Authentic English Language Arts Curriculum Arthur T. Costigan, 2018-09-06 This book provides ways of thinking for preservice and new teachers to transition from the theory behind curricular design to engaged teaching and learning in the classroom It offers a comprehensive framework for the creation and implementation of one s own authentic and effective ELA curriculum In addition to strategies for preservice teachers to develop their own pedagogies lessons and teaching techniques Costigan also demonstrates how to design tools for teaching in the current testing and standards driven context of the educational reform movement Containing real life examples of reading and writing instruction this book empowers preservice teachers to translate the concepts of curriculum design to actual ELA classroom practices that will engage students Reading Researchers in Search of Common Ground Rona F. Flippo, 2012-03-22 In Reading Researchers in Search of Common Ground Second Edition Rona F. Flippo revisits her groundbreaking Expert Study in which she set out to find common ground among experts in the much fragmented field of reading research. The original edition featuring contributions from participants in the Expert Study, commentary from additional distinguished literacy scholars with specialized experiences and vantage points from which to view it, and recommendations for use of its findings was published in 2001 and has become a classic in the field. The Expert Study's findings and discussions related to it remain provocative, viable, and highly relevant. Taking a fresh look at it and its current implications for literacy education and common ground in light of the newest thinking and research of today, the Second Edition includes four new chapters from leaders in the field who discuss the Study from their unique vantage points: literacy trends, emergent writing development, a comprehensive literacy curriculum, and a comparative analysis of the study's findings and recommendations. It is a must-read resource for the entire literacy community: researchers, teacher educators, graduate students, administrators, practitioners, and policymakers.

Teaching for Success Brad Olsen, 2016-02-26 Teaching For Success is a comprehensive guide for navigating the process of becoming an effective teacher in the wake of contemporary and systemic challenges. Focusing on the core concept of teacher identity in clear, invigorating prose, the book illuminates how teachers can arrange, adjust, and assemble their own personal and professional teaching influences in conjunction with educational research into a coherent, unique, and successful whole. Olsen's attention to classroom practice, social justice issues, personal satisfaction, and teacher success stories offers a sharp and useful guide for teacher development. This revised second edition has been updated and includes a new chapter that guides both new and experienced teachers through emerging, thorny issues in educational policy and practice, including high stakes testing, blended learning, the demands of networking, and the Common Core State Standards. English Journal, 2004

Hospitality and Authoring Richard Haswell, Janis Haswell, 2015-06-11 Hospitality and Authoring is a sequel to the Haswells 2010 volume Authoring, which attempts to open the path for hospitality practice in the classroom, making a strong argument for educational use and offering an initial map of the territory for teachers and authors. Hospitality is a social and ethical relationship, not only between host and guest but also between writer and reader or teacher and student. Hospitality initiates, maintains, and completes acts of authoring. This extended essay explores the ways that a true hospitable classroom community can be transformed through assigned reading, one-on-one conferencing, interpretation, syllabus, reading journals, topic choice, literacy narrative, writing centers, program administration, teacher training, and many other passing habitations. Hospitality and Authoring strives to offer a few possibilities of change to help make college an institution where singular students and singular teachers create a room to learn with room to learn. Literacy Instruction for Adolescents Karen D. Wood, William E. Blanton, 2009-03-12 Thorough and accessible, this professional resource and text shows how the latest research in adolescent literacy can be translated into effective practice in middle and high school classrooms. Leading authorities discuss findings on the adolescent learner addressing such essential topics as comprehension content area literacy differentiated instruction gender differences in literacy learning and English language learners With a focus on evidence based methods coverage ranges from techniques for building digital literacy and comprehension skills to strategies for flexible grouping and writing instruction Ideal for courses in adolescent literacy each chapter includes guiding questions discussion questions and classroom examples

Purposeful Writing Rebecca Bowers Sipe, Tracy Rosewarne, 2006 Explores how purposeful writing instruction can be used in the high school classroom to help students build the writing skills needed to succeed in college and the business world

Reframing Discussions Michael B. Sherry, 2010 Recitations and discussions are two types of interactions which have long been of interest to researchers who study classroom discourse in secondary English and Social Studies According to research teachers control the discourse during recitations through inauthentic questions requiring pre specified answers In contrast discussions involve shared control and include authentic questions allowing multiple interpretations This research has described recitations and discussions as opposites Moreover recitations and discussions have primarily been distinguished by who speaks and how many answers are possible In defining these interactions in terms of stable categories and a multiplicity of voices and interpretations little attention has been paid to dynamic relationships created through discourse during these interactions If recitations appear to be so persistent how might they be reframed as discussions through negotiation of the roles relationships and responses that are possible and appropriate in an interaction If discussions involve not only expressing multiple opinions but also engaging with texts and responding to others perspectives how do speakers relate their experiences to the topic and build on others contributions My dissertation addressed discussions in terms of dynamic discursive relationships through sociolinguistic discourse analysis of field notes class transcripts written reflections and interviews on 28 lessons over one year in an urban 10th grade English class a suburban 9th grade Social Studies class and a rural 12th grade Composition class Based on this research I make the following claims Recitations and discussions are not stable discourse patterns determined by individual speakers or individual turns in conversation In contrast with prior English and Social Studies education research the teacher s intended purpose did not necessarily determine the nature of the interaction and inauthentic authentic questions were not necessarily indicators of recitations discussions Rather the discourse seemed to depend on how the interactional frame could be re negotiated among teacher and students Recitations were reframed as discussions by relating students to the topic through animation and by relating different opinions to each other via double voicing Animation that cast students as figures in a historical literary event reframed recitations as discussions by describing the topic as one with which students could identify This finding adds to English and Social Studies education research on how envisionment of story worlds can increase students comprehension engagement and on how imagining themselves into events can increase students empathy authority Double voicing students comments reframed recitations as discussions by repeating what others had said in ways that provoked debate This finding adds to English and Social Studies education research on how asking questions about what others have just said can contribute to discussion and on how interpretive questions encourage debate Discussions can depend on the framing of other classroom interactions Activities that preceded and followed discussions in these data shaped the frame for discussions The framing of similar activities among teacher and students during previous classes shaped the frame for discussions Repeated renegotiation of the frame led to emergence of genres or types of discussions The dissertation citations contained here are published with the permission of ProQuest llc Further reproduction is prohibited without permission Copies of dissertations may be obtained by Telephone 800 1 800 521 0600 Web page <http://www.proquest.com/en-US/products/dissertations/individuals.shtml>

Teaching Writing in High School and College Thomas C. Thompson, 2002 Contains fifteen essays in which the authors explore the possibility of partnerships and exchanges between high school and college instructors with the goal of improving the ability of students to succeed at college level writing tasks

Redefining Roles Megan Swihart Jewell, Joseph Cheatle, 2021-07-12 Redefining Roles is the first book to recognize and provide sustained focus on the presence of professional faculty and graduate student consultants in writing centers A significant number of writing centers employ non peer consultants yet most major training manuals are geared toward undergraduate tutoring practices or administrators This collection systematically addresses this gap in the literature while initiating new conversations regarding writing center staffing Thirty two authors consultants and administrators from diverse centers from large public four year institutions to a private online for profit university provide both theoretical frameworks and practical applications in eighteen chapters Ten chapters focus on graduate consultants and address issues of authority training professional development and mentoring and eight focus on professional and faculty consultant training as well as specific issues of identity and authority By sharing these voices Redefining Roles broadens the very idea of writing centers while opening the door to more dialogue on the important role these practitioners play Redefining Roles is designed for writing center practitioners scholars and staff It is also a necessary addition to help campus administrators in the ongoing struggle to validate the intellectually complex work that such staff performs Contributors Fallon N Allison Vicki Behrens Cassie J Brownell Matt Burchanoski Megan Boeshart Burelle Danielle Clapham Steffani Dambruch Elise Dixon Elizabeth Festa Will Fitzsimmons Alex Frissell Alex Funt Genie Giaimo Amanda Gomez Lisa Lamson Miriam E Laufer Kristin Messuri Rebecca Nowacek Kimberly Fahle Peck Mark Pedretti Irina Rupp Arundhati Sanyal Anna Scanlon Matthew Sharkey Smith Kelly A Shea Anne Shiell Anna Sicari Catherine Siemann Meagan Thompson Lisa Nicole Tyson Marcus Weakley Alex Wulff

Mobile Teachers, Teacher Identity and International Schooling Ruth Arber, Jill Blackmore, Athena Vongalis-Macrow, 2015-01-19 Mobile Teachers Teacher Identity and International Schooling focuses on the increased mobility of teachers and curriculum and what it means for the expansion of international schooling In the early 21st century educational institutions have been transformed by technological innovation and global interconnectivity The demographic ideological economic and cultural flows that integrate local and global interconnections have consequences for the ways in which educational policy theories and practice can be understood and take place locally The everyday lives of practitioners parents and students the institutions in which they are educated and work and the sociocultural and ideological contexts in which they work are all consequently changing The manifestation of these changes as evident in the work and lives of teachers within specific cultural contexts and education systems in their implications for educational theory and methodology and their consequences for policy programs practice and research in education are the focus of this book This book explores the mobility of curriculum pedagogies ideas and people that represent and mediate the impact of Global uneven flows and movements through in and for school education and the concepts and practices which frame that transformation The particular focus of the book is on how these flows inform the ways individuals negotiate their identities cultures and languages in different national and educational contexts Education systems and the educational experiences offered by schools are being reconfigured due to multiple pressures What do these moves to mobilise and to work transnationally mean in terms of educational provision possibilities and practice
