Great halls and hovels dove houses and sheepcotes mountain cells and seaside shelters these are some of the spaces in which Shakespearean characters gather to dwell and to test their connections with one another and their worlds Julia Reinhard

Lupton enters Shakespeare's dwelling places in search of insights into the most fundamental human problems. Focusing on five works: Romeo and Juliet, Macbeth, Pericles, Cymbeline, and The Winter's Tale, Lupton remakes the concept of dwelling by drawing on a variety of sources including modern design theory, Renaissance treatises on husbandry and housekeeping, and the philosophies of Hannah Arendt and Martin Heidegger. The resulting synthesis not only offers a new entry point into the contemporary study of environments, it also shows how Shakespeare's works help us continue to make sense of our primal, creaturely need for shelter.

Staging Domesticity Wendy Wall, 2002-01-10. What role does food and cooking play in how people imagine themselves and their communities? In this book, Wendy Wall argues that representations of housework in the early modern period helped to forge crucial conceptions of national identity. Rich with a detailed account of household practices in the period, Staging Domesticity reads plays on the London stage in the light of the first printed cookbooks in England. Working from original historical sources on wetnursing, laundering, sewing, medical care, and butchery, Wall shows that domesticity was represented as deeply familiar but also enticingly alien. Wall analyses a wide range of the repertoire, including some now little-known plays as well as key works in the period by Shakespeare and others. Wall concludes that rather than dramatizations of only court-based and aristocratic domestic life, literature of the period drew on work from the more common household.

Go, 1951-04. Museum Marketing Ruth Rentschler, Anne-Marie Hede, 2009-11-04. Museums have moved from a product to a marketing focus within the last ten years. This has entailed a painful reorientation of approaches to understanding visitors as customers, new ways of fundraising and sponsorship as government funding decreases, and grappling with using the internet for marketing. This book brings the latest in marketing thinking to bear on the museum sector, taking into account both the commercial issues and social mission it involves. Carefully structured to be highly accessible, the book offers a contemporary and relevant and global approach to museum marketing, written by authors in Britain, Australia, the United States, and Asia. An approach that reflects the particular challenges museums of varying sizes face when seeking to market an experience to a diverse set of stakeholders: audience, funders, sponsors, and government. A particular focus on museum marketing in the Information Age. Major case studies at the beginning and end of each section of the book, and smaller case studies within chapters. The hugely experienced author team includes both leading academics and practitioners to ensure the book has broad appeal and is both relevant, innovative, and progressive in approach. It will be essential reading for students in museum studies, non-profit marketing, and arts management and marketing. It will also be equally relevant for professionals working in and managing museums and galleries, heritage attractions, and ministries of arts.

Prolific Ground Nicolle Jordan, 2025. Prolific Ground investigates landownership as a crucial factor in the emergence of British women's independence during the long eighteenth century. Staking a claim to the nation's investment in land, women writers acquired a socio-political authority that otherwise eluded them. The landscapes that emerge in their writing testify to the socio-political power of land in this era.
