

International Day of Peace

What does peace mean?

Peace is a word that holds many different meanings. It is a word that can be used in a lot of different ways. The definition of peace is freedom from disturbance, a time of tranquillity when you are not disturbed by anyone or anything. There are also the definitions of a state or period in which there is no war, or a state of calm.

The United Nations

In 1948, representatives from 51 countries around the world met in two sessions in the United Nations General Assembly after the Second World War had ended. The world was left in a state. There was no longer trust between neighbouring countries and there was no longer any peace. The representatives from each of the 51 countries decided that they must do something to establish peace and so a very important document was agreed. The document was made up of four very important agreements. The agreements were:

- To establish international peace and security
- To develop friendly relations among nations based on respect for equal rights
- To achieve international co-operation in solving international problems
- To be a centre for harmonizing the action of nations in the maintenance of law and justice

Peace

There are two different meanings for the word peace. One is the absence of war or conflict.

The other is a state of calm or tranquillity.

International Day of Peace

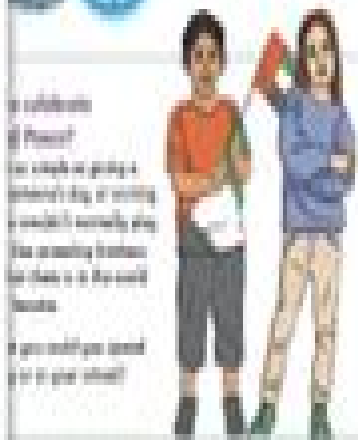

On September 21st, a special day, all countries in the world normally play the sounding of the bell. This is the sound of peace.

Do you think you should play it in your school?

The Responsibility

Resolving issues is an important part of life. One of the ways that we can help to spread peace around the world is by resolving issues. But it is often to solve and we do this in many different ways. Some of these are:

- To talk
- To use violence (war) or force (like a soldier or a police officer)
- To use a system of rules (like a court or a judge)
- To use a system of rules (like a court or a judge)

Do you think you should play it in your school?
