Hunting Lieutenant Chadbourne Jim W. Corder, 2011-01-01

On May 9 1846 Second Lieutenant Theodore Lincoln Chadbourne United States Army fell in the battle of Resaca de la Palma during the war with Mexico Dead at twenty three in a remote desert his promise outweighing his accomplishments Chadbourne slid into obscurity But his lapse was not immediate nor was it complete clues to Chadbourne lay scattered about the historical landscape Hunting Lieutenant Chadbourne is Jim W Corder's account of his obsessive search for information about this soldier whose name he first read on a historical marker beside a highway in Texas A thoughtful meditation on the connectedness of history and the possibilities of recovering and understanding the past the book reveals as much about Corder's literary and historiographical preoccupations as it does about the life of his subject Rather than order his material into a linear chronological narrative Corder presents it in much the same sequence and form as it came to him The effect is to dramatize the historical process and allow the very details that Corder collects to reveal Chadbourne to the reader Who was Chadbourne and can we ever really know If Corder has any answers they lie in his subtext of uncertainty Pleasant Bend Dan Worrall, 2016 Today's Greater Houston is a vast urban place In the mid nineteenth century however Houston was a small town a dot in a vast frontier Extant written histories of Houston largely confine themselves to the small area within the city limits of the day leaving nearly forgotten the history of large rural areas that later fell beneath the city's late twentieth century urban sprawl One such area is that of upper Buffalo Bayou extending westward from downtown Houston to Katy European settlement here began at Piney Point in 1824 over a decade before Houston was founded Ox wagons full of cotton traveled across a seemingly endless tallgrass prairie from the Brazos River east to Harrisburg and later to Houston along the San Felipe Trail built in 1830 Also here Texan families fled eastward during the Runaway Scrape of 1836 immigrant German settlers trekked westward to new farms along the north bank of the bayou in the 1840s and newly freed African American families walked east toward Houston from Brazos plantations after Emancipation Pioneer settlers operated farms ranches and sawmills Near present day Shepherd Drive Reconstruction era cowboys assembled herds of longhorns and headed north along a southeastern branch of the Chisholm Trail Little physical evidence remains today of this former frontier world
