New Zealands Industrial Heritage:

New Zealand's Industrial Heritage Geoffrey G. Thornton, 1982 Industrial Heritage Tourism Philip Feifan Xie, 2015

This book examines the complex interplay between industrial heritage and tourism. It serves to stimulate meaningful dialogue about the socioeconomic values of industrial sites and the use of tourism for the growth of the creative economy and to better understand how the collective social memory and local identity connected to these sites have been shaped by different social groups over time. The volume presents a conceptual framework underpinned by case studies drawn from Asia, North America, Australasia and Europe and advocates the creation of mixed use spaces and stakeholder collaboration to develop tourism at industrial heritage sites. These theoretical and practical perspectives will be of use to researchers and students of heritage tourism, urban and regional planning and tourism marketing.

Mining Heritage and Tourism Michael Conlin, Lee Jolliffe, 2010-10-04

Many former mining areas have now lost their industrial function and are now turning to tourism for regional revitalization and community economic development. The transformation process of these industrial and in some cases derelict mining sites and landscapes into an area of interest for tourists is a major challenge both for planners and for tourism managers. It involves complex consideration to both the preservation of the physical site and community mining heritages as well as the health safety and environmental factors inherent in opening these vast sites to the public. Mining Heritage and Tourism includes contributions from internationally recognized authorities and is the first book to focus on the issues, challenges and potentials in redeveloping mines as cultural heritage attractions which are explored thematically throughout the book. It draws on multidisciplinary research to consider the dichotomy between heritage preservation and tourist development goals for mining heritage sites as well as to explore the practical challenges of developing these sites. These themes are illustrated by case studies from a vast range of geographical locations around the globe to offer operational insights into the planning and management of these sites for both heritage and tourism purposes as well as innovative site management techniques. There has never before been a more comprehensive book on mining heritage tourism representing the latest developments in strategy, policy and practices. This book serves as an invaluable guide for students, researchers, academics and practitioners in the areas of Tourism and Heritage Management.

Chiefs of Industry Hazel Petrie, 2013-10-01

Drawing on a wide range of sources in both English and Maori, this study explores the entrepreneurial activity of New Zealand's indigenous Maori in the early colonial period. Focusing on the two industries, coastal shipping and flourmilling, where Maori were spectacularly successful in the 1840s and 1850s, this title examines how such a society was able to develop capital intensive investments and harness tribal ownership quickly and effectively to render commercial advantages. A discussion of the sudden decline in the golden age of Maori enterprise from changing market conditions to land alienation is also included.

Archaeology and History of the Chinese in Southern New Zealand During the Nineteenth Century Neville A. Ritchie, 2023-11-01

This revised edition of Dr Neville A. Ritchie's 1986 PhD dissertation explores the Developing Industrial and Mining Heritage Sites Taşkın Deniz Yıldız,2023-12-21 Developing Industrial and Mining Heritage Sites offers a multifaceted examination of the challenges and opportunities in the development of industrial mining heritage. It does so through the case study of Lavrion, Turkey, by examining the historical process of this former mining site which has turned into a site of industrial and cultural heritage. It explores the ruins and monuments which could be considered the industrial mining heritage of Lavrion, the restoration and rehabilitation of the mine buildings and describes the activities succeeded through the management of a university and through the provided finance on an abandoned mining site. The book also highlights the challenges experienced from the restoration of an abandoned mine site until it turned into an industrial mining heritage. This book will be of interest to researchers in the fields of industrial heritage, tourism, urban conservation, mining history, post mining archaeology, archaeometallurgy, geology and mineralogy as well as policy makers and industry professionals.

Architectural Conservation in Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific Islands John Stubbs, William Chapman, Julia Gatley, Ross King, 2023-12-22. The fourth in a series that documents architectural conservation in different parts of the world. Architectural Conservation in Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific Islands: National Experiences and Practice addresses cultural heritage protection in a region which comprises one third of the Earth's surface. In response to local needs, Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific Islands have developed some of the most important and influential techniques, legislation, doctrine and theories in cultural heritage management in the world. The evolution of the heritage protection ethos and contemporary architectural conservation practices in Australia and Oceania are discussed on a national and regional basis using ample illustrations and examples. Accomplishments in architectural conservation are discussed in their national and international contexts with an emphasis on original developments, solutions and contributions made to the overall field. Enriched with essays contributed from fifty-nine specialists and thought leaders in the field, this book contains an extraordinary breadth and depth of research and synthesis on the why's and how's of cultural heritage conservation. Its holistic approach provides an essential resource and reference for students, academics, researchers, policy makers, practitioners and all who are interested in conserving the built environment.

Making Peoples James Belich, 2002-02-28. Now in paperback. This immensely readable book, full of drama and humor as well as scholarship, is a watershed in the writing of New Zealand history. In making many new assertions and challenging many historical myths, it seeks to reinterpret our approach to the past. Given New Zealand's small population, short history and great isolation, the history of the archipelago has been saddled with a reputation for mundanity. According to James Belich, however, it is just these characteristics that make New Zealand a historian's paradise, a laboratory whose isolation, size and recency is an advantage in which the grand themes of world history are often played out more rapidly, more separately and therefore more discernably than elsewhere. The first of two planned volumes, Making Peoples, begins with the Polynesian settlement and its development into the Maori tribes in the eleventh century. It traces the great encounter between independent Maoridom and expanding Europe from 1642 to 1916, including the foundation of the Pakeha, the neo-Europeans of New Zealand, between the 1830s and the 1880s It describes the forging of a neo Polynesia and a neo Britain and the traumatic interaction between them The author carefully examines the myths and realities that drove the colonialization process and suggests a new living version of one of the most critical and controversial documents in New Zealand s history the Treaty of Waitangi frequently described as New Zealand s Magna Carta The construction of peoples Maori and Pakeha is a recurring theme the response of each to the great shift from extractive to sustainable economics their relationship with their Hawaikis or ancestors with each other and with myth Essential reading for anyone interested in New Zealand history and in the history of new societies in general

Industrial Heritage and Regional Identities Christian Wicke, Stefan Berger, Jana Golombek, 2018-04-09 Heritage is not what we see in front of us it is what we make of it in our heads Heritage sites have been connected to a range of identarian projects both spatial and non spatial One of the most common links with heritage has been national identity This book stresses that heritage has developed powerful links to regional and local identities Contributors deal explicitly with regions of heavy industry in different parts of the world exploring non spatial forms of identity including class religious ethnic racial gender and cultural identities In many heritage sites non spatial forms of identity are interlinked with spatial ones Civil society action has been important in representations of regional identities and industrial heritage campaigns Region branding seems to determine the ultimate success of industrial heritage a process that is closely connected to the marketing of regions to provide a viable economic future and attract tourism to the region Selected case studies on coal and steel producing regions in this book provide the first global survey of how regions of heavy industry deal with their industrial heritage and what it means for regional identity and region branding This book draws a range of powerful conclusions about the path dependency of particular forms for post industrial regional identity in former regions of heavy industry It highlights both commonalities and differences in the strategies employed with regard to the regions industrial heritage This book will appeal to lecturers students and scholars in the fields of heritage management industrial studies and cultural geography

The Oxford Handbook of Industrial Archaeology Eleanor Casella, Michael Nevell, Hanna Steyne, 2022-05-12 Representing the first substantial English language text on Industrial Archaeology in a decade this handbook comes at a time when the global impact of industrialization is being re assessed in terms of its legacy of climate change mechanization urbanization the forced migration of peoples and labour relations Critical debates around the beginning of a new geological era The Anthropocene have emerged over the last decade This approach interrogates the widespread exploitation of natural resources that forged industrialization from its early emergence in 18th century northern Europe to its contemporary ubiquity environmental impacts and social legacy within our globalized world Through a broad international and multi period set of chapters this volume explores the complex origins processes and development of industrialization through both its physical remains and human consequences both the good and the bad It provides a diverse material framework for understanding our modern world from its industrial origins through its future paths in the 21st century

A Bibliography of

New Zealand Industrial Economics Research Nancy J. Wilson, Alan Bollard, 1984 The Limits Of Protectionism Michael Lusztiq, 2010-06-15 Conventional wisdom holds that free trade is economically beneficial to nations But this does not prevent industries and interest groups from lobbying their governments for protection which creates a fear of electoral backlash among politicians hoping to promote free trade The Limits of Protectionism demonstrates how governments can attain those economic benefits while avoiding the political costs Michael Lusztiq s theoretical model focuses on a process by which protectionists can be pushed to restructure and compete in a global economy In this process a small cutback in domestic protection leads to lost market shares at home producers must then turn to overseas exports and as the size of foreign profits grow former protectionists become active advocates for more and greater free trade opportunities In a wide ranging array of case studies from nineteenth century Britain to Depression era United States to contemporary New Zealand Australia Brazil Canada Chile and Mexico Lusztiq reveals that if skillfully handled governments can eliminate the obstacles to free trade and enjoy continued economic growth without fear of protectionist groups seeking revenge at the ballot box Forms of Organising in Industrial History John F. Wilson, Steven Toms, Ian G. Jones, 2022-06-07 This shortform book presents key peer reviewed research selected by expert series editors and contextualised by new analysis from each author on different forms of organising British industry With contributions on the strengths and weaknesses of the holding company structure government organisation of industry during war time the effects of forms of organisation on innovation and debates over the suitability of international comparisons this volume provides an array of fascinating insights into industrial history Of interest to business and economic historians this shortform book also provides analysis and illustrative case studies that will be valuable reading across the social sciences The Industries of New Zealand William Newsham Blair, 1884 The Morris Family 1660 - 1879 Kevin A Morris, 2023-01-14 The family history of the Morris family that emigrated from the Isle of Wight to New Zealand in 1879 The Story of New Zealand Frank Parsons, 1904

The Top Books of the Year New Zealand's Industrial Heritage The year 2023 has witnessed a remarkable surge in literary brilliance, with numerous captivating novels captivating the hearts of readers worldwide. Let's delve into the realm of top-selling books, exploring the engaging narratives that have enthralled audiences this year. New Zealand's Industrial Heritage : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This touching tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover masterfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can prevail. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reid's "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This spellbinding historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reid's absorbing storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Discover the Magic : Delia Owens' "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens crafts a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These top-selling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is an exceptional and gripping novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
