New Localism Comparative Urban Politics In A Global Era:

The New Localism Edward G. Goetz, Susan E. Clarke, 1993-10-07 How have local economic conditions been affected by the emergence of a global economy What changes if any have local political authorities made to counterbalance the new emphasis on world interests Comprehensive and timely this book answers these and other vital questions by exploring local political restructuring in the face of massive global economic change

The New Localism Edward Glenn Goetz, Susan E. Clarke, 1993 A comprehensive exploration of local political restructuring in the face of massive global economic change Prominent urban scholars cover the privatization of local politics the emergence of local economic and social activism and increased competition on both local and national levels in such diverse political settings as the US the UK Eastern

The New Localism Edward G. Goetz, Susan E. Clarke, 1993-10-07 How have local economic conditions been affected by the emergence of a global economy What changes if any have local political authorities made to counterbalance the new emphasis on world interests Comprehensive and timely The New Localism answers these and other vital questions by exploring local political restructuring in the face of massive global economic change Prominent urban scholars cover the privatization of local politics the emergence of local economic and social activism and increased competition on both local and national levels This important volume examines various levels of development in such diverse political settings as the United States the United Kingdom Eastern Europe Africa and the Caribbean The New Localism is a must read for students and scholars of urban studies comparative politics political science third world development planning public administration and sociology Goetz and Clarke s book brings a useful perspective to this literature not so much because of its theoretical originality but for its didactic value It is a straightforward presentation of cases of urban restructuring well integrated within a common conceptual framework labelled new localism Canadian Journal of Urban Research

The New Localism Bruce Katz, Jeremy Nowak, 2018-01-09 The New Localism provides a roadmap for change that starts in the communities where most people live and work In their new book The New Localism urban experts Bruce Katz and Jeremy Nowak reveal where the real power to create change lies and how it can be used to address our most serious social economic and environmental challenges Power is shifting in the world downward from national governments and states to cities and metropolitan communities horizontally from the public sector to networks of public private and civic actors and globally along circuits of capital trade and innovation This new locus of power this new localism is emerging by necessity to solve the grand challenges characteristic of modern societies economic competitiveness social inclusion and opportunity a renewed public life the challenge of diversity and the imperative of environmental sustainability Where rising populism on the right and the left exploits the grievances of those left behind in the global economy new localism has developed as a mechanism to address them head on New localism is not a replacement for the vital roles federal governments play it is the ideal complement to an effective federal government and currently an urgently needed remedy for national dysfunction In The New Localism Katz and Nowak tell the stories of the cities that are on the vanguard of problem solving Pittsburgh is catalyzing inclusive growth by inventing and deploying new industries and technologies Indianapolis is governing its city and metropolis through a network of public private and civic leaders Copenhagen is using publicly owned assets like their waterfront to spur large scale redevelopment and finance infrastructure from land sales Out of these stories emerge new norms of growth governance and finance and a path toward a more prosperous sustainable and inclusive society Katz and Nowak imagine a world in which urban institutions finance the future through smart investments in innovation infrastructure and children and urban intermediaries take solutions created in one city and adapt and tailor them to other cities with speed and precision As Katz and Nowak show us in The New Localism Power now belongs to the problem solvers The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Futures Robert C. Brears, 2023-01-13 While urban settlements are the drivers of the global economy and centres of learning culture and innovation and nations rely on competitive dynamic regions for their economic social and environmental objectives urban centres and regions face a myriad of challenges that impact the ways in which people live and work create wealth and interact and connect with places Rapid urbanisation is resulting in urban sprawl rising emissions urban poverty and high unemployment rates housing affordability issues lack of urban investment low urban financial and governance capacities rising inequality and urban crimes environmental degradation increasing vulnerability to natural disasters and so forth At the regional level low employment low wage growth scarce financial resources climate change waste and pollution and rising urban peri urban competition etc are impacting the ability of regions to meet socio economic development goals while protecting biodiversity The response to these challenges has typically been the application of inadequate or piecemeal solutions often as a result of fragmented decision making and competing priorities with numerous economic environmental and social consequences In response there is a growing movement towards viewing cities and regions as complex and sociotechnical in nature with people and communities interacting with one another and with objects such as roads buildings transport links etc within a range of urban and regional settings or contexts This comprehensive MRW will provide readers with expert interdisciplinary knowledge on how urban centres and regions in locations of varying climates lifestyles income levels and stages development are creating synergies and reducing trade offs in the development of resilient resource efficient environmentally friendly liveable socially equitable integrated and technology enabled centres and regions Facets of Globalization Shahid Yusuf, Simon J. Evenett, Weiping Wu, 2001-01-01 Since 1985 national economies have become increasingly integrated into a global network At the same time both population and production in developing countries are becoming concentrated in urban regions This in turn has generated demands for more local autonomy shifting more decision making to sub national levels Globalization is expected to continue leading to greater openness and international mobility of capital and people There are few reasons to believe that these trends will abate if anything they are likely to intensify the focus on cities and sharpen competition among these for international and local resources This volume underscores the transformative role of globalization and urbanization and shows the interplay between the two forces Urban Development in China under the Institution of Land Rights Jieming Zhu, 2019-09-17

How have the development and redevelopment of China's cities since the early 1950s transformed the settlements and fortunes of a fifth of the world's population Rapid urbanization since the 1980s has changed the nation from a rural society to an urban one marking it as one of the most significant transformations in history As a country with severe land scarcity land resources are intensively contested for during urbanization under the new regime of marketization This book focuses on the impact of the institution of land rights that have transitioned from private ownership to socialist state ownership and subsequently to public land leasing in the urban domain and to collective ownership in rural areas In the context of defining the relationship between the state and the market the gradualist transition of land rights gives rise to intriguing processes of place making The elaboration of these processes will engage several revealing conceptual notions land as a means of production land commodification ambiguous land rights incomplete land rights trading land use rights for land development rights institutional uncertainty land rent seeking and dissipating local developmental state danwei enterprises and more The newly created landed interests are embedded intricately within the urban spatial structure This book would especially be of interest to scholars interested in developmental economics urban planning geography public policies public management and sociology and also practitioners focusing on development and planning European Cities Patrick Le Galès, 2002-08-08

European cities are on the rise and are taking advantage of the opportunities of the European integration and globalization processes But they also face economic changes social inequalities poverty and a new set of constraints Taking examples through the European Union European Cities explores the impact of the transformation of the nation states on cities and the change of local societies and local governments It argues that new modes of urban governance are emerging and that cities are becoming collective actors within European governance European Cities shows why and how the bulk of European cities still appear to be original forms of compromise aggregation representation of diverse interests and culture Different modes of governance are gradually being structured in most middle size European cities despite processes of social exclusion segregation accompanied by the increased mobility of some citizens Are Europeans going to invent a new form of institutionalized and territorialized capitalism of which medium sized European cities will be one of the pillars and one of the actors Failing that the effects of changing scales could be expressed as profound transformations of the European urban model European Societies Series Series Editor Colin Crouch Very few of the existing sociological texts which compare different European societies on specific topics are accessible to a broad range of scholars and students The European Societies series will help fill this gap in the literature and attempt to answer questions such as Is there really such a thing as a European model of society Do the economic and political integration processes of the European Union also imply convergence in more general aspects of social life like family or religious behaviour What do the societies of Western Europe have in common with those further to the east This series will cover the main social institutions although not every author will cover the full range of European countries As well as surveying existing knowledge in a way that will be useful to students each book will also seek to contribute to our growing knowledge of what remains in many respects a sociologically unknown continent Policies for Managing Urban Growth and Landscape Change ,2005 Urban Spaces in Japan Christoph Brumann,Evelyn Schulz,2012 Urban Spaces in Japan explores the workings of power money and the public interest in the planning and design of Japanese space Through a set of vivid case studies of well known Japanese cities including Tokyo Kobe and Kyoto this book examines the potential of civil society in contemporary planning debates Further it addresses the implications of Japan s biggest social problem the demographic decline for Japanese cities and demonstrates the serious challenges and exciting possibilities that result from the impending end of Japan s urban growth Presenting a synthetic approach that reflects both the physical aspects and the social significance of urban spaces this book scrutinizes the precise patterns of urban expansion and shrinkage In doing so it also summarizes current theories of public space urban space and the body in space which are relevant to both Japan and the wider international debate With detailed case studies and more general reflections from a broad range of disciplines this collection of essays demonstrates the value of cross disciplinary cooperation As such it is of interest to students and scholars of geography and urban planning as well as history anthropology and cultural studies
