In addition, for each species, precise type information is provided, distribution within Central America is documented by the examination of specimens, world distribution is indicated, habitat notes based on personal field experience or taken from collection labels are provided, and a list of previously published illustrations is given. This volume contains numerous genera that treat all tropical American species of those genera as well as major treatments on Lepidopilum 18 species, Thamniopsis 13 species, Pirella 11 species, and Porotrichum 11 species. Evolutionary Biology Max Hecht, 2012-12-06 Evolutionary Biology of which this is the nineteenth volume continues to offer its readers a wide range of original articles, reviews, and commentaries on evolution in the broadest sense of that term. The topics of the reviews range from anthropology and behavior to molecular biology and systematics. In recent volumes, a broad spectrum of articles have appeared on such subjects as natural selection among replicating molecules, in vitro mate recognition, and the reproductive behavior in Drosophila, evolution of the monocotyledons, species selection, and the communication network made possible among even distantly related genera of bacteria by plasmids and other transposable elements. Articles such as these, often too long for standard journals, are the stuff of Evolutionary Biology. The editors continue to solicit manuscripts on an international scale in an effort to see that everyone of the many facets of biological evolution is covered. Manuscripts should be sent to anyone of the following: Max K. Hecht, Department of Biology, Queens College of the City University of New York, Flushing, New York 11367; Bruce Wallace, Department of Biology, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, Blacksburg, Virginia 24061; Ghillian T.
