Regional Economic Integration:

Regional Economic Integration in East Asia Jane Drake-Brockman, Peter Drysdale, 2002 There has been a proliferation of proposals for bilateral free trade areas in East Asia in recent times These initiatives fly in the face of the long standing support of key players in the region such as Japan for the MFN based non discriminatory trading system and the commitment to non discriminatory trade liberalisation and reform within APEC As China establishes its role in the WTO its interests are very much in an open global trading system The paper argues that the core interests of East Asian economies remain in non discriminatory global trading arrangements and prosecuting those interests within the Doha Round of trade negotiations It suggests that a way forward in sorting out the trade distorting and protectionist effects of free trade agreements would be for East Asian economies to take a lead in negotiations on strengthening WTO rules on preferential trade arrangements In terms of global economic welfare the only good preferential arrangement is one that disappears in time The paper makes specific recommendations for re vamping the rule on preferential trade arrangements with that objective in mind P 1 the global trading system Being aware of the complexity and breadth of this topic the author has chosen only three subset economic integration agreements both between the countries of the MENA region intraregional also comprising a subregional agreement and between the MENA region and other regions interregional for closer analysis Concerning the efforts made towards interregional economic integration this thesis concentrates mainly on the so called EU MED Partnership which was initiated at the Barcelona Conference in 1995 and aims to establish an EU Med Free Trade Area EMFTA by the year 2010 including the EU and the 12 so called Mediterranean countries which apart from Malta Cyprus and Turkey all belong to the MENA region In contrast on the intraregional level the latest initiative in 1997 will be examined where 17 out of 22 Arab League member states all of which also belong to the MENA region apart from Sudan joined to constitute a Greater Arab Free Trade Area GAFTA mainly to get rid of traditional trade barriers for goods On the smaller subregional level the Gulf Cooperation Council GCC consisting of 6 Gulf countries which plans the establishment of a common currency by 2010 will be examined more closely With GAFTA GCC and the EU MED Partnership all being in a different depth of integration and each representing one of the three different levels of integration subregional intraregional interregional the author holds the view that this choice reflects the actual state of integration in the region best In a nutshell this study tests the Regionalism and Global Economic Integration William Donald Coleman, Geoffrey R. European Socio-Economic Integration Elias G.

Carayannis, George M. Korres, 2012-12-06 Economic integration is one of the most noteworthy issues in international economic policy at the end of the twentieth century. The recent examples of the European Union (EU) and the North American Free Trade Association (NAFTA) have raised important questions about the economic integration process and the possible establishment of economic unions in other parts of the world. Against the backdrop of the financial crisis in Europe and prospects of increasing integration in Asia, this volume showcases research from an international array of researchers to provide a basic understanding of the current issues, problems, challenges, and opportunities for achieving integration, addressing both empirical and theoretical aspects of such topics as monetary union, social policy reform, and social union, public finance, and technology policy. The chapters in Part 1 are focused primarily on economic issues, while Part 2 covers social policy, the welfare state, and political reforms, with a particular emphasis on the European Union. Among the questions addressed: What are the main determinants and implications for socio-economic integration? How can economic policy influence the growth and integration process? Why is innovation important for regional economic development? What has been the policy response so far, and what lessons have we learned from it? And finally, what are our action lines for the future?

Regional Economic Integration Michele Fratianni, 2006 Section headings in this work are: Theory of Regional Integration; Empirical Studies on Regional Integration; and Integration and Terrorism.

Better Neighbors Chad P. Bown, Daniel Lederman, Samuel Pienknagura, Raymond Robertson, 2017-03-15 This book proposes a renewal of Open Regionalism in Latin America and the Caribbean (LAC) aimed at achieving the region's goals of high growth with stability. The LAC region experienced a growth spurt with equity during the first decade of the 21st Century. It is well understood that an unsustainable demand boom, fueled by terms of trade improvements, drove this growth acceleration episode, especially in South America. Unfortunately, terms of trade are no longer fueling growth, and the region's policymakers are in search of new sources of growth with stability. With the experience of East Asia and the Pacific in mind, many policymakers in LAC are looking to international economic ties as a potential source of stable growth. The challenge highlighted in this book lies in designing an integration agenda comprising trade and factor market integration that is conducive to region-wide efficiency gains, which can help LAC enhance its global competitiveness. The forces of geography imply that pro-growth global integration cannot be achieved without building a strong neighborhood. Thus, this volume argues that LAC's regional economic integration agenda needs to go well beyond the current spaghetti bowl of preferential trading arrangements.

Regional Economic Integration and Agricultural Trade Junichi Goto, 2015 This paper analyzes the economic impact of regional integration on agricultural trade. Using a simple Krugman-type model with tariff distortions, two propositions on the impact of regionalism on trade flows are derived: i) the impact of regional integration is stronger when the degree of pre-integration protection is higher; ii) the impact is stronger when the degree of product differentiation is lower.
