Seals And Sealing In The Ancient Near East Vol 6:

Das Archiv des Silwa-Tessup Diana Stein, Gernot Wilhelm, 1993 The Archaeomusicology of the Ancient Near East Richard J. Dumbrill, 2005 This volume is a massive leap forward over any previous synthesis of the subject and includes at the very minimum so much information that its academic and scientific value is self evident The freshness and profundity of Dumbrill s approach to the subject exceeds anything attempted before The mythology of ancient Mesopotamia proves readable as tonal allegory when its numerology is decoded as tuning theory By the third millennium BC both pentatonic and heptatonic tunings were quantified throughout the entire 12 tone gamut Richard Dumbrill has documented the massive empirical experience with strings and pipes that makes this early musicalization of the universe believable The volume consists in 4 parts with foreword by Prof Ernest McClain The first is about the decipherment translation and interpretation of the few theoretical cuneiform texts dating from the Old Babylonian period about 2000 BC to Neo Assyrian up to the mid first millennium BC Dumbrill undertakes comparative analyses and criticism of various interpretations having preceded his own and introduces new material The second part is about the Hurrian hymns the earliest music ever written circa 1400 BC and are produced in their integrality Attempts to the interpretation of Hymn H 6 are compared and followed by Dumbrill s methodology and interpretation Each fragment of the collection is analyzed separately The part concludes with statistical analyses attempting at the reconstruction of some Hurrian rules of composition The third part consists in the organology with relevant philology and is the largest collection of the Mesopotamian instrumentarium The last part is a unique lexicon of all known Mesopotamian terminology with quotation of texts in which the philology appears The book had been previously published under the title of The Musicology and Organology of the Ancient Near East and now appears under its new title

Civilization Charles Keith Maisels,2003-12-16 The Emergence of Civilisation is a major contribution to our understanding of the development of urban culture and social stratification in the Near Eastern region Charles Maisels argues that our present assumptions about state formation based on nineteenth century speculations are wrong His investigation illuminates the changes in scale complexity and hierarchy which accompany the development of civilisation The book draws conclusions about the dynamics of social change and the processes of social evolution in general applying those concepts to the rise of Greece and Rome and to the collapse of the classical Mediterranean world Identifying Biblical Persons in Northwest

The Origins of Midrash: From Teaching to Text Paul D. Mandel, 2017-05-22 In The Origins of Midrash From Teaching to Text Paul Mandel presents a comprehensive study of the words darash and midrash from the Bible until the early rabbinic periods 3rd century CE In contrast to current understandings in which the words are identified with modes of analysis of the biblical text Mandel claims that they refer to instruction in law and not to an interpretation of text Mandel traces the use of these words as they are associated with the scribe sofer the doresh ha torah in the Dead Sea scrolls the exegetes of the laws in the writings of Josephus and the rabbinic sage akham showing the development of the uses of midrash as a form of instruction throughout these periods Money and the Early Greek Mind Richard Seaford, 2004-03-11 How were the Greeks of the sixth century BC able to invent philosophy and tragedy In this book Richard Seaford argues that a large part of the answer can be found in another momentous development the invention and rapid spread of coinage which produced the first ever thoroughly monetised society By transforming social relations monetisation contributed to the ideas of the universe as an impersonal system fundamental to Presocratic philosophy and of the individual alienated from his own kin and from the gods as found in tragedy

Revolution and Evolution in Private Law Sarah Worthington, Andrew Robertson, Graham Virgo, 2018-01-11 The development of private law across the common law world is typically portrayed as a series of incremental steps each one delivered as a result of judges dealing with marginally different factual circumstances presented to them for determination This is said to be the common law method According to this process change might be assumed to be gradual almost imperceptible If this were true however then even Darwinian style evolution which is subject to major change inducing pressures such as the death of the dinosaurs would seem unlikely in the law and radical and revolutionary paradigms shifts

perhaps impossible And yet the history of the common law is to the contrary The legal landscape is littered with quite remarkable revolutionary and evolutionary changes in the shape of the common law The essays in this volume explore some of the highlights in this fascinating revolutionary and evolutionary development of private law The contributors expose the nature of the changes undergone and their significance for the future direction of travel They identify the circumstances and the contexts which might have provided an impetus for these significant changes The essays range across all areas of private law including contract tort unjust enrichment and property No area has been immune from development That fact itself is unsurprising but an extended examination of the particular circumstances and contexts which delivered some of private law s most important developments has its own special significance for what it might indicate about the shape and the shaping of private law regimes in the future
