The Deepest Border Sasha D. Pack, 2019-01-15 In the mid nineteenth century as European navies learned to neutralize piracy new patterns of circulation and settlement became possible in the western Mediterranean The Deepest Border tells the story of how a borderland society formed around the Strait of Gibraltar bringing historical perspective to one of the contemporary world's critical border zones. Drawing on primary and secondary research from Spain, France, Gibraltar and Morocco including military intelligence files, public health reports, consular correspondence and travel diaries, Sasha D Pack draws out parallels and connections often invisible to national and mono-imperial histories. In conceptualizing the Strait of Gibraltar region as a borderland, Pack reconsiders a number of the region's major tensions and conflicts including the Rif Rebellion, the Spanish Civil War, the European phase of World War II, the colonization and decolonization of Morocco and the ongoing controversies over the exclaves of Gibraltar, Ceuta and Melilla. Integrating these threads into a long history of the region, The Deepest Border speaks to broad questions about how sovereignty operates on the periphery, how borders are constructed and maintained and the enduring legacies of imperialism and colonialism.

Vladimir Markov and Russian Primitivism Jeremy Howard, Irena Bužinska, Z.S. Strother, 2016-02-11. Hailed as a brilliant theoretician, Voldemars Matvejs, best known by his pen name Vladimir Markov, was a Latvian artist who spearheaded the Union of Youth, a dynamic group championing artistic change in Russia, 1910-14. His work had a formative impact on Malevich, Tatlin and the Constructivists before it was censored during the era of Soviet realism. This volume introduces Markov as an innovative and pioneering art photographer and assembles for the first time five of his most important essays. The translations of these hard-to-find texts are fresh, unabridged and authentically poetic. Critical essays by Jeremy Howard and Irena Buzinska situate his work in the larger phenomenon of Russian primitivism, i.e. the search for the primal. This book challenges hardening narratives of primitivism by reexamining the enthusiasm for world art in the early modern period from the perspective of Russia rather than Western Europe. Markov composed what may be the first book on African art, and Z.S. Strother analyzes both the text and its photographs for their unique interpretation of West African sculpture as a Kantian play of masses and weights. The book will appeal to students of modernism, orientalism, primitivism, historiography, African art and the history of the photography of sculpture. Cincinnati Magazine taps into the DNA of the city, exploring shopping, dining, living and culture and giving readers a ringside seat on the issues shaping the region. The Culinary Crescent Peter Heine, 2018-11-15. The Fertile Crescent region, the swath of land comprising a vast portion of today's Middle East, has long been regarded as pivotal to the rise of civilization. Alongside the story of human development, innovation and progress, there is a culinary tradition of equal richness and importance. In The Culinary Crescent: A History of Middle Eastern Cuisine, Peter Heine combines years of scholarship with a personal passion; his knowledge of the culinary traditions of the Umayyad, Abbasid, Ottoman, Safavid and Mughal courts is matched only by his love for the tastes and smells produced by the contemporary cooking of these areas today. In addition to offering a fascinating history, Heine presents more than one hundred recipes, from the modest to the extravagant, with dishes ranging from those created by the celebrity chefs of the bygone Mughal era up to gastronomically complex presentations of modern times Beautifully produced designed for both reading and cooking and lavishly illustrated in color throughout The Culinary Crescent is sure to provide a delectable window in the history of food in the Middle East Heritage as Community Research Helen Graham,Jo Vergunst,2019-03-13 Heritage as Community Research explores the nature of contemporary heritage research involving university and community partners Putting forward a new view of heritage as a process of research and involvement with the past undertaken with or by the communities for whom it is relevant the book uses a diverse range of case studies with many chapters co written between academics and community partners Through this extensive work the Editors show that the process of research itself can be an empowering force by which communities stake a claim in the places they live Cincinnati Magazine ,1999-07 Cincinnati Magazine taps into the DNA of the city exploring shopping dining living and culture and giving readers a ringside seat on the issues shaping the region Bitter Almonds Laurence Cossé,2013-04-02 From the pen of Laurence Coss author of A Novel Bookstore comes this delightful story about friendship across racial and economic barriers set in contemporary paris dith can hardly believe it when she learns that Fadila her sixty year old housemaid is completely illiterate How can a person living in Paris in the third millennium possibly survive without knowing how to read or write How does she catch a bus or pay a bill or withdraw money from the bank Why it s unacceptable She thus decides to become Fadila s French teacher But teaching something as complex as reading and writing to an adult is rather more challenging that she thought Their lessons are short difficult and tiring Yet during these lessons the oh so Parisian dith and Fadila an immigrant from Morocco begin to understand one other as never before and from this understanding will blossom a surprising and delightful friendship dith will enter into contact with a way of life utterly unfamiliar to her one that is unforgiving at times but joyful and dignified Precarious Modernities Cristiana Strava,2021-12-02 Using rich ethnographic detail Precarious Modernities offers an immersive account of the multiple scales and entangled actors involved in the objectification and instrumentalization of Casablanca s margins as part of ongoing and contingent processes of modernization Focusing on the everyday lives and spaces of a mythicized community and its interaction with heritage activists international development agendas and technocratic planning regimes the book documents how the depoliticization of the urban margins aids the consolidation of deeply unequal social spatial and economic orders The result is a unique account of the political continuities security logics economic ideologies and competing forces that shape the possibilities open to precarious communities in a storied and sprawling metropolis As marginalized inhabitants develop pragmatic ways of appropriating or resisting powerful agendas unanticipated and novel forms of political engagement emerge These signal the revival and reconfiguration of notions of class and open up creative and alternative spatial avenues for participation in an era of increasing authoritarianisms
