Re Imagining Computers And Composition:

Re-imagining Computers and Composition Gail E. Hawisher,1992      Computers and Writing James A.

Inman,2004-04-13 In this book James A Inman explores the landscape of the contemporary computers and writing community Its six chapters engage critical issues including redefining the community s generally accepted history connecting its contemporary innovators with its long standing spirit of innovation advocating for increased access and diversity and more Between chapters readers will find Community Voices sections which provide a snapshot of the contemporary computers and writing community and introduce in a non hierarchical form more than 100 of its members from around the world in their own voices Computers and Writing The Cyborg Era features a simultaneous emphasis on individuals communities and contexts they share a creative rethinking of the character and values of the computers and writing community a holistic exploration of meaning making and an activist approach to pedagogy It is a must read book for anyone interested in rhetoric technology and pedagogy including faculty graduate students and colleagues in professions outside the academy

Approaches to Computer Writing Classrooms Linda Myers,1993-08-31 This text provides a variety of practical and theoretical approaches to computer classroom design Pedagogical ethical and political issues are discussed as well as nuts and bolts construction adapting teaching styles to a CAI environment use of specific hardware and software and speculation regarding future electronic learning environments      The Routledge Handbook of Digital Writing and Rhetoric Jonathan Alexander,Jacqueline Rhodes,2018-04-27 This handbook brings together scholars from around the globe who here contribute to our understanding of how digital rhetoric is changing the landscape of writing Increasingly all of us must navigate networks of information compose not just with computers but an array of mobile devices increase our technological literacy and understand the changing dynamics of authoring writing reading and publishing in a world of rich and complex texts Given such changes and given the diverse ways in which younger generations of college students are writing communicating and designing texts in multimediated electronic environments we need to consider how the very act of writing itself is undergoing potentially fundamental changes These changes are being addressed increasingly by the emerging field of digital rhetoric a field that attempts to understand the rhetorical possibilities and affordances of writing broadly defined in a wide array of digital environments Of interest to both researchers and students this volume provides insights about the fields of rhetoric writing composition digital media literature and multimodal studies      Virtual Collaborative Writing in the

Workplace: Computer-Mediated Communication Technologies and Processes Hewett, Beth L.,Robidoux, Charlotte,2010-06-30 This book investigates the use of computer mediated communication technologies and collaborative processes to facilitate effective interdependent collaboration in writing projects especially in virtual workplace settings Provided by publisher      Education and Technology Ann Kovalchick,Kara Dawson,2003-12-05 This two volume encyclopedia presents over 200 entries that highlight the ways in which educational and communication practices shape our uses of technology From the hand cranked mimeograph to digital video educators have touted each technological advance as the key to improving education Yet often our students seem no better educated today than they were in the days of ink wells and feather pens How can we use technology to achieve real gains in student performance In this new encyclopedia the only book on educational technology designed for the nonexpert scholars in the field describe in jargon free terms how educational practices have shaped our uses of technology and vice versa They discuss the traditions that are the core knowledge base of the field along with the theoretical commercial and social perspectives In a variety of educational contexts kindergarten through postsecondary education corporate and industrial training and distance education they evaluate the latest technologies and products Most importantly they provide clear insights into educational technologies both as delivery systems two way microwave video for example and as content design strategies like web based instruction

Taking Flight With OWLs James A. Inman, Donna Sewell, 2000 Examines computer technology use in writing centers to move beyond anecdotal evidence for implementing computer tech in writing centers Presents carefully considered studies that theorize the move to computer tech examine tech use in practice Multiliteracies for a Digital Age Stuart A. Selber, 2004-01-23 Multiliteracies for a Digital Age serves as a guide for composition teachers to develop effective full scale computer literacy programs that are also professionally responsible by emphasizing different kinds of literacies Stuart A. Selber also proposes methods for helping students move among these literacies in strategic ways Defining computer literacy as a domain of writing and communication Selber addresses the questions that few other computer literacy texts consider What should a computer literate student be able to do What is required of literacy teachers to educate such a student How can functional computer literacy fit within the values of teaching writing and communication as a profession Reimagining functional literacy in ways that speak to teachers of writing and communication he builds a framework for computer literacy instruction that blends functional critical and rhetorical concerns in the interest of social action and change Multiliteracies for a Digital Age reviews the extensive literature on computer literacy and critiques it from a humanistic perspective This approach which will remain useful as new versions of computer hardware and software inevitab

Insurrections Andrea Greenbaum, 2001-02-22 A provocative collaboration by some of the foremost scholars in composition studies this book explores both the theoretical and pedagogical approaches to resistance The contributors clarify not only the meaning s of resistance through both a political and historical framework but also demonstrate how the manifestation of resistance plays out in the writing classroom Professional Writing in Context John Frederick Reynolds, Carolyn B. Matalene, Joyce Neff Magnotto, Donald C. Samson, Jr., Lynn Veach Sadler, 2013-11-05 This volume explores adult work world writing issues from the perspectives of five seasoned professionals who have logged hundreds of hours working with adults on complicated written communication problems It examines the gap between school world instructional practices and real world problems and situations After describing the five major economic sectors which are writing intensive the text suggests curricular reforms which might better prepare college educated writers for these worlds Because the volume is based on the extensive work world experiences of the authors it offers numerous examples of real world writing problems and strategies which illustrate concretely what goes wrong and what needs to be done about it

The SAGE Handbook of E-learning Research Richard Andrews, Caroline Haythornthwaite, 2007-07-10 I would like to enthusiastically recommend The SAGE Handbook of E Learning Research An international set of authors have produced a highly readable handbook that covers topics in E learning research theory policy language and literacy and design issues The work draws on multiple perspectives ranging from early work in asynchronous learning networks to community organization in e learning This is a large and much needed work that organizes and illuminates issues in E learning in a way that readers will be able to take away practical advice for their own use I am quite pleased to see this handbook that provides a very useful organization of knowledge for our field John Bourne Ph D Professor and Executive Director The Sloan Consortium www.sloan.c.org This book is an important contribution to the development of E learning because its account of the research always begins with the context of learning from which the exploitation of technology can be viewed The authors help us understand that technology affords new kinds of relationship between the learner and what is learned and how it is learned With this rich understanding the book is able to build the wide ranging research foundation on which the field can move forward Diana Laurillard Institute of Education University of London A comprehensive and compelling resource that provides a global perspective on a development that is transforming higher education David Pilsbury Chief Executive Worldwide Universities Network Unlike many how to books on the topic this work focuses on research for educators and others interested in how technology enhances or diminishes learning Highly Recommended Choice Magazine This handbook provides a state of the art in depth account of research in the rapidly expanding field of E learning The first of its kind it provides reviews of over 20 areas in E learning research by experts in the field and provides a critical account of the best work to date The contributors cover the basics of the discipline as well as new theoretical perspectives Areas of research covered by the Handbook include Contexts for researching e learning Theory and policy Language and literacy Design issues History of the field The editors introduction and many of the chapters show how multiple aspects of E learning interact The introduction also provides a new model for researching the field This book is relevant for everyone in higher education from undergraduate to faculty as well as university administrators involved in providing E learning It will provide a research background for higher education including universities training colleges and community colleges It will also be relevant to those involved in any research and developmental aspect of E learning corporate trainers and those involved in online programs at secondary school or in virtual high schools Whether you are a lecturer researcher or programme designer this is an essential read Richard Andrews is Professor in English at the Institute of Education University of London and Visiting Professor at New York University s Steinhardt School of Education Culture and Human Development Caroline Haythornthwaite is Associate Professor at the

Graduate School of Library and Information Science at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign     Handbook of Literacy and Technology David Reinking, Michael C. McKenna, Linda D. Labbo, Ronald D. Kieffer, 1998-04-01 The major shift going on today in the technologies of reading and writing raises important questions about conventional conceptions of literacy and its role in education society and culture What are the important characteristics of electronic forms of reading and writing distinguishing them from printed forms To what extent and in what ways is literacy being transformed by new technologies This central question is addressed in this volume from diverse multidisciplinary perspectives The contributing authors focus on a guiding question in one of the following areas which correspond to the major sections of the book Transforming Texts What are the new differences between printed and electronic texts and what are the implications of new textual forms for defining literacy especially in regard to teaching and learning in schools Transforming Readers and Writers How do electronic reading and writing change conceptualizations of literacy development from childhood through adulthood Transforming Classrooms and Schools What are the effects of introducing new reading and writing technologies into schools and classrooms Transforming Instruction How can instruction be adapted in response to the changing literacy landscape and how can teachers and students exploit forms of reading and writing to enhance teaching and learning Transforming Society What are the broad societal implications of the increasing prevalence of electronic forms of reading and writing Transforming Literacy Research What are the questions that must be addressed as digital reading and writing become more common and what approaches to research will be most useful in addressing those questions This volume is the result of an interactive process The contributors met as a group to discuss drafts of their chapters at a one day meeting convened and sponsored by the National Reading Research Center and had read each others chapters prior to this gathering That meeting was followed by a two day conference attended by approximately 180 researchers educators and policymakers who responded to an open invitation to present papers and to attend sessions focusing on the six major themes of the book Contributors then revised their chapters based on interactions with fellow contributors conference participants and volume editors Thus this work is more than just a compilation of the individual authors views Rather it represents a synthesis of a broad range of current thinking about how literacy is being and may be transformed by technology     Crossing the Digital Divide Barbara Jean Monroe, 2004-04-17 As poor nonwhite communities on the other side of the digital divide become immersed in electronic media how can we evaluate their experiences to transform the teaching of writing and literature and improve student learning This important book offers a balanced view of instructional technology and critical multiculturalism with valuable insights to help English educators at all levels working in all types of schools     Learning and Teaching Writing Online Mary Deane, Teresa Guasch, 2015-04-14 Learning and Teaching Writing Online Strategies for Success takes a fresh look at the challenge of supporting writers online and reports on research from around the world to offer a range of learning and teaching strategies The main themes are feedback in online environments collaboration through online environments and course design for online environments This book is designed for higher education practitioners who are interested in exploring pedagogic approaches for giving feedback and supporting collaborative writing online It will also appeal to researchers of writing development and technology enhanced learning

The Writing Program

Administrator's Resource Stuart C. Brown,Theresa Jarnagi Enos,2005-04-11 The role of the writing program administrator is one of diverse activities and challenges and preparation for the position has traditionally come through performing the job itself As a result uninitiated WPAs often find themselves struggling to manage the various requirements and demands of the position and even experienced WPAs often encounter situations on which they need advice The Writing Program Administrator s Resource has been developed to address the needs of all WPAs regardless of background or experience It provides practical applicable tools to effectively address the differing and sometimes competing roles in which WPAs find themselves Readers will find an invaluable collection of articles in this volume addressing fundamental practices and issues encountered by WPAs in their workplace settings and focusing on the hows and whys of writing program administration With formal preparation and training only now beginning to catch up to the very real needs of the WPA this volume offers guidance and support from authoritative and experienced sources educators who have established the definitions and standards of the position who have run into obstacles and surmounted them and who have not just survived but thrived in their roles as WPAs Editors Stuart C Brown and Theresa Enos contribute their own experience and bring together the voices of their colleagues to delineate the intellectual scope and practices of writing program administration as an emerging discipline Established and esteemed leaders in the field offer insights advice and plans of action for the myriad scenarios encountered in the position encouraging WPAs and helping them to realize that they often know more than they think they do This resource is required reading for the new WPA and an essential reference for all who serve in the WPA role As a guidebook for WPAs it is destined to become a fixture on the desk of every educator involved with or interested in administrating writing programs writing centers and writing across the curriculum efforts
