Research and Practice in Multiple Criteria Decision Making Yacov Y. Haimes, Ralph E. Steuer, 2012-12-06 During the past two decades the consideration of multiple objectives in modeling and decision making has grown by leaps and bounds The nineties in particular have seen the emphasis shift from the dominance of single objective modeling and optimization toward an emphasis on multiple objectives The proceedings of this Conference epitomize these evolutionary changes and contribute to the important role that the field of multiple criteria decision making MCDM now plays in planning design operational management and policy decisions Of special interest are the contributions of MCDM to manufacturing engineering For example it has recently been recognized that optimal single objective solutions have often been pursued at the expense of the much broader applicability of designs and solutions that satisfy multiple objectives In particular the theme MCDM and Its Worldwide Role in Risk Based Decision Making of the XIVth International Conference on Multiple Criteria Decision Making Charlottesville Virginia USA June 8 12 1998 represents the growing importance of risk cost benefit analysis in decision making and in engineering design and manufacturing In such systems minimizing the of rare and extreme events emerges as an essential objective that risk complements the minimization of the traditional expected value of risk along with the objectives attached to cost and performance These proceedings include forty five papers that were presented at the Conference A variety of techniques have been proposed for solving multiple criteria decision making problems The emphasis and style of the different techniques largely reflect the fields of expertise of their developers Facilities Change Management Edward Finch,2011-12-16 Modern organisations are subject to continual change technologies evolve organisational structures are modified people and underlying cultures are transformed Yet the facilities that organisations occupy are static and can impede the changes that are essential to organisational survival The response to change in terms of property and support services is often too little too late leading to facilities that do not support organisational reality The facilities management team is thus constantly challenged to bridge the gap between what an organisation has and what it needs Facilities Change Management is a practical evaluation of the management of change for facilities managers and related professions It considers the forces of change affecting facilities decisions the obstacles to change at a resource level and human level the effective implementation of change the human aspect of change Each of these is considered in relation to modern facilities management issues The discussion will enable practising facilities managers project managers surveyors service providers and architects to understand engage with and manage facilities change effectively at a strategic level Through real life case studies it demonstrates the complexities of change and hidden elements of change that may undermine carefully planned projects Biodiversity in Managed Landscapes Robert C. Szaro,David W. Johnston,1996 The conservation of biodiversity has profound implications for managing natural resources with the need for scientific information as a foundation for management decisions increasing dramatically The_ intent of this book is to look beyond the theory of biodiversity to_ the principles practices and policies needed for its conservation Its objectives are to provide the scientific basis for understanding biodiversity document case examples of theory and concepts applied at differing scales and examine policies that affect its conservation Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,2010
