Evidence-Based Policing Garth den Heyer, 2022-10-19. The volume aims to increase knowledge and understanding of how evidence based policing is being adopted and implemented by police agencies in the United States and whether it is affecting the agencies' processes, strategies, community relationships and delivery of community oriented policing services. This exploration is based on data drawn from the literature, interviews and extensive field research that resulted in the case studies presented and discussed in the book. The goal of this text will be to provide the reader with a thorough analysis of the concepts, arguments and challenges facing evidence based policing. The history of evidence based policing, how evidence based practices are used in the health and social sectors and in the United Kingdom will be examined. In addition, reasonable options for improving the use of evidence based policing will be proposed. Overall, very practical policy implications will be outlined by a highly recognized professional who has considerable experience in policing and related research.

Over the last few years, intensive community programmes for both young and adult offenders have become established in the UK as an important new component of penal policy. The ISSP (Intensive Supervision and Surveillance Programme) for persistent and serious young offenders and the ICCP (Intensive Control and Change Programme) for adult offenders Expectations of these programmes have been high but the evidence relating to their effectiveness is mixed and a number of critical concerns have emerged This book seeks to address these issues providing a timely review of the current literature and presents findings of a recent national evaluation of ISSP Emerging lessons for future penal policy are presented and set within a wider theoretical context The book concludes by stressing the need for greater realism and further evidential support if such programmes are to gain long term credibility and also to consider the appropriateness of differing forms of targeting as well as the emphasis placed on the various methods of surveillance
