Best of Covered Wagon Women Kenneth L. Holmes, 2014-10-20 The diaries and letters of women who braved the overland trails during the great nineteenth century westward migration are treasured documents in the study of the American West These eight firsthand accounts are among the best ever written They were selected for the power with which they portray the hardship adventure and boundless love for friends and family that characterized the overland experience Some were written with the skilled pens of educated women Others bear the marks of crude cabin learning with archaic and imaginative spelling and a simplicity of expression All convey the profound effect the westward trek had on these women For too long these diaries and letters were secreted away in attics and basements or collected dust on the shelves of manuscript collections across the country Their publication gives us a fresh perspective on the pioneer experience

The First We Can Remember Lee Schweninger, 2011-11-01 Looking over the great prairie in the early 1880s Nellie Buchanan said I knew I would never be contented until I had a home of our own in the wonderful West Some were not so sanguine Mary Cox described the prairie as the most barren forsaken country that we had ever seen Like the others whose stories appear in this book these women were describing their own thoughts and experiences traveling to and settling in what became Colorado Sixty seven of their original first person narratives recounted to Civil Works Administration workers in 1933 and 1934 are gathered for the first time in this book The First We Can Remember presents richly detailed vivid and widely varied accounts by women pioneers during the late nineteenth century Narratives of white American born European and Native American women contending with very different circumstances and geographical challenges tell what it was like to settle during the rise of the smelting and mining industries or the gold rush era to farm or ranch for the first time to struggle with unfamiliar neighbors food and water shortages crop failure or simply the intransigent land and unpredictable weather Together these narratives historically and geographically framed by Lee Schweningen s detailed introduction create a vibrant picture of women s experiences in the pioneering of the American West

The New Eldorado Phyllis F. Dorset,1970 From the River to the Sea John Sedgwick,2022-07-05 A sweeping and lively history of one of the most dramatic stories never told of the greatest railroad war of all time fought by the daring leaders of the Santa Fe and the Rio Grande to seize control and create the American West The Mountainous West William Wyckoff,Lary M. Dilsaver,1995-01-01 Traditional interpretations of the American West have concentrated on the importance of its aridity to the region s cultural evolution and development But the West is marked by a second fact of physical geography that distinguished it from the experiences of settlers from the east As pioneers struggled with the climate west of the hundredth meridian they were also confronted by mountains strewn across the region and offering their own set of limitations and opportunities This volume focuses on these green islands of the Mountainous West that have witnessed patterns of settlement and development distinct from their lowland neighbors In thirteen essays the contributors address the mountains by means of five themes the mountains as barriers to movement islands of moisture a zone of concentrated resources an area of government control and a restorative sanctuary The focus ranges from California s Sierra Nevada to the Rocky Mountains of Colorado Utah and Montana William K Wyckoff is an associate professor Department of Earth Sciences Montana State University He is the author of The Developer s Frontier The Making of the Western New York Landscape and of articles in many journals including The California Geographer Social Science Journal Geographical Review and Journal of Historical Geography Lary M Dilsaver is a professor in the Department of Geology and Geography University of South Alabama The author with William Tweed of Challenge of the Big Trees A Resource History of Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks he has also written articles in journals such as Geographical Review Annals of Tourism Research and Yearbook of the Association of Pacific Coast Geographers Imperialism and Expansionism in American History Chris J. Magoc,David Bernstein,2015-12-14 This four volume encyclopedia chronicles the historical roots of the United States current military dominance documenting its growth from continental expansionism to hemispheric hegemony to global empire This groundbreaking four volume encyclopedia offers sweeping coverage of a subject central to American history and of urgent importance today as the nation wrestles with a global imperial posture and the long term viability of the largest military establishment in human history The work features more than 650 entries encompassing the full scope of American expansionism and imperialism from the colonial era through the 21st century War on Terror Readers will learn about U S Native American conflicts 19th century land laws early forays overseas for example the opening of Japan and America s imperial conflicts in Cuba and the Philippines U S interests in Latin America are explored as are the often forgotten ambitions that lay behind the nation s involvement in the World Wars The work also offers extensive coverage of the Cold War and today s ongoing conflicts in Iraq Afghanistan Africa and the Middle East as they relate to U S national interests Notable individuals including American statesmen military commanders influential public figures and anti imperialists are covered as well The inclusion of cultural elements of American expansionism and imperialism for example Hollywood films and protest music helps distinguish this set from other more limited works Covered Wagon Women Marsha E.

Montoya,David Duniway,Kenneth L.
