In addition, the Third Edition provides readers with a detailed review across the spectrum of salient topics from the effects of early deprivation to the impact of puberty. As the field continues to shift from traditional symptom-based concepts of pathology to a contemporary dynamic paradigm, the Third Edition addresses such key topics as Early Childhood disorders including failure to thrive and attachment disorders, Aggression, ADHD and other disruptive conditions, Developmental models of depression, anxiety, self-injury, suicide, and OCD, The autism spectrum and other chronic developmental disorders, Child maltreatment and trauma disorders.
