Realistic Imagination:

The Realistic Imagination George Levine, 1981 In The Realistic Imagination George Levine argues that the Victorian realists and the later modernists were in fact doing similar things in their fiction they were trying to use language to get beyond language Levine sees the history of the nineteenth and early twentieth century novel as a continuing process in which each generation of writers struggled to escape the grip of convention and attempted to create new language to express their particular sense of reality As these attempts hardened into new conventions they generated new attempts to break free

Virtual Play and the Victorian Novel Timothy Gao, 2021-04-15 Pondering the town he had invented in his novels Anthony Trollope had so realised the place and the people and the facts of Barchin that the pavement of the city ways are familiar to my footsteps After his novels end William Thackeray wonders where his characters now live and misses their conversation How can we understand the novel as a form of artificial reality Timothy Gao proposes a history of virtual realities stemming from the imaginary worlds created by novelists like Trollope Thackeray Charlotte Bronte and Charles Dickens Departing from established historical or didactic understandings of Victorian fiction Virtual Play and the Victorian Novel recovers the period's fascination with imagined places people and facts This text provides a short history of virtual experiences in literature four studies of major novelists and an innovative approach for scholars and students to interpret realist fictions and fictional realities from before the digital age This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core

A Theological Aesthetics of Liberation Vicente Chong, 2019-02-07 Since its emergence in the sixties of the last century liberation theology in Latin America has paid little attention to the areas of aesthetics and art At the same time theological aesthetics seldom has been directly and explicitly concerned about the reality of the poor and the struggle for justice This mutual disinterest between liberation theology and theological aesthetics is regrettable because discerning a correlation between them would benefit both theological disciplines in their attempt to understand the saving action of God in the world It is the intention of this book to fill that gap A Theological Aesthetics of Liberation correlates liberation theology and theological aesthetics exploring different themes such as the liberating power of art and how the Spirit of God is involved in the process of liberation in and through art This study is a critical reflection upon the question of the beauty of Jesus Christ especially in relationship with the event of the cross and upon its meaning for Christian life This book analyzes such topics in conversation with important theologians Gustavo Gutierrez Jon Sobrino Karl Rahner Hans Urs von Balthasar Edward Schillebeeckx and other contemporary Christian theologians who have explored these themes
