart from stories and cultures that have so often seen them as other This collection shows that women writers in English over the past 400 years have challenged those ideas not only through explicit polemic and alternative representations but through disrupting the very modes of representation and story itself

New

Perspectives on Delarivier Manley and Eighteenth Century Literature

Aleksandra Hultquist, Elizabeth Mathews, 2016-07-01 This first critical collection on Delarivier Manley revisits the most heated discussions adds new perspectives in light of growing awareness of Manley's multifaceted contributions to eighteenth century literature and demonstrates the wide range of thinking about her literary production and significance While contributors reconsider some well known texts through her generic intertextuality or unresolved political moments the volume focuses more on those works that have had less attention dramas correspondence journalistic endeavors and late prose fiction The methodological approaches incorporate traditional investigations of Manley such as historical research gender theory and comparative close readings as well as some recently influential theories like geocriticism and affect studies This book forges new paths in the many underdeveloped directions in Manley scholarship including her work's exploration of foreign locales the power dynamics between individuals and in relation to states sexuality beyond heteronormativity and the shifting operations and influences of genre While it draws on previous writing about Manley's engagement with Whig Tory politics gender and queerness it also argues for Manley's contributions as a writer with wide ranging knowledge of both the inner sanctums of London and the outer developing British Empire an astute reader of politics a sophisticated explorer of emotional and gender dynamics and a flexible and clever stylist In contrast to the many ways Manley has been too easily dismissed this collection

carefully considers many points of view and opens the way for new analyses of Manley's life work and vital contributions to the full range of forms in which she wrote An Introduction to Eighteenth-Century Fiction John Skinner, 2017-03-14 The formal and expressive range of canonic eighteenth century fiction is enormous between them Defoe Richardson Fielding Smollett and Sterne seem to have anticipated just about every question confronting the modern novelist and Aphra Behn even raises a number of issues overlooked by her male successors But one might also reverse the coin much of what is present in these writers will today seem remote and bizarre There is in fact only one novelist from the long eighteenth century who is not an endangered species outside the protectorates of university English departments Jane Austen Plenty of people read her moreover without the need for secondary literature These reservations were taken into account in the writing of this book An Introduction to Eighteenth Century Fiction is a comprehensive and accessible introduction to English fiction from Aphra Behn to Jane Austen It deals with novel criticism canon formation and relations between genre and gender The second part of the book contains an extensive discussion of Richardson and Fielding followed by paired readings of major eighteenth century novels juxtaposing texts by Behn and Defoe Sterne and Smollett Lennox and Burney among others The various sections of the book and even the individual chapters may be read independently or in any order Works are discussed in a way intended to help students who have not read them and even engage with some who never will The author consumes eighteenth century fiction avidly but has tried to write a reader friendly survey for those who may not
