The Shifting Definitions of Genre Lincoln Geraghty,Mark Jancovich,2008-04-07 Histories of science fiction often dicuss Fritz Lang s Metropolis as a classic work within the genre yet the term science fiction had not been invented at the time of the film s release If the genre did not have a name did it exist Does retroactive assignment to a genre change our understanding of a film Do films shift in meaning and status as the name of a genre changes meaning over time These provocative questions are at the heart of this book whose thirteen essays examine the varying constructions of genre within film television and other entertainment media Collectively the authors argue that generic labels are largely irrelevant or even detrimental to the works to which they are applied Part One examines the meanings of genre and reveals how the media is involved in the production and dissemination of generic definitions Part Two considers specific films or groups of films and their relationships within various categorizations Part Three focuses on the closely tied concepts of history and memory as they relate to the perceptions of genre

The Switch Image Lorenz Engell, 2021-04-22 Television is the most powerful system of images in the late 20th and early 21st centuries Nonetheless TV has attained only little philosophical attention so far especially compared to other visual media such as film This book looks at TV as what happens on the screen and beyond it which is mainly the operation of switching images It therefore proposes a new definition of TV as the first picture that can be switched on off and over which stresses that TV is more tactile than visual Through the operation of switching TV figures the world from within and as the course of its figuration This is grasped here by the term of ontography Through the ongoing interlacing and bridging of TV 1 0 the image is being switched and TV 2 0 the image is a switch TV exponentially increases the production and circulation of images It transforms the world and itself from an analogue state to a digital one and from central perspectivism to pluri perspective In terms of time through switching and the switch it develops and reworks new temporal orderings such as instantaneity synchronicity flow and seriality TV makes its own history In space it creates a mediasphere as its habitat and hence new forms of being in the world of proximity and distance and scale Anthropologically it works on what a subject and an object is on what makes the human being and ontographically how it is possible that there is something at all instead of nothing through switch images
