New Directions In European Historiography:

New Directions in European Historiography Georg G. Iggers, 1985 The houses of history Anna Green, Kathleen Troup, 2016-08-15 The houses of history is a clear jargon free introduction to the major theoretical approaches employed by historians This innovative critical reader provides accessible introductions to fourteen schools of thought from the empiricist to the postcolonial including chapters on Marxist history Freud and psychohistory the Annales historical sociology narrative gender public history and the history of the emotions Each chapter begins with a succinct description of the ideas integral to a particular theory The authors then explore the insights and controversies arising from the application of this model drawing upon debates and examples from around the world Each chapter concludes with a representative example from a historian writing within this conceptual framework This newly revised edition of the highly successful textbook is the ideal basis for an introductory course in history and theory for students of history at all levels The Plain and Noble Garb of Truth Eileen K. Cheng, 2008 American historians of the early national period argues Eileen Ka May Cheng grappled with objectivity professionalism and other modern issues to a greater degree than their successors in later generations acknowledge Her extensive readings of antebellum historians show that by the 1820s a small but influential group of practitioners had begun to develop many of the doctrines and concerns that undergird contemporary historical practice The Plain and Noble Garb of Truth challenges the entrenched notion that America's first generations of historians were romantics or propagandists for a struggling young nation Cheng engages with the works of well known early national historians like George Bancroft William Prescott and David Ramsay such lesser known figures as Jared Sparks and Lorenzo Sabine and leading political and intellectual elites of the day including Francis Bowen and Charles Francis Adams She shows that their work which focused on the American Revolution was often nuanced and surprisingly sympathetic in its treatment of American Indians and loyalists She also demonstrates how the rise of the novel contributed to the emergence of history as an autonomous discipline arguing that paradoxically early national historians at once described truth in opposition to the novel and were influenced by the novel in their understanding of truth Modern historians should recognize that the discipline of history is itself a product of history says Cheng By taking seriously a group of too often dismissed historians she challenges contemporary historians to examine some ahistorical aspects of the way they understand their own discipline

Explorations in Cultural History T. G. Ashplant, Gerry Smyth, 2001-03-20 History is an invention in the present as much as a representation and interpretation of the past This has opened up innovative approaches to the research and writing of history and it is the two ideas central to this theme that culture is historically conditioned and history culturally conditioned that this book explores Both theoretical and practical in its approach this volume explains the development of cultural history and its impact on current teaching Part One examines the ways in which conceptions of historical meaning have been challenged via developments in a range of disciplines including literary and linguistic theory history sociology anthropology media and cultural studies Part Two looks at four case studies drawn from America and Britain the Vietnam Veterans Memorial the music of the Beatles the social documentary of George Orwell and the political polemics of nineteenth century British radical women

Crisis and Transformation in Seventeenth-century China Chun-shu Chang, Shelley Hsueh-lun Chang, 1998 Describes the social and cultural transformation of seventeenth century China through the life and work of Li Yu

Narration and Explanation , 2021-11-15 The Theory and Practice of History Leopold von Ranke, 2010-11-01 Leopold von Ranke who was born in 1795 is considered to be one of the founders of the modern practice of writing history This collection of his writings edited and introduced by Georg G Iggers was first published in 1973 and remains the leading collection of Ranke s writings in the English language Now updated with the needs of current students in mind this edition includes previously untranslated materials by the young Ranke focusing particularly on the relationship between history and religion together with his inaugural lecture of 1836 On the Relation and Difference between History and Politics Including pieces on historical science and on the relationship between history and philosophy as well as country specific histories this book is essential reading for all students of historiography

Civilization and the Human Subject John Mandalios, 1999-09-08 Recent debates have highlighted the importance of the self to a better understanding of the nature of culture and its relation to power In his new book John Mandalios incorporates the current postmodern debate on these issues with a deeper philosophical exploration of identity and cultural formation and the dynamics of social power underlying them He takes up identity formation within an analysis of the historical social political religious and psychoanalytical dimensions of civilized life that can be traced back to the classical world Questions ordinarily associated with the postmodern condition _otherness fragmentation power the situated self disciplinary practices and multiplicity_ are related to the problematic of human subjectivity and how civilized modes of conduct of the self cannot simply be explained by national cultural traditions Mandalios argues that self identity is not reducible to the effects of globalization or power or any one single collective identity representation The self is enveloped within a complex which requires a civilization analytic perspective into the world and the inner life
