A Writing Halfway Between Theory and Fiction Miriam Wallraven, 2007 This book is focused on the surprisingly large number of feminist women writers in literary history who use different genres for their feminist ideas while subverting or transgressing established boundaries between fictional and theoretical writing In particular texts by such diverse authors as Mary Wollstonecraft Mary Hays Mary Robinson Harriet Martineau Olive Schreiner Virginia Woolf the French Feminists Hélène Cixous and Monique Wittig Margaret Cavendish and Michelle Roberts are analysed This chronological in depth reading of feminist texts is based on the interrelation of content genre and discourse The study provides the first analysis of the phenomenon of the gendering of genre and feminists' troubled involvement in theory as well as literature In this way key questions concerning the emergence of feminism during the last four hundred years are presented in a new and revealing light e.g. for what reason did Mary Wollstonecraft not only write her famous feminist treatise A Vindication of the Rights of Woman but also a novel in which she tests the arguments of her theoretical treatise by means of fiction What is the significance of Virginia Woolf's Novel Essay The Pargiters which seeks to connect theoretical and fictional parts by juxtaposing them How can the mixture of genres be interpreted which Catherine Clement attributes to the texts of Hélène Cixous as a writing halfway between theory and fiction

Portable Modernisms Emily Ridge, 2017-06-23 Luggage is an overlooked detail in the stock sketch of the expatriated modernist writer from the valise fashioned desks of both James Joyce and Vladimir Nabokov to the lost manuscript laden cases of Ernest Hemingway and Walter Benjamin While the trope of modernist exile has long been spotlighted little attention has been given to the material meaning of this condition What things and objects do modernism s exiles and emigres carry with them and how does the act of carriage enter into the modernist picture more broadly What are the implications and historical resonances of a portable outlook particularly from the angles of gender wartime conflict and character conception Above all how far does such an outlook impact upon artistic vision Portability represents the simultaneous transportation and repudiation of domesticity and the home those key frames of reference in the nineteenth century novel This book examines the multifarious ways in which the emergence of a modern culture of portability prompts a radical if often problematic departure from Victorian architectural conceptions of fiction towards more movable understandings of form and character

Rereading the Imperial Romance Laura Chrisman, 2000

This book examines literary romance as a vehicle for the ideological contradictions of British imperialism in South Africa Chrisman draws upon postcolonial theory and cultural materialism to discuss the imperialist Rider Haggard's fictional accounts of mining in King Solomon's Mines and Zulu history in Nada the Lily examining these novels as fraught responses to the introduction of capitalist modernity She goes on to analyse the counter narratives of metropolitan and African resistance of feminist Olive Schreiner and black nationalist Sol Plaatje Exploring Schreiner's much neglected Trooper Peter Halket of Mashonaland Chrisman situates this book in relation to the violent creation of Rhodesia the 1896-7 Shona uprisings and contemporary criticism of Cecil Rhodes In doing so she shows how Schreiner's is a much more challenging example of anti imperialist fiction than Conrad's Heart of Darkness published two years later Chrisman's discussion of Plaatje's Mhudi the first black African novel in English considers the book as a direct response to Haggard's imperialism and Schreiner's feminist theory Locating the book through the politics and epistemology of the early ANC she reveals how Plaatje challenges Haggard's misogyny and fatalistic historiography Mhudi she argues is a novel whose nationalist and sexual politics are considerably more complex than has been recognized Plaatje uses his narrative form to articulate both radical and liberal alternatives to white South African rule Chrisman's book demonstrates how South Africa played an important if now overlooked role in British imperial culture and shows the impact of capitalism itself in the making of racial gender and national identities This book makes an original contribution to studies of Victorian literature of empire South African literary history African studies black nationalism and the literature of resistance

Pietrzak-Franger,2017-06-08 This book addresses the evident but unexplored intertwining of visibility and invisibility in the discourses around syphilis A rethinking of the disease with reference to its ambiguous status and the ways of seeing that it generated helps reconsider the network of socio cultural and political interrelations which were negotiated through syphilis thereby also raising larger questions about its function in the construction of individual national and imperial identities This book is the first large scale interdisciplinary study of syphilis in late Victorian Britain whose significance lies in its unprecedented attention to the multimedia and multi discursive evocations of syphilis An examination of the heterogeneous sources that it offers many of which have up to this point escaped critical attention makes it possible to reveal the complex and poly ideological reasons for the activation of syphilis imagery and its symbolic function in late Victorian culture
