The Life of a Galilean Shaman Pieter F Craffert,2010-02-25 The aim of historical Jesus research is to identify the authentic material from which the historical figure as a social type underneath the overlay is constructed Pieter Craffert s anthropological historiography offers an alternative framework for dealing with Jesus of Nazareth as a social personage fully embedded in a first century Mediterranean worldview and the Gospels as cultural artefacts related to this figure This cross cultural model represents a religious pattern that refers to a family of features for describing those religious entrepreneurs who based on regular Altered State of Consciousness experiences perform a specific set of social functions in their communities

The Flower of Suffering Nuria Scapin,2020-04-06 Greek tragedy occupies a prominent place in the development of early Greek thought However even within the partial renaissance of debates about tragedy s roots in the popular thought of archaic Greece its potential connection to the early philosophical tradition remains with few exceptions at the periphery of current interest This book aims to show that our understanding of Aeschylus Oresteia is enhanced by seeing that the trilogy s treatment of Zeus and Justice Dik shares certain concepts assumptions categories of thought and forms of expression with the surviving fragments and doxography of certain Presocratic thinkers especially Anaximander Xenophanes Heraclitus and Parmenides By examining several aspects of the tragic trilogy in relation to Presocratic debates about theology and cosmic justice it shows how such scrutiny may affect our understanding of the theological tension and metaphysical assumptions underpinning the Oresteia s dramatic narrative Ultimately it argues that Aeschylus bestows on the experience of human suffering as it is given in the contradictory multiplicity of the world the status of a profound form of knowledge a meeting point between the human and divine spheres
