New Money, Nice Town Leonard Nevarez, 2014-01-14 The economic restructuring that has gone on since the 1980s has produced a new economic space in which service and high tech firms are at the forefront of innovation One of the features of the new economy is what pop geographer Joel Kotkin calls nerdistans or smaller cities with a substantial high tech sector limits on growth environmentally friendly policies and a generally well educated population In New Money Nice Town Leonard Nevarez takes a close look at how new economy firms in quality of life cities interact with local political structures finding that they are both more liberal and more detached than their traditional counterparts This new global economy has created communities whose politics are more democratic but also more tenuous and unstable

Factors Influencing the Buying Decision of Consumers' towards Branded Biscuits Dr. M. Ganesh Babu, Consuming Schools Trevor Norris, 2011-01-01 The increasing prevalence of consumerism in contemporary society often equates happiness with the acquisition of material objects Consuming Schools describes the impact of consumerism on politics and education and charts the increasing presence of commercialism in the educational sphere through an examination of issues such as school business partnerships advertising in schools and corporate sponsored curriculum First linking the origins of consumerism to important political and philosophical thinkers Trevor Norris goes on to closely examine the distinction between the public and the private sphere through the lens of twentieth century intellectuals Hannah Arendt and Jean Baudrillard Through Arendt's account of the human activities of labour work and action and the ensuing eclipse of the public realm and Baudrillard's consideration of the visual character of consumerism Norris examines how school commercialism has been critically engaged by in class activities such as media literacy programs and educational policies regulating school business partnerships
