Language Development and Social Interaction in Blind Children Miguel Perez Pereira, Gina

Conti-Ramsden, 2019-12-09 The Classic Edition of this foundational text includes a new preface from Miguel Perez Pereira examining how the field has developed since first publication The volume provides an in depth account of blind children s developing communicative abilities with particular emphasis on social cognition and language acquisition from infancy to early school age It provides insights into why the development of blind children may differ from that of sighted children and explores development of theory of mind and perspective taking in language learning It also discusses the caregiver child interaction research on early intervention and practical strategies for blind children that can assist parents and practitioners The up to date preface discusses recent neurological research and the comparison between the psychological development of visually impaired and autistic children Language Development and Social Interaction in Blind Children continues to facilitate dialogue between those interested in the study of typically developing children and those interested in the development of children who are blind and challenges some widely held beliefs about the development of communication in blind children

A Functional Approach to Child Language Annette Karmiloff-Smith, 1981-07-30 A critical exposition of Piaget s views on child language and thought Language and Language Acquisition F. Lowenthal, 2012-12-06 F LOWENTHAL University of Mons Mons Belgium In September 1980 researchers from many different countries and working in disciplines as varied as philosophy psychology neurology mathematics education linguistics sociology and others we forget to mention again met in Mons to discuss problems concerning Language and Language Acquisition Conflicting opinions among researchers not only from different disciplines but also within a same discipline led to many a lively discussion This book attempts to recreate the atmosphere of the conference by reproducing the different papers some of which were rewritten after the initial presentation and discussion session and by giving a summary of each discussion session to enable the reader to understand how each participant reacted Obviously we accept full responsibility for these summaries we hope we have understood correctly what each participant meant This also holds for the special session devoted to an attempt to define the concept of language We suggest that further meetings should study language and context simultaneously within the framework of a CONTEXTUAL LINGUISTICS

Learning Through Interaction C. Gordon Wells, 1981 A fundamental study of language development from infancy to primary school Language Acquisition Paul Fletcher, Michael Garman, 1986-05-22 An invaluable resource for students and professionals alike with an interest in child language acquisition

The Developing Child in the 21st Century Sandra Smidt, 2013-06-19 Offering a sociocultural approach to education and learning this fascinating exploration of childhood provides an in depth understanding of how children make sense of the world and the people in it Examining the ways in which children express their thoughts feelings and actively generate meaning through experience and interaction this fully revised and updated new edition is illustrated throughout by extensive case studies and covers a diverse range of topics including socio historical and global child development over time and place the child as meaning maker and active learner learning in the context of family culture group society representing and re representing the world understanding roles identity race and gender making sense of science and technology the implications of neuroscience Taking a clearly articulated and engaging perspective Sandra Smidt draws upon multiple sources and ideas to illustrate many of the facets of the developing child in a contemporary context She depicts children as symbol users role players investigators and creative thinkers and follows children s progress in forming their understanding of their environment asking questions about it and expressing it through music dance art and constructive play Highly accessible and with points for reflection concluding each chapter The Developing Child is essential reading for teachers lecturers and students taking courses in early childhood psychology or sociology

Critical Influences on Child Language Acquisition and Development David J. Messer, Geoffrey J. Turner, 1993-03-15 The book identifies and assesses the importance of a range of influences on child language acquisition and development paying particular attention to situational influences Key issues are highlighted and recent research is succinctly presented There are five sections the deployment of speech during early development linguistic interaction and family background encoding the situation multidimensional aspects of language development and constraints on language development There are twelve chapters on these themes contributed by leading researchers in this area

Designing Preschool Interventions David W. Barnett, Susan H. Bell, Karen T. Carey, 2002-08-01 This practical text delineates the basic steps of developing effective interventions for learning and behavior difficulties in children aged two to five The authors set forth an ecological framework that stresses identifying problem situations rather than classifying individual children as disabled or at risk The core components of naturalistic intervention design are covered in depth including teacher and parent interviewing classroom observation and functional assessment team based problem solving strong accountability methods and legal and ethical safeguards Solidly grounded in empirical research the book presents examples of successful interventions for fostering social competence and language skills and improving interactions with parents teachers and peers

The Development of Perception, Cognition and Language Paul van Geert, 2017-03-31 Originally published in 1983 the aim of this book was to discuss some fundamental problems of cognitive developmental psychology at the time The theme which underlies the discussion is that scientific knowledge of the cognitive characteristics of other people starts from the cognitive instruments that we psychologist employ viz our theories models assumptions methods of enquiry etc Thus our scientific cognitive equipment not only provides the format in which cognition in other people is expressed it also exemplifies in some abstract sense this cognition The first part of the book deals with the concept of development in relation to the structure of developmental theories It is argued that theories originate from implicit conceptual analyses of implicit final state definitions Starting from this specific view on the nature of developmental theories the second part of the book discusses perception and perceptual development

Symbolic Play Inge Bretherton, 2014-05-10

Symbolic Play The Development of Social Understanding describes the development of symbolic play from infancy through the preschool years This text is divided into 12 chapters that focus on make believe as an activity within which young children spontaneously represent and practice their understanding of the social world The first chapter introduces the development of event schemata produced in symbolic play about children s management of the playframe and about the development of subjunctive or what if thought The next chapters are devoted to the development of joint pretending specifically the use if shared scripts in the organization of make believe play and the subtleties of metacommunication These chapters also emphasize the supporting role of the mother in early collaborative make believe These topics are followed by discussions of the child s growing ability to represent the internal states of the inanimate figures whose doing can vicariously enacts The remaining chapters focus on social interaction through symbolic play with dolls toy animals object props and language This book will prove useful to psychologists and researchers in the fields of human development society and family
