Reflections On Population:

Reflections on Population Rafael M. Salas, 2013-10-22 Reflections on Population is written by a former Executive Director of the United Nations Fund for Population Activities which is a sequel to International Population Assistance The First Decade released in 1979. This book mainly focuses on providing reflections on the work of the UN Fund. Specifically it tackles population growth and structure, fertility, women's status, family and morbidity and mortality. Programs spearheaded by the Fund in promoting knowledge and implementation of population policies and programs are then presented and discussed. This text will be very invaluable to those interested in studying population.

Culturally Diverse Populations: Reflections from Pioneers in Education and Research Diane De Anda, 2013-10-18 The purpose of this book is to open a discourse on current and pertinent issues related to multicultural populations by the most noted experts and researchers in the field. This book offers an overview of the literature on multicultural issues and assesses its approach to the following issues: the stereotypic assumptions with regard to filial piety and Asian American populations, substance abuse within the Latino community, multicultural youth and elders, refugee and immigrant populations as well as vulnerable populations such as victims of political and sexual exploitation. The aim is to provide a forum for educators in the field to present views regarding important issues for which there is no other venue. They are important for educators, practitioners and students in the field to consider and discuss. These will serve as springboards for such discussion. Although references will be cited when appropriate, these will be position papers rather than research papers or reviews of the literature. This book was based on a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic and Cultural Diversity in Social Work.

Some Reflections on Population A. W. Roberts, Reflections Of Our Past John H. Relethford, 2018-03-09 Where did modern humans come from and how important are the biological differences among us? Are we descended from Neanderthals? How many races of people are there? Were Native Americans the first settlers of the New World? How can we tell if Thomas Jefferson had a child with Sally Hemings? Through an engaging examination of issues such as these and using non-technical language, Reflections of Our Past shows how anthropologists use genetic information to test theories and define possible answers to fundamental questions in human history. By looking at genetic variation in the world today, we can reconstruct the recent and remote events and processes that created the variation we see, providing a fascinating reflection of our genetic past. Reflections of Our Past is a W. W. Howells Book Prize Winner and Choice Outstanding Academic Title.

Reflections on the Law of War Frits Kalshoven, 2007 The papers collected in this volume span a 35 year period of active involvement in the reaffirmation and development of international humanitarian law. A process under that name started in 1971 and ended in 1977 with the adoption of two Protocols Additional to the Geneva Conventions of 1949, one for international and one for internal armed conflicts. Subsequent developments brought a narrowing of this gap between international and internal armed conflicts as well as growing recognition of the interplay between the law of armed conflict and human rights, the rediscovery of individual criminal liability for violations of international humanitarian law the introduction of further prohibitions or restrictions on the use of specified weapons and so on In contrast with these positive developments the period was negatively characterised by increasing disrespect not only for some or other minor rule such as what to do with cash taken from a prisoner of war at the time of his capture but for the very principles underlying the entire body of the law of armed conflict respect for the other as a human being and hence humane treatment of prisoners of war and other detainees protection of civilians Throughout the period the author's activities ranged from participation in lawmaking and law interpreting exercises through attempts at explaining the law of armed conflict in its historical context and making propaganda for its faithful implementation to critical or even bewildered observance of actual events The papers brought together here reflect these diverse angles

Reflections on the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples Stephen Allen, Alexandra Xanthaki, 2011-01-12 The adoption of the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples by the United Nations General Assembly on 13 September 2007 was acclaimed as a major success for the United Nations system given the extent to which it consolidates and develops the international corpus of indigenous rights This is the first in depth academic analysis of this far reaching instrument Indigenous representatives have argued that the rights contained in the Declaration and the processes by which it was formulated obligate affected States to accept the validity of its provisions and its interpretation of contested concepts such as culture land ownership and self determination This edited collection contains essays written by the main protagonists in the development of the Declaration indigenous representatives and field leading academics It offers a comprehensive institutional thematic and regional analysis of the Declaration In particular it explores the Declaration's normative resonance for international law and considers the ways in which this international instrument could catalyse institutional action and influence the development of national laws and policies on indigenous issues Critical Reflection Robert Malcolm Murray, Nebojsa Kujundzic, 2005 In an era of information overload our need to learn how to critically evaluate the growing flood of information has never been greater Critical Reflection showcases the role of reason in a world saturated by media enhanced persuasion and complex scientific and technological jargon Drawing from the classic philosophical texts this engaging textbook on the art of analyzing arguments is also relevant to today's undergraduates in its use of real life examples and exercises drawn mainly from media and politics Malcolm Murray and Nebojsa Kujundzic cover the standard subjects in a one semester course on critical thinking offering ways to analyze arguments Reflections from the Kitchen Fred Raynaud, 2006-10 Reflections is not a cookbook There are no recipes between its pages What you will find is a look at Christ through the eyes of a chef The book takes you behind the scenes of restaurant life and reflects the Glory of Christ while working and worshipping within the marketplace Clinical Psychology Reflections Volume 5 Connor Whiteley, 2024-10-18 Clinical psychology applies psychological knowledge and theory to mental health conditions But psychology students and professionals know information in textbooks and lecture theatres miss real world issues sometimes
