Surrealism and Its Others Katharine Conley, Pierre Taminiaux, 2006-01-01 This issue of Yale French Studies on Surrealism and Its Others examines the works and theories of writers artists and thinkers who positioned themselves and their productions in dialogue with Breton's surrealism Although surrealism always sought to distinguish itself from other movements and ideologies its members often celebrated their commonality with many others outside of the official group with whom they shared their passions Marxists visual artists filmmakers psychiatrists and ethnographers Each of the writers artists and thinkers examined here were either temporarily associated with surrealism or were influenced by its collective and open spirit even if in a primarily opposing or questioning role In some cases this outside perspective came from as close as Belgium and other European countries In other cases it came from farther away from North Africa or North America which reveals surrealism's engagement with non European formerly colonized cultures reflects its staunchly anti colonial stance and confirms the movement as something more than an aesthetic phenomenon Along with its aesthetic mission surrealism was also and perhaps more importantly a powerful political and social reality This issue examines works by artists writers and theorists who were all in their own ways located outside of yet close to surrealism and who provide us with a new perspective on this avant garde and modernist movement
