

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a classroom. In the foreground, several wooden chairs with dark seats are visible, slightly out of focus. In the background, a round analog clock is mounted on a light-colored wall. The overall lighting is warm and slightly dim, creating a nostalgic atmosphere.

Reinventing Ourselves As Teachers:

Reinventing Ourselves as Teachers Claudia Mitchell, Sandra Weber, 2003-10-04 Designed for use by teachers and teacher educators this text should help both novice and experienced teachers reinterpret their working lives The reader is led on a path of personal exploration that goes beyond standard approaches and leads from the personal to the critical Illustrative material is drawn from all levels from kindergarten to high school to illuminate issues and questions fundamental to teachers lives Film and literary narratives supply further case studies and contribute to the fusion of critical reflection and everyday realities that typically inform teachers experiences of work Reinventing Ourselves as Teachers Claudia Mitchell, 1999

Teaching and Learning Alex Moore, 2012 Teaching and Learning Pedagogy Curriculum and Culture is designed to share important theory with readers in an accessible but sophisticated way It offers an overview of the key issues and dominant theories of teaching and learning as they impact upon the practice of education professionals in the classroom This second edition has been updated to take account of significant changes in the field young people s use of digital technologies the increasing involvement of world of business in state education and ongoing high profile debates about assessment to name but a few It examines the global move from traditional subject and knowledge based curricula towards skills and problem solving and discusses how the emphasis on education for citizenship has forced us to reconsider the social functions of education Central topics also covered include an assessment of the most influential theorists of learning and teaching the ways in which public educational policy impinges on local practice the nature and role of language and culture in formal educational settings an assessment of different models of good teaching alternative models of curriculum and pedagogy With questions points for consideration and ideas for further reading and research throughout this book delivers discussion and analysis designed to support understanding of classroom interactions and to contribute to improved practice It will be essential reading for all student teachers those engaged in professional development and Education Studies students Not Just Any Dress Sandra Weber, Claudia Mitchell, 2004 If dresses could talk what stories might they tell This compelling collection of short stories essays and poems features dress as the structural grounding for autobiographical accounts from women s lives in Western society Often personal in nature these dress stories point unfailingly to matters of social and cultural import Some of the dresses described inhabit the popular imagination the little girl dress the communion dress the school uniform the prom dress the wedding dress the little black dress and the burial dress Beyond the semiotic tactile and visual aspects of the dresses themselves the narratives delve into what dresses reveal about fundamental aspects of human experience identity embodiment relationship and mortality Bought or made then worn forgotten remembered re constructed and re interpreted each dress offers a new glimpse into how we construct meaning in our daily lives and how dresses serve to reinforce or resist social structures and cultural expectations A passion for teaching [electronic resource]

Christopher Day, 2004 This book is a celebration and an acknowledgement of the various forms of intellectual physical emotional and passionate endeavours in which teachers at their best engage Christopher Day demonstrates that teachers with a passion for teaching are those who are committed enthusiastic and intellectually and emotionally energetic in their work with children young people and adults alike Having this passion for helping pupils to learn has recently been identified as one of the four leadership characteristics mentioned in the HayMcBer Report on effective teachers Day recognises that passionate teachers are aware of the challenge of the broader social contexts in which they teach have a clear sense of identity and believe they can make a difference to the learning and achievement of all their pupils Offering a refreshing and positive view A Passion for Teaching is a contribution to understanding and improving the teaching profession and brings new insights to the work and lives of teachers It is written for all teachers teacher educators and student teachers who have a passion for education who love learners the learning life and the teaching life

Schoolteachers in the News Kathryn Shine, Tom O'Donoghue, 2013-02-28

Research examining how schoolteachers have been represented in the news is scarce This is noteworthy given the recognition that the news media has an influential agenda setting function plays a pivotal role in shaping public opinion and can influence educational policy Indeed there is a view amongst some authorities that education policy and news media coverage are irrevocably interconnected Specifically in relation to newspapers research indicates that their coverage can be particularly influential in informing and influencing public debate and policy about a variety of educational issues Research has also been conducted on the reactions of teachers reporting that they perceive news media coverage as important in shaping public opinion and education policy as well as affecting their relationships with families friends and the community Teachers in various countries have also expressed frustration at what they have perceived as a negative focus in coverage Furthermore news media coverage has been seen to play a role to the decline in the status of teaching that has been documented by researchers from many developed countries over the past three decades It has been claimed that contemporary news media coverage has led to greater scrutiny and criticism of the teaching profession than ever before with educators increasingly having to explain and justify their work In addition to the widespread concern about the decline in the status of teaching many countries are experiencing ongoing teacher recruitment and retention problems Despite this very few studies have considered how schoolteachers and teaching as a profession are depicted in the news media Particularly scarce are investigations with a historical dimension This book helps fill the gap by examining the reporting in The West Australian newspaper one of the oldest newspapers in Australia and a daily publication since 1885 It is offered as a contribution towards rectifying the deficit in the corpus of work on how newspapers have depicted teachers and points the way towards one of a number of avenues of research that other scholars in the field could take for various contexts including different countries and time periods The specific aim of the study is to provide a historical analysis of The West Australian newspaper's representation of teachers over two decades To that end it examines the portrayal of teachers in its reporting of five major educational developments in the state of Western Australia that were the subject of sustained coverage at various times between 1987 and 2007 unit curriculum 1987 1989 industrial dispute 1995 standardised testing 1997 2001 teacher shortage 1997 2007 and outcomes based education 2005 2007 Although the study focused on The West Australian newspaper the topics chosen reflect the international trends and universal issues in education Each of the topics in the study is located within the broader context of related developments internationally and especially in the United States the United Kingdom and Australia Three key representations of teachers are identified negative representations sympathetic representations and positive representations The negative representations refer to coverage which is overtly critical of teachers such as reporting which condemns teachers for taking industrial action the sympathetic representations relate to reporting which typically presents teachers as stressed overburdened and powerless and the positive representations show teachers as valued by the community and devoted to their students and work The central argument of the study is that The West Australian s coverage was dominated by both negative and sympathetic representations of schoolteachers while positive representations were relatively rare Overall the coverage presented a less flattering image of teachers than that which emerges from the educational research literature yet it provided a more balanced presentation of teachers than the extremes of hero and villain which tend to dominate popular culture Its portrayal of teachers was generally consistent with that of other news media with a movement towards a more sympathetic treatment in recent reporting reflecting a trend also identified in contemporary British newspaper coverage Although the sympathetic coverage did recognize the challenges faced by teachers it consistently presented teaching as a profession in a negative light Across the coverage there was almost a total absence of voices defending teaching or presenting it as an attractive career option In addition comments of any type from individual teachers were rare Overall the book highlights the need for key media spokespeople in education politicians union representatives bureaucrats and academics to consider carefully the messages they want to send regarding teachers and teaching It also points to implications for journalism education and journalism practice This book should be read by those working in the fields of educational policy journalism education media studies and history of education internationally particularly those working in these fields in the United States Canada the United Kingdom Australia and New Zealand

Developing a Pedagogy of Teacher Education John Loughran, 2013-01-11 A pedagogy of teacher education must go well beyond the simple delivery of information about teaching This book describes and explores the complex nature of teaching and of learning about teaching illustrating how important teacher educators professional knowledge is and how that knowledge must influence teacher training practices The book is divided into two sections The first considers the crucial distinction between teaching student teachers and teaching them about teaching allowing practice to push beyond the technical rational or tips and tricks approach to teaching about teaching in a way that brings in the appropriate attitudes knowledge and skills of teaching itself Section two highlights the dual nature of student teachers learning arguing that they need to concentrate not only on learning what is being taught but also on the way in which that teaching is conducted

Making Connections Kathleen Pithouse, Claudia Mitchell, Relebohile Moletsane, 2009 This book follows on from a symposium that was held in Durban South Africa in July 2007 The symposium was called Seeing for Ourselves Exploring the Practice of Self Study in Teaching Learning and Researching for Social Change The Durban Symposium as called in this book was actually the second in a series of invitational international symposia organized through the second in a series of invitational international symposia organized through the Centre for Visual Methodologies for Social Change in the Faculty of Education University of KwaZulu Natal Committed as it is to the use of visual and other participatory methods within textual research in order to bring about social action the Centre for Visual Methodologies for Social Change started off its symposia series with Putting People in the Picture an event that eventually led to the publication of an edited book Putting People in the Picture Visual Methodologies for Social Change edited by Naydene de Lange Claudia Mitchell Jean Stuart 2007

The Female Teacher on Television Andrew L. Grunzke, Rebecca Z. Grunzke, 2025-06-12 This edited volume examines the ways in which the representation of female teachers on television has developed from the advent of the medium up to the present day Despite the widely feminized nature of the teaching profession the first depictions of female teachers on television did not occur until over a century later Contributors analyze a variety of programs spanning time periods audiences and genre to provide insight into the past present and future trajectory of increasingly multidimensional portrayals of female teachers Scholars of television media gender women s and cultural studies will find this book of particular interest
