Poverty Alleviation Strategies Of Ngos:

Poverty Alleviation Strategies of NGOs D. Rajasekhar, 2003 Examines the efforts made by the NGOs in alleviating poverty with special reference to India New Growth and Poverty Alleviation Strategies for Africa Karl Wohlmuth, 2009 This Volume XIV analyses the New Growth and Poverty Alleviation Strategies for Africa Institutional issues and perspectives in designing new growth and poverty alleviation strategies are considered in various case studies Cote d Ivoire Nigeria Botswana and Tanzania Other studies deal with institutional problems of resource rich countries after conflict Sudan and with the institutions to enhance environmental protection parallel with economic growth and poverty reduction Niger Further studies deal with institutions to bridge the gap between formal and informal entrepreneurial sectors in Kenya and Tanzania Local issues and perspectives for designing new growth and poverty alleviation strategies are considered in case studies on rural urban development gaps in Tanzania and on microfinance as an instrument for new growth and poverty alleviation strategies Tanzania and Eritrea A study on small farmers in Ghana provides information on the role they can play in value chains Two studies on Nigeria highlight the local and the sub regional health and poverty alleviation programmes and the relation to growth Book Reviews and Book Notes on the theme are part of the volume This Volume builds the foundation for a comprehensive strategy of policy reforms in Africa so as to integrate new growth and poverty alleviation strategies Complementary to Volume XIV is Volume XIII on New Growth and Poverty Alleviation Strategies for Africa International and Regional Perspectives Both Volumes are of importance for all those who work in African countries as officials executives managers researchers and policy makers but also for all those who actively support Africa s development concerns at the international regional country local and project levels They will experience this Volume XIV and also the complementary Volume XIII as indispensable sources of insight reference and inspiration Social Dialogue and Poverty Reduction Strategies International Labour Office, 2006 International NGOs and Poverty Reduction Strategies Pamela Sparr, 2013 This scoping study has two principle objectives It provides a summary of current poverty reduction strategies of US and UK based international non governmental organizations INGOs with a special emphasis on the underlying frameworks that form the basis of their development interventions Secondly the study identifies the applicability of an asset accumulation framework to prevailing programmatic and advocacy strategies for poverty reduction employed by INGOs After an initial desk review of background materials a sample group of 21 INGOs was finalized based on seven selection criteria These relate both to the substantive focus of each organization as well as to institutional factors and were developed in order to achieve the greatest diversity possible in the sample The criteria were mission focus stated or known analytical approaches to poverty termed poverty frameworks in this paper relationship to the field length of time in operation size of revenues primary funding sources and organizational structure A questionnaire was developed for use in the final research phase in which 34 staff from 7 UK based and 14 U S based INGOs were interviewed The study assesses five possible determinants of INGO poverty approaches The first determinant is history both organizational and the broader historical forces at work in the world Interviews suggest that history is perhaps a stronger factor in shaping an organization's poverty strategy than mission which appears to have only a partial connection with strategy Current development theory seems to have a tenuous and weak impact on the strategic framework This intellectual determinant expresses itself more effectively indirectly through funders interests which had a definite impact on poverty reduction strategy Not surprisingly the research found that funding sources were influential particularly the US government and foundations Organizational structure the last determinant investigated seems to have an unclear and complicated relationship to INGO poverty frameworks and strategies

Non-governmental Organizations and Rural Poverty Alleviation Roger Riddell, Mark Robinson, 1995 There has been considerable interest in recent years in the ability of non governmental organisations to work with the rural poor in developing countries in order to improve their quality of life and economic status through the provision of credit skills training and other inputs for income generation programmes This book brings together the results of 16 evaluations in 4 countries Bangladesh India Uganda and Zimbabwe to provide a detailed assessment of the contribution that NGOs make to rural poverty alleviation The results indicate that NGO projects are successful when they build in a high degree of participation when the staff are committed to the goals of the project and when they are managed by strong and competent leaders Many of the projects studied contributed to increases in income and welfare However not all projects were successful contrary to received wisdom about the efficacy of NGO interventions many failed to reach the very poorest most were costly to implement and few of the projects demonstrated an ability to continue once external funding was withdrawn These findings provide strong support for viewing NGOs as a mechanism for helping to reduce rural poverty but also demonstrate that many of the interventions are isolated or one off The impact of NGOs could be heightened by increasing the size of the intervention encouraging greater cooperation among NGOs and by fostering closer cooperation with governments This study will make an impact in the development community and its conclusions will help shape NGO and poverty agendas in the coming years The book will appeal to all those concerned with rural development NGOs and development programmes Government-NGO Cooperation for Poverty Alleviation, 2000 Bangladesh country papers and report of the CIRDAP ESCAP National Workshop on Government NGO Cooperation for Poverty Alleviation Capability Building to Alleviate Rural Poverty under Economic Adjustments held at Dhaka Bangladesh 16 Sept 1997 Decentralised Government and NGOs D. Rajasekhar, 1999

International NGOs and Poverty Reduction Strategies Pamela Sparr, Caroline O. N. Moser, 2007 This scoping study has two principle objectives It provides a summary of current poverty reduction strategies of US and UK based international non governmental organizations INGOs with a special emphasis on the underlying frameworks that form the basis of their development interventions Secondly the study identifies the applicability of an asset accumulation framework to prevailing programmatic and advocacy strategies for poverty reduction employed by INGOs After an initial desk review of background materials a sample group of 21 INGOs was finalized based on seven selection criteria These relate both to the substantive focus of each organization as well as to institutional factors and were developed in order to achieve the greatest diversity possible in the sample The criteria were mission focus stated or known analytical approaches to poverty termed poverty frameworks in this paper relationship to the field length of time in operation size of revenues primary funding sources and organizational structure A questionnaire was developed for use in the final research phase in which 34 staff from 7 UK based and 14 US based INGOs were interviewed NGOs and Development, Alleviating Rural Poverty in Bangladesh A. K. M. Ahsan Ullah, Jayant K. Routray, 2003 Here to Help: NGOs Combating Poverty in Latin America Robyn Eversole, 2016-07-08 Over six billion dollars in developmental assistance is funneled annually through non governmental organizations NGOs yet little is understood about the nature of their relationship with communities and the real impact of their work This book examines what role NGOs really play in fighting poverty in Latin America Expert NGO professionals and scholars explore grass roots relationships between international religious and secular NGOs and poor communities They probe the power structures cultural assumptions dangers and possibilities that underlie NGOs work While fighting poverty is the mission of many NGOs most are aware that they often fail to make things better and in fact may make things worse By providing a forum for Northern and Southern NGOs donors scholars and poor people themselves this book explores the causes and cures of poverty and presses at the boundaries of our understanding of participatory development It identifies both internal and external factors that influence the success of NGO projects and moves beyond standard best practice theory to probe more deeply the relationships that underlie poverty and how these relationships can be shifted to achieve solutions

Government-NGO Relations in Asia Noeleen Heyzer, 1996-01-12 Governments and NGOs non governmental organizations in Asia face critical development challenges This volume examines ways to improve the policy environment for NGOs in Asia so that they may contribute more effectively to the development process The contributors identify the main factors which influence the policy environment for NGOs characterize and compare the political space for NGOs examine the roles that governments and international development agencies can play in supporting NGOs and propose possible strategies and policy guidelines for improving government NGO relations in Asia CSO/NGO Engagement in Poverty Reduction Strategy Processes in Asia, 2006 The Challenges of Nongovernmental Organisations in Anglophone Cameroon Lotsmart N. Fonjong, 2007 It is widely recognised that non governmental organisations NGOs have undertaken an increasingly important role in both human development and environmental conservation efforts in the less developed nations during the past three decades Much of the literature on NGOs focuses on or is sponsored by large Western based international NGOs which themselves undertake or direct many of the development and conservation efforts This book cuts through sensitive subjects including government corruption and manipulation the misuse of NGOs and the limitations of small under funded local development organisations to identify the crucial role of local NGOs in the challenging context of rural development in Sub Saharan African His observations and insights are highly useful and provide important contextual understanding for future human development and environment conservation projects in rural African settings Responses of Civil Society to Government Poverty Alleviation Programmes A. J. Adeyemo,2001 Non-governmental Organizations (NGOs) and Sustainable Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Robert A. Dible,2008-01-01 Written to provide guidance for civil society organizations and their client groups this book examines the role of NGOs in the development processes on the African continent It raises questions about the influence of funding agencies over the NGOs they support and explores the challenges NGOs face The book argues that increased knowledge and cooperation on all parts is essential to achieve sustainable development This book also concludes that sustainable development activities are not beneficial to every community in Africa Taking into consideration globalization and studies of sub Saharan countries this book concludes that new models of leadership are necessary for the success of Africa and NGOs are a vital part of achieving that development

Comparative Development of India & China Neena Sondhi,Ramakrushna Panigrahi,Miao Pang,Rajashri Chatterjee,2020-12-01 The prodigious economic growth of India and China over the last three decades has ensured their rightful prominence in the global economic order The two players opened up their respective economies to liberalization and market regulations which led to a tectonic shift from agriculture based economies to manufacturing and service based economies In this context Comparative Development of India and China offers contemporary research on economic technological sectoral and sociocultural issues by highlighting the opportunities as well as vulnerabilities in the development of the two fastest growing nations in the world It unveils the similarities of thought and practices and explores the plethora of possibilities for collaborative effort that may serve to contribute to the prosperity and progress of both the countries The perspectives presented by various Indian and Chinese scholars in this edited volume provide varied outlooks and insights on these two nations albeit within a single thematic framework Reluctant Partners? Non-Governmental Organizations, the State and Sustainable Agricultural Development Anthony Bebbington,John Farrington,David J. Lewis,Kate Wellard,2005-07-15 Combines comprehensive empirical insights into NGOs work in agriculture with wider considerations of their relations with the State and their contribution to democratic pluralism in Africa Asia and Latin America

Non-Governmental Organizations and Development David Lewis,Nazneen Kanji,2009-09-10 Non governmental organizations NGOs are high profile actors in the field of international development both as providers of services to vulnerable individuals and communities and as campaigning policy advocates This book provides a critical introduction to the wide ranging topic of NGOs and development Written by two authors with more than twenty years experience of research and practice in the field the book combines a critical overview of the main research literature with a set of up to date theoretical and practical insights drawn from experience in Asia Europe Africa and elsewhere It highlights the importance of NGOs in development but it also engages fully with the criticisms that the increased profile of NGOs in development now attracts Non Governmental Organizations and Development begins with a discussion of the wide diversity of NGOs and their roles and locates their recent rise to prominence within broader histories of struggle as well as within the ideological context of neo liberalism It then moves on to analyze how interest in NGOs has both reflected and informed wider theoretical trends and debates within development studies before analyzing NGOs and their practices using a broad range of short case studies of successful and unsuccessful interventions David Lewis and Nazneen Kanji then moves on to describe the ways in which NGOs are increasingly important in relation to ideas and debates about civil society globalization and the changing ideas and practices of international aid The book argues that NGOs are now central to development theory and practice and are likely to remain important actors in development in the years to come In order to appreciate the issues raised by their increasing diversity and complexity the authors conclude that it is necessary to deploy a historically and theoretically informed perspective This critical overview will be useful to students of development studies at undergraduate and masters levels as well as to more general readers and practitioners The format of the book includes figures photographs and case studies as well as reader material in the form of summary points and questions Despite the growing importance of the topic no single short up to date book exists that sets out the main issues in the form of a clearly written academically informed text until now

Foreign Aid for Indian NGOs Pushpa Sundar, 2020-11-29 This book explores what difference development aid has made to the size complexity style of functioning values and future direction of the NGO sector in India It does this first by giving a comprehensive documentation of the experience of Indian NGOs with foreign aid since Independence Simultaneously it also analyses in a broad historical perspective some of the issues which are the subject of contemporary debate regarding the voluntary sector and aid such as who decides what is development and how it should be brought about whether foreign donors have hidden agendas and if their aid amounts to cultural imperialism and whether aid has made NGOs more self reliant The book also looks at the tripartite relationship between NGOs donors and governments examining for instance whether the government is justified in imposing restrictions on receipt of funds by NGOs on the grounds that terrorist activities and religiously motivated communal strife are often financed with funds from abroad with NGOs being used as fronts for both
