s life and work in terms of tumult of a legend breaking out of the triumph and confusion of 19th century culture while representing it uniquely It is perhaps the story of a saint certainly a hero of art      Beth Henley Julia A. Fesmire,2014-01-21 Beth Henley was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in Drama and the New York Drama Critics Circle Award for Best American Play for her first full length play Crimes of the Heart yet there has been no book length consideration of her body of work until now This volume includes original essays that contextualize and analyze her works from a variety of perspectives focusing on her vexed status as a southern writer her use of the comic grotesque and her alleged feminist critiques of modern society Receiving special attention are lesser known plays which are crucial to understanding Henley s development as a playwright and postmodern thinker      Performing Nostalgia Susan Bennett,2013-11-05 In this trenchant work Susan Bennett examines the authority of the past in modern cultural experience and the parameters for the reproduction of the plays She addresses these issues from both the viewpoints of literary theory and theatre studies shifting Shakespeare out of straightforward performance studies in order to address questions about his plays and to consider them in the context of current theoretical debates on historiography post colonialism and canonicity      David Mamet Janice A. certain awesome impressiveness its sheer intractable bitterness cannot but affect the reader Time The Problem of the Color[blind] Brandi Wilkins Catanese, 2012-10-16 Catanese's beautifully written and cogently argued book addresses one of the most persistent sociopolitical questions in contemporary culture She suggests that it is performance and the difference it makes that complicates the terms by which we can even understand multicultural and colorblind concepts A tremendously illuminating study that promises to break new ground in the fields of theatre and performance studies African American studies feminist theory cultural studies and film and television studies Daphne Brooks Princeton University Adds immeasurably to the ways in which we can understand the contradictory aspects of racial discourse and performance as they have emerged during the last two decades An ambitious smart and fascinating book Jennifer DeVere Brody Duke University Are we a multicultural nation or a colorblind one The Problem of the Color blind examines this vexed question in American culture by focusing on black performance in theater film and television The practice of colorblind casting choosing actors without regard to race assumes a performing body that is somehow race neutral But where exactly is race neutrality located in the eyes of the spectator in the body of the performer in the medium of the performance In analyzing and theorizing such questions Brandi Wilkins Catanese explores a range of engaging and provocative subjects including the infamous debate between playwright August Wilson and drama critic Robert Brustein the film career of Denzel Washington Suzan Lori Parks's play Venus the phenomenon of postblackness as represented in the Studio Museum in Harlem's Freestyle exhibition the performer Ice Cube's transformation from icon of gangsta rap to family movie star and the controversial reality television series Black White Concluding that ideologies of transcendence are ahistorical and therefore unenforceable Catanese advances the concept of racial transgression a process of acknowledging rather than ignoring the racialized histories of performance as her chapters move between readings of dramatic texts films popular culture and debates in critical race theory and the culture wars
