Reinventing Ireland Peadar Kirby, Luke Gibbons, Michael Cronin, 2002-04-20 Over the last decade the Irish economy has experienced a period of unprecedented growth which has earned it the title Celtic Tiger This success has been interpreted by academic commentators as marking a social and cultural transformation what some have called the reinvention of Ireland The essays in this book challenge the largely positive interpretation of Ireland s changing social order The authors identify the ways in which culture and society have been made subservient to the needs of the market in this new neoliberal Ireland They draw on subversive strands in Irish history and offer a broader and more robust understanding of culture as a site of resistance to the dominant social order and as a political means to fashion an alternative future The

Dao and Sign in History Daniel Fried, 2018-10-29 Provides a new perspective on important linguistic issues in philosophical and religious Daoism through the comparative lens of twentieth century European philosophies of language From its earliest origins in the Dao De Jing Daoism has been known as a movement that is skeptical of the ability of language to fully express the truth While many scholars have compared the earliest works of Daoism to language skeptical movements in twentieth century European philosophy and have debated to what degree early Daoism does or does not resemble these recent movements Daniel Fried breaks new ground by examining a much broader array of Daoist materials from ancient and medieval China and showing how these works influenced ideas about language in medieval religion literature and politics Through an extended comparison with a broad sample of European philosophical works the book explores how ideas about language grow out of a given historical moment and advances a larger argument about how philosophical and religious ideas cannot be divided into content and context Fried combines the disciplines of semiotics with a largely philosophical approach thus offering fresh insights into both disciplines while looking at issues from multiple perspectives Steven Burik author of The End of Comparative Philosophy and the Task of Comparative Thinking Heidegger Derrida and Daoism

God's Heart for Israel (and Us) John Weldon, 2011-07-12 We read God's promises to Israel in the Old Testament where it is referred to as the apple of His eye but is God done with Israel since they rejected their Messiah Are we as Christians supposed to stand for the nation of Israel today Has the Church now replaced Israel so that God's promises and covenants given in the OT no longer apply to Israel What is Israel's global importance Is global anti-Semitism on the rise What will be Israel's ultimate future According to an article in the Jerusalem Post of June 17 2011 Israel is at a do or die moment As was the case in May 1967 when the combined Arab armies gathered with the express purpose of wiping the Jewish state off the map today again Israel is alone in its hour of greatest peril John Weldon is able to answer these questions and address the important issues of our day because of the extensive research he has done on Middle East and America He shares what he has learned in this deeply thought provoking book

The Look of Things Carsten Strathausen, 2020-05-01 Examining the relationship between German poetry philosophy and visual media around 1900 Carsten Strathausen argues that the poetic works of Rainer Maria Rilke Hugo von Hofmannsthal and Stefan George focused on the visible gestalt of language as a means of competing aesthetically with the increasing popularity and reality effect of photography and film Poetry around 1900 self reflectively celebrated its own words as both transparent signs and material objects Strathausen says In Aestheticism this means that language harbors the potential to literally present the things it signifies Rather than simply describing or picturing the physical experience of looking as critics have commonly maintained modernist poetry claims to enable a more profound kind of perception that grants intuitive insights into the very texture of
