The book cover features a dark, atmospheric illustration. A large, white satellite dish is positioned in the lower-left foreground, angled towards the right. Above it, a solar panel array is visible, with several long, thin cables or structural elements extending across the upper portion of the cover. The background is a deep black, suggesting outer space, with a subtle gradient of light blue and white near the top, possibly representing a celestial body or a nebula. The overall design is sleek and futuristic.
