Making School By Hand Developing A Meaning Centered Curriculum From Everyday Life:

Making School by Hand Mary Kenner Glover, 1997 This book is the story of the founder of the Awakening Seed School who reveals how her childhood interests and experiences have influenced what she has created in her own school and classroom Using the metaphor of a quilt the book shows how teaching can be approached as a handmade process and how the materials of everyday life can be used to develop a curriculum to meet the needs and interests of students The book presents creative classroom activities such as building models of the human body designing and playing board games with environmental themes and bringing books to life through dance performances that lead to surprises and discoveries Illustrated with examples of students work the book depicts one classroom in one school where the curriculum is specifically designed for and by its daily participants The book invites other educators to join in the process of creating their own handmade learning environments Contains 31 references and a list of recommended readings NKA Meaning-Centered Education Olga Kovbasyuk, Patrick Blessinger, 2013-04-12 In a time of globally changing environments and economic challenges many institutions of higher education are attempting to reform by promoting standardization approaches Meaning Centered Education explores the counter tide for an alternative vision of education where students and instructors engage in open meaning making processes and self organizing educational practices In one contributed volume Meaning Centered Education provides a comprehensive introduction to current scholarship and pedagogical practice on meaning centered education International contributors explore how modern educational scholars and practitioners all around the world are implementing a comprehensive framework that supports meaning making in a classroom This edited collection is a valuable resource for higher education faculty and scholars interested in renewing the deep purposes of higher education The SAGE Handbook of Educational Leadership Fenwick W. English, 2011-01-11 This fully updated Second Edition offers an unflinching and comprehensive overview of the full range of both practical and theoretical issues facing educational leadership today Editor Fenwick W English and 30 renowned authors boldly address the most fundamental and contested issues in the field including culturally relevant and distributed leadership critical policy and practice issues predicting the new century s conflict the paradox of changes and the promises paradoxes and pitfalls of standards for educational leaders

Rural Voices Robert Brooke, 2003 Featuring lively essays from rural elementary and secondary teachers this volume describes the theory and practice of place conscious education using one s local place to build real lasting connections to learning The teachers describe the development and implementation of rich classroom writing programs that link learners with their rural communities and can serve as models for both public engagement and pedagogy The outgrowth of research lead by the National Writing Project and funded in part by the Annenberg Rural Challenge this book Applies place conscious ideas to rural and regional contexts rather than to urban communities in crisis Shows how to integrate place conscious teaching into student centered workshop teaching Describes a community writing project that attempted to save a school in
