Exhibiting Italian Art in the United States from Futurism to Arte

Povera Raffaele Bedarida, 2022-06-28 This volume explores how Italian institutions dealers critics and artists constructed a modern national identity for Italy by exporting literally and figuratively contemporary art to the United States in key moments between 1929 and 1969 From artist Fortunato Depero opening his Futurist House in New York City to critic Germano Celant launching Arte Povera in the United States Raffaele Bedarida examines the thick web of individuals and cultural environments beyond the two more canonical movements that shaped this project By interrogating standard narratives of Italian Fascist propaganda on the one hand and American Cold War imperialism on the other this book establishes a more nuanced transnational approach The central thesis is that beyond the immediate aims of political propaganda and conquering a new market for Italian art these art exhibitions publications and the critical discourse aimed at American audiences all reflected back on their makers they forced and helped Italians define their own modernity in relation to the world's new dominant cultural and economic power The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history social history exhibition history and Italian studies

Scottish Art since 1960 Craig Richardson, 2017-07-05 Craig Richardson here addresses key areas of cultural politics and identity in a way that not only illuminates the development of Scottish art but teases out another strand of the plurality of developments which led to the success of artists throughout the UK in the 1990s. It is of the highest relevance whether one's perspective is that of the development of the Scottish art, British art or European art of this period. The book adds significantly to our knowledge of the art of this period in a way that will aid not only our historical understanding but our understanding of the dynamics of art practice today. Providing an analysis and including discussion, interviewing artists, curators and critics and accessing non-catalogued personal archives towards a new chronology, Richardson here examines and proposes a sequence of precisely denoted exemplary works which outlines a self-conscious definition of the interrogative term Scottish art. Among the artists whose work is discussed are John Latham, Simon Starling, Alan Johnston, Roderick Buchanan, Glen Onwin, Christine Borland, William Johnstone, Joan Eardley, Alexander Moffat, Douglas Gordon, Alan Smith, Graeme Fagen, Ross Sinclair and many others. The discussion culminates in a critically original demonstration of the scope for further research and practice within the subject, facilitating national cultural debate on the character of Scottish national visual art.

Video Art Historicized Malin Hedlin Hayden, 2016-03-03. Video art emerged as an art form that from the 1960s and onwards challenged the concept of art, hence art historical practices. From the perspective of artists, critics and scholars engaged with this new medium, art was seen as too limiting a notion. Important issues were to re-think art as a means for critical investigations and a demand for visual reconsiderations. Likewise, art history was argued to be in crisis and in need of adapting its theories and methods in order to produce interpretations and thereby establish historical sense for moving images as fine art. Yet as this book argues, video art history has evolved into a discourse clinging to traditional concepts, ideologies and narrative structures manifested in an increasing body of texts. Video Art Historicized provides a novel, insightful and also challenging re-interpretation of this field by examining the discourse and its own premises. It takes a firm conceptual approach to the material, examining the conceptual, theoretical and methodological implications that are simultaneously contested by both artists and authors yet intertwined in both the legitimizing and the historicizing processes of video as art. By engaging art history's most debated concepts, canon, art and history, this study provides an in-depth investigation of the mechanisms of the historiography of video art. Scrutinizing various narratives on video art, the book emphasizes the profound and widespread hesitations towards but also the efforts to negotiate traditional concepts and practices. By focusing on the politics of this discourse, theoretical issues of gender, nationality and particular themes in video art, Malin Hedlin Hayden contests the presumptions that inform video art and its history.

Performative monuments Mechtild Widrich, 2024-07-30 This book answers one of the most puzzling questions in contemporary art how did performance artists of the 60s and 70s famous for their opposition both to lasting art and the political establishment become the foremost monument builders of the 80s 90s and today Not by selling out nor by making self undermining monuments This book argues that the centrality of performance to monuments and indeed public art in general rests not on its ephemerality or anti authoritarian rhetoric but on its power to build interpersonal bonds both personal and social Specifically the survival of body art in photographs that cross time and space to meet new audiences makes it literally into a monument The argument of the book spans art in Austria the former Yugoslavia and Germany Valie Export Peter Weibel and the Viennese Actionists working in Austria and abroad Marina Abramovic Sanja Ivekovic and Braco Dimitrijevic working in Yugoslavia and abroad and Joseph Beuys and Jochen Gerz working in Germany and abroad These artists began by critiquing monumentality in authoritarian public space and expanded the models developed on the streets of Vienna Munich Rome Belgrade and Zagreb to participatory monuments that delegate political authority to the audience Readers interested in contemporary art politics photography and performance will find in this book new facts and arguments for their interconnection
