New Directions In European Historiography Revised Edition:

New Directions in European Historiography Georg G. Iggers, 1984-07 Impressive analytical essays on the transformation of historical studies in Europe In four impressively researched essays Georg Iggers recounts the transformation of historical studies in Europe during the twentieth century with particular emphasis on the historiography of the past fifteen years Although the book does survey a broad area of contemporary historical thought it is primarily a careful analytical examination of the methodological and theoretical reorientation of certain influential European historians The first essay discusses the emergence at German Universities during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries of the concept of history as a scientific discipline distinct from the classical tradition of literary history and the later broad acceptance of this mode of Enquiry in the Western world Against this background Mr Iggers then considers the challenge to this mode of the political social and intellectual upheavals of the twentieth century especially after World War II The three essays following examine important attempts to develop alternate paradigms for historical study the French historians of the Annales tradition the German political historians of the 1960s the various Marxist historians of France Poland East Germany and Great Britain In despite of the frequent insistence by philosophers and theorists of history that history is not a science in contemporary terms historians themselves have striven in recent years to strengthen the quantitative aspects of historical study moving away from traditional patterns of writing and adopting methods and concepts from the systematic social sciences Mr Iggers book is an excellent introduction to these contemporary changes in historiography and in its comparative analyses itself makes a contribution to historical studies

The Many Faces of Clio Q. Edward Wang, Franz L. Fillafer, Georg G. Iggers, 2007 Born in Germany Georg Iggers escaped from Nazism to the United States in his adolescence where he became one of the most distinguished scholars of European intellectual history and the history of historiography In his lectures delivered all over the world and in his numerous books translated into many languages Georg Iggers has reshaped historiography and indefatigably promoted cross cultural dialogue This volume reflects the profound impact of his oeuvre Among the contributors are leading intellectual historians but also younger scholars who explore the various cultural contexts of modern historiography focusing on changes of European and American scholarship as well as non Western historical writing in relation to developments in the West Addressing these changes from a transnational perspective this well rounded volume offers an excellent introduction to the field which will be of interest to both established historians and graduate students

Storia della storiografia, 2005 Israel's Past in Present Research V. Philips Long, 1999-06-30 The debate over history history writing and the scientific study of history is reaching an apex in the late twentieth century and shows no signs of abating in the near future The literature on the topic is prodigious The time is thus ripe for an anthology of essays of the sort that Professor Long has collected essays that trace the history of the issues that have fed into the debate The classic and contemporary essays presented here provide an overview and introduction to the topic bringing together the most essential of these in a handy compilation The book is organized in six sections 1 The State of Old Testament Historiography 2 Ancient Near Eastern Historiography 3 Ancient Israelite Historiography 4 Method in the Study of Ancient Israelite Historiography 5 The Historical Impulse in the Old Testament 6 The Future of Israel's Past Long's goal is to provide a context for Israelite history writing within the milieu of the ancient Near East expose the methodologies and assumptions of various approaches and perspectives on historiography and provide access to essays that examine the contribution of the Hebrew Scriptures themselves to the origins of history writing The final essay by Long points the way to future research and topics that will move the discussion forward into the next millennium Professor V Philips Long teaches Old Testament at Covenant Theological Seminary St Louis

Narration and Explanation, 2021-11-15 Class and Other Identities Lex Heerma van Voss, Marcel van der Linden, 2002 With the onset of a more conservative political climate in the 1980s social and especially labour history saw a decline in the popularity that they had enjoyed throughout the 1960s and 1970s This led to much debate on its future and function within the historical discipline as a whole Some critics declared it dead altogether Others have proposed a change of direction and a more or less exclusive focus on images and texts The most constructive proposals have suggested that labour history in the past concentrated too much on class and that other identities of working people should be taken into account to a larger extent than they had been previously such as gender religion and ethnicity Although class as a social category is still as valid as it has been before the questions now to be asked are to what extent non class identities shape working people's lives and mentalities and how these are linked with the class system In this volume some of the leading European historians of labour and the working classes address these questions Two non European scholars comment on their findings from an Indian resp American point of view The volume is rounded off by a most useful bibliography of recent studies in European labour history class gender religion and ethnicity
