The Lyrical in Epic Time David Der-wei Wang, 2015-01-20 In this book David Der wei Wang uses the lyrical to rethink the dynamics of Chinese modernity Although the form may seem unusual for representing China's social and political crises in the mid twentieth century Wang contends that national cataclysm and mass movements intensified Chinese lyricism in extraordinary ways Wang calls attention to the form's vigor and variety at an unlikely juncture in Chinese history and the precarious consequences it brought about betrayal self abjuration suicide and silence Despite their divergent backgrounds and commitments the writers artists and intellectuals discussed in this book all took lyricism as a way to explore selfhood in relation to solidarity the role of the artist in history and the potential for poetry to illuminate crisis They experimented with poetry fiction film intellectual treatise political manifesto painting calligraphy and music Western critics Wang shows also used lyricism to critique their perilous epic time He reads Martin Heidegger Theodor Adorno Cleanth Brooks and Paul de Man among others to complete his portrait The Chinese case only further intensifies the permeable nature of lyrical discourse forcing us to reengage with the dominant role of revolution and enlightenment in shaping Chinese and global modernity Wang's remarkable survey reestablishes Chinese lyricism's deep roots in its own native traditions along with Western influences and realizes the relevance of such a lyrical calling of the past century to our time

Plurality and the Poetics of Self

Bruce Bond, 2019-06-18 Plurality and the Poetics of Self investigates the words I and self as suggestive of eight territories of meaning Via poetry's lens into language and its limits Bruce Bond explores the notion of self as identity volitional agent ego existential monad subjectivity ontological origin soul and transpersonal psyche Taking poetic meaning as our common currency the book emphasizes the critical role of the unrepresentable and how embattled and confused assumptions threaten ever deeper alienation from one another and ourselves

Voicing American Poetry Lesley Wheeler, 2008 This book is a study of voice in poetry beginning in the 1920s when modernism rose to the surface of poetry and other arts and when radio expanded suddenly in the United States Catullus and the Poetics of Roman Manhood David Wray, 2001-09-06

This book applies comparative cultural and literary models to a reading of Catullus poems as social performances of a poetics of manhood a competitively often outrageously self allusive bid for recognition and admiration Earlier readings of Catullus based on Romantic and Modernist notions of lyric poetry have tended to focus on the relationship with Lesbia and to ignore the majority of the shorter poems which are instead directed at other men Professor Wray approaches these poems in the light of more recent models for understanding male social interaction in the premodern Mediterranean placing them in their specifically Roman historical context while bringing out their strikingly postmodern qualities The result is an alternative way of reading the fiercely aggressive and delicately refined agonism performed in Catullus shorter poems All Latin and Greek quoted is supplied with an English translation
