Patterns of change in Malawi's economy under sector-focused investment strategies: Results of scenarios run through 2030 using an economy-wide model for Malawi Benson, Todd, Hartley, Faa'iq, 2020-01-23 Malawi's economic future is dependent upon a transformation of the economy that will involve increased economic productivity overall and considerable movement of labor and capital out of agriculture and into manufacturing and services A dynamic Computable General Equilibrium model of the economy of Malawi was used to better understand the development gains that would be realized by 2030 through significantly increasing separately the productivity of each of the three sectors of the Malawian economy agriculture industry and services The scenarios run in the model involved increasing by 20 percent from current levels the annual growth rate in total factor productivity for each of the three sectors The results show important trade offs in the choice of which sector should receive emphasis in any economic development strategy A services led strategy would result in higher economic growth overall and broadly rising incomes contributing the most to a structural transformation of the Malawi economy However the principal beneficiaries of increased investment to improve productivity in the services sector will be better off households In contrast an agriculture focused strategy would better meet the needs of the poor and their access to food but would result in continued lagging growth for Malawi's economy and many poorer households continuing to be unable to obtain sufficient income to exit their poverty and realize much better lives for themselves and their children The industrial sector currently is much smaller than either the agriculture or services sectors particularly in terms of employment so significant increases in productivity growth in industry results in smaller benefits overall than comparable increases in agriculture or services

Structural Change and Industrial Development in the BRICS Wim Naudé, Adam Szirmai, Nobuya Haraguchi, 2015-06-18 This book provides a unique and timely analysis of the role of structural change in the economic development of Brazil Russia India China and South Africa BRICS with a consideration for the role of industry and in particular manufacturing The emergence of BRICS reflects an ongoing change in the international economic order BRICS now account for very substantial part of global GDP global manufactured value added and global manufactured exports The book examines their economic experiences and structural change in BRICS over the past three decades identifying both differences and commonalities and deriving lessons for other industrializing countries Section I contains comparative studies focusing on the commonalities and differences of the experiences of BRICS Section II includes six country studies providing a more detailed analysis of the long run experiences of each of the countries Section III consists of a set of seven thematic studies focusing on specific topics such as global value chains the role of transnational corporations in the food chain the role of foreign versus domestic investment the role of domestic versus foreign demand in economic growth the diffusion of environmental energy technology and the similarities and the differences in industrial policies pursued in the five countries. The book contains a summary chapter that provides an integrated perspective of the various contributions from the point of view of poverty reduction and development. It asks whether the patterns of structural change and industrial development that BRICS experienced had an impact on poverty outcomes and if so what where the channels and the consequences. Growth, Inequality, and Poverty in Rural China Shenggen Fan, Linxiu Zhang, Xiaobo Zhang, 2002-01-01. Growth inequality and poverty. Public capital e investment. Conceptual framework and model. Data estimation and results. Understanding Growth and Poverty Raj Nallari, Breda Griffith, 2011. Provides an understanding of economic policies for poverty reduction in developing countries. Department of Commerce. Interagency Study Group, 1979. Financial Liberalization, Structural Change, and Real Exchange Rate Appreciations Carlos Urrutia, Felipe Meza, 2010-03-01. We account for the appreciation of the real exchange rate in Mexico between 1988 and 2002 using a two sector dynamic general equilibrium model of a small open economy with two driving forces i differential productivity growth across sectors and ii a decline in the cost of borrowing in foreign markets. These two mechanisms account for 60 percent of the decline in the relative price of tradable goods and explain a large fraction of the reallocation of labor across sectors. We do not find a significant role for migration remittances foreign reserves accumulation government spending terms of trade or import tariffs. Employment and Structural Change in Indian Industries Asian Regional Team for Employment Promotion, 1989. Globalisation and Poverty Maurizio Bussolo, Jeffery I Round, 2006-03-29. The consequences of globalization for the world's poor are uncertain and fierce rhetoric is dividing its supporters and detractors. The channels of effect of essentially macroeconomic shocks on the microeconomic position of individuals and households in poor countries are many and various. This book addresses three core issues 1 what are the main channels of effect 2 what are the lessons to be learned from policy measures to alleviate negative poverty consequences and 3 do the proposed analytical approaches assist in providing a monitoring capability. This volume assesses the more easily quantifiable effects resulting from price and quantity responses in the goods and labour markets. It includes studies of Colombia Ghana India Nepal Bangladesh and Vietnam. It uses key analytical approaches most of which are based on numerical simulation methods employing models with different levels of complexity. These models capture the features of an economy how it functions and how it might respond to globalization shocks. The most important collective contribution of the authors is their establishment of directions and magnitudes of effect based on empirical evidence. Productivity Growth in the Manufacturing Sector Mihir Kumar Pal, 2021-06-03. The growth of manufacturing industries is one of the key sectors in helping to mitigate global recessions. Productivity Growth in the Manufacturing Sector thoroughly discusses issues and potential remedies of this sector for a

South-South Globalization S. Mansoob Murshed, Pedro Goulart, Leandro Serino, 2011-06-16 Two prominent features of the current global economy are the world wide recession brought about by the recent financial crisis and the emergence of major economic powers from within the developing world such as Brazil China and India The former represents the failure of global regulatory policies and macroeconomic imbalances between surplus and deficit countries the latter is symptomatic of a partial shift in economic power towards developing nations who are often collectively labelled the global South The macroeconomic imbalances are unsustainable in the longer run as they mean greater absorption relative to income in deficit nations they require corrective action and international policy coordination Reducing imbalances also requires large developing countries to raise their domestic consumption and also imports from the rest of the world and international financial institutions to operate as a lender of last resort Furthermore the engines of global growth especially for developing countries may no longer lie solely in the traditional developed country markets in the USA Europe and Japan known collectively as the global North Rather South South trade is growing rapidly and that could be an engine of growth for the global economy including both developed and developing countries The various chapters in this edited volume address issues surrounding global imbalances and the prospects for growth in developing countries propelled by South South interaction This book should be of interest to students and researchers focussing on political economics international economics globalization global imbalance and the world wide recession after 2008

COVID-19 Pandemic, Public Policy, and Institutions in India Indranil De, Soumyadip Chattopadhyay, Hippu Salk Kristle Nathan, Kingshuk Sarkar, 2022-03-23

This book looks at the institutional and governance issues faced by India during the first and second wave of the COVID 19 pandemic and its adverse impact on the vulnerable sectors and groups. The book is split into four parts with preceding chapters informing later ones. Part One outlines the approach of the study in particular their examination of policy responses and the effect of the pandemic. Part Two delves into the governance challenges in containing the pandemic while giving the theoretical rationale for institutional responses. Part Three looks at how the pandemic affected economically vulnerable households, workers, and small industries. The effect of pandemic on the informal sector is also detailed. Lastly, Part Four examines the impacts and responses of Indian public infrastructure and services to the pandemic in particular the impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on health care and schooling. It also explores the challenges caused by infrastructure inadequacies in Indian cities. The book closes by looking at how businesses in the private sector have responded to the COVID 19 pandemic with a focus on Corporate Social Responsibility. The book will be a useful reference to researchers, policymakers, and practitioners who are interested in institutions and development especially in the context of India.

Public Finance Mechanisms to Catalyze Sustainable Energy Sector Growth, 2005 Quantitative Aspects of Post-War European Economic Growth Bart van Ark, Nicholas Crafts, 2007-01-18 A quantitative account of European growth since 1950 which combines historical and economic expertise

Evolving Diversity and Interdependence of Capitalisms Robert Boyer, Hiroyasu Uemura, Toshio Yamada, Lei Song, 2018-10-31 This book integrates three levels of political economic analysis: first a comparative institutional analysis of the varieties of capitalism in both Europe and Asia; second a macroeconomic analysis of industrial structural change and economic dynamics of the national economies in Europe and Asia; and then an encompassing analysis of international production linkages and international financial instability which determine the long term patterns of regional integration in Europe and Asia. The comparison of the European Union and ASEAN delivers some key conditions for a viable long term regional economic integration to cope with contrasted capitalisms and growth regimes: either pragmatism in the choice of an exchange rate regime or a form of fiscal federalism. The reader will also find a genuine analysis of the dynamism of the Chinese economy, a study on institutional changes and de-industrialization in Japan, and the increasing international production linkages among China, Japan, Korea, and ASEAN. It is shown how the enlargement of the European Union and the Euro triggered the diverging competitiveness and macroeconomic performances that led to the crisis of a six decades long economic and political process. This book is the result of long lasting Asian-European collaborative research. It is a milestone in the historical and comparative analysis along the regulation theory that aims at understanding the long run transformations, renewed diversity, and interdependence of capitalisms.

The Sectoral Structure of Poverty During an Adjustment Period Monika Huppi, Martin Ravallion, 1990 Favorable initial conditions, a timely adjustment program, and associated gains to the rural sector allowed Indonesia to maintain the momentum of its progress in poverty alleviation during the difficult 1980s.
