Paul Today Stephen W. Need, 2007-06-28 Paul Today discusses and challenges popular interpretations of familiar Pauline texts in view of important controversies and debates. Who was Paul? What do we know about his relationship to Jesus? What was the role of the city of Ephesus? Can Paul's attitudes towards marriage and slavery be redeemed? And what of Paul's attitude to women and their ministry and to homosexuality? Do we appropriately attribute to Paul ideas about justification and faith Or is there more to know than meets the eye Throughout Need debates and reframes familiar interpretations of Paul through challenge and critique informed by both scholarship and pastoral experience These essays make constructive critical approaches to Paul available to a wider circle of interested readers Practice What You Preach, Preach What You Practice Ronald Barnes,2016-11-30 What does it mean to be religious Religious ethical morality is not just a Sunday set aside or a social protocol to conform to peer group expectations nor should religion be used as a refuge of forgiveness for negative actions that do not change It is important to respect the religion of others even if you do not agree with their teachings However without a basic knowledge of other religions there is no basis for evaluation other than hear say and ignorance which are not rational foundations for evaluation Because the voice of women is diminished by men who devalue the contribution of women or men who attempt to dictate and define what should be the womans role and contribution As a result the world lacks the moral input of women who are considered the moral exemplar for humanity even by many male religious leaders Reformation Readings of Paul Michael Allen,Jonathan A. Linebaugh,2015-09-24 In light of recent interest in whether the Protestant Reformers interpreted Paul correctly this edited volume enables a more careful reading of the Reformers themselves Each chapter pairs a Reformer with a Pauline text and brings together historical theologians and biblical scholars to examine these Reformation era readings of Paul s letters Paul within Judaism Mark D. Nanos,Magnus Zetterholm,2015-01-01 In these chapters a group of renowned international scholars seek to describe Paul and his work from within Judaism rather than on the assumption still current after thirty years of the New Perspective that in practice Paul left behind aspects of Jewish living after his discovery of Jesus as Christ Messiah After an introduction that surveys recent study of Paul and highlights the centrality of questions about Paul s Judaism chapters explore the implications of reading Paul s instructions as aimed at Christ following non Jews teaching them how to live in ways consistent with Judaism while remaining non Jews The contributors take different methodological points of departure historical ideological critical gender critical and empire critical and examine issues of terminology and of interfaith relations Surprising common ground among the contributors presents a coherent alternative to the New Perspective The volume concludes with a critical evaluation of the Paul within Judaism perspective by Terence L Donaldson a well known voice representative of the best insights of the New Perspective Heresy and Identity in Late Antiquity Eduard Iricinschi,Holger M. Zellentin,2008 The papers collected in this volume shift the focus away from heretics and heresy to heresiological discourse by contextualizing the late antique Jewish and Christian groups that produced our extant literature The contributors to the volume draw from multiple literary corpora and genres bringing a variety of late antique perspective to explore the discursive construction of the Other They unravel ethnic identities and re create the multiple voices textured in the dialogue between the orthodox and heretical writers BOOK JACKET History in Practice Ludmilla Jordanova,2019-08-22 Exploring the breadth and complexities of history as a field of study History in Practice demystifies what historians actually do and the tasks they take on This study written by one of the most acute practitioners in the field examines not only the academic discipline but also engages with the use of historical ideas in the wider world The new edition features A new chapter on history in the digital age covering the use of information technology in historical practice Extended coverage of the relationships between history and other disciplines Fresh material on current trends in the practice of history Over 35 new illustrations spread throughout the book drawn from around the world This book is essential reading for all students seeking an understanding of history as a discipline

Paul and Mark Oda Wischmeyer, David C. Sim, Ian J. Elmer, 2014-08-20 The hypothesis that the Gospel of Mark was heavily influenced by Pauline theology and/or epistles was widespread in the nineteenth century but fell out of favour for much of the twentieth century In the last twenty years or so however this view has begun to attract renewed support especially in English language scholarship This major and important collection of essays by an international team of scholars seeks to move the discussion forward in a number of significant ways tracing the history of the hypothesis from the nineteenth century to the modern day searching for historical connections between these two early Christians analysing and comparing the theology and christology of the Pauline epistles and the Gospel of Mark and assessing their reception in later Christian texts This major volume will be welcomed by those who are interested in the possible influence of the apostle to the Gentiles on the earliest Gospel

The Rustle of Paul Scott S. Elliott, 2020-02-20 Scott S Elliott reconsiders the autobiographical statements Paul makes throughout his letters particularly Philippians 3:4b-6 Romans 7:14-25 1 Corinthians 9:19-23 and 2 Corinthians 12:1-10 in light of the theoretical work of Roland Barthes Elliott draws particularly on Barthes' later poststructuralist writings many of which touch either directly or indirectly on self-narration e.g. Roland Barthes by Roland Barthes Mourning Diary Camera Lucida and A Lover's Discourse Fragments These provide fruitful dialogue partners with which Elliott can interrogate and examine Paul's own writings and consider the ways in which Paul saw himself and how the application of this theory can yield a greater understanding of Paul's letters
