Congress. Copyright Office, 1972 Norman Foster Richard Rogers James Stirling Deyan Sudjic, Norman Foster, James Stirling, Richard Rogers, 1988 NORMAN FOSTER, RICHARD ROGERS, JAMES STIRLING , 1986 Site Matters Carol Burns, Andrea Kahn, 2005 This volume through theoretical essays and empirically grounded pieces on Le Corbusier's designs contemporary suburbs and the planning agendas of the World Trade Center site provides theory on the appreciation of site and context in architecture Architectural Intelligence Molly Wright Steenson, 2022-11-01 Architects who engaged with cybernetics artificial intelligence and other technologies poured the foundation for digital interactivity In Architectural Intelligence Molly Wright Steenson explores the work of four architects in the 1960s and 1970s who incorporated elements of interactivity into their work Christopher Alexander Richard Saul Wurman Cedric Price and Nicholas Negroponte and the MIT Architecture Machine Group all incorporated technologies including cybernetics and artificial intelligence into their work and influenced digital design practices from the late 1980s to the present day Alexander long before his famous 1977 book A Pattern Language used computation and structure to visualize design problems Wurman popularized the notion of information architecture Price designed some of the first intelligent buildings and Negroponte experimented with the ways people experience artificial intelligence even at architectural scale Steenson investigates how these architects pushed the boundaries of architecture and how their technological experiments pushed the boundaries of technology What did computational cybernetic and artificial intelligence researchers have to gain by engaging with architects and architectural problems And what was this new space that emerged within these collaborations At times Steenson writes the architects in this book characterized themselves as anti architects and their work as anti architecture The projects Steenson examines mostly did not result in constructed buildings but rather in design processes and tools computer programs interfaces digital environments Alexander Wurman Price and Negroponte laid the foundation for many of our contemporary interactive practices from information architecture to interaction design from machine learning to smart cities Designing the British Post-War Home Fiona Fisher, 2015-04-10 In Designing the British Post War Home Fiona Fisher explores the development of modern domestic architecture in Britain through a detailed study of the work of the successful Surrey based architectural practice of Kenneth Wood Wood's firm is representative of a geographically distinct category of post war architectural and design practice that of the small private practice that flourished in Britain's expanding suburbs after the removal of wartime building restrictions Such firms which played an important role in the development of British domestic design are currently under represented within architectural histories of the period The private house represents an important site in which new spatial material and aesthetic parameters for modern living were defined after the Second World War Within a British context the architect designed private house remained an important vehicle for the investigation of architectural ideas by second generation modernist architects and designers Through a series of case study houses designed by Wood s firm the book reconsiders the progress of modern domestic architecture in Britain and demonstrates the ways in which architectural discourse and practice intersected with the experience performance and representation of domestic modernity in post war Britain Special Relations Howard Malchow,2011-02-18 A study of Anglo American cultural and countercultural exchange from the mid Fifties to the mid Seventies Special Relations explores aspects of London modernism the anti war movement student rebellion black power the second wave feminist and gay liberation movements and transatlantic nostalgia
