Search for Faith and Justice in the Twentieth Century Gene James,1987 Search for Faith and Justice in the Twentieth Century Gene James,1999-03-25 Religion and Social Justice S. Thakur,1996-10-04 This book is a philosophical examination of the relationship between religion and social justice Its main thesis is that since the primary purpose of religion is the moral and spiritual transformation of human nature it ought not to be construed as a direct instrument of social justice on earth as it is by Liberation theologians for example as well as by many liberal Christians and Jews Indirectly however religion may well be a pre condition of social justice For it can be argued that without the counteracting effects of the moral and spiritual values prescribed by religion the liberal vision of individual rights and social justice may be self defeating Humanity is best served if this liberal vision is counterbalanced by the completely contrary utopia enshrined in the biblical idea of the kingdom of God and its equivalents in the other great religions of the world

Hopkins,2007 When Cone wrote Black Theology and Black Power he signaled to the world that the American black faith tradition would no longer recognize the confines of the church walls as the extent of its purview in society Cone liberated the Gospel of Christ from its institutionalized forms unhinging it from oppressive and racist power structures in American society and releasing it to do its work in the public sphere Black Faith and Public Talk continues Cone s theme of power in the public realm and examines the economic political cultural gender and theological implications of black faith and black theology Educating for Faith and Justice Thomas P. Rausch,2010-01-01 Catholic colleges and universities play a crucial role in handing on a rich faith tradition to young adults today As these institutions have become more professional and pluralistic many are asking how effective they are at carrying out the religious mission which is central to their identity Are Catholic colleges and universities significantly different from less expensive state institutions or from other private colleges and universities Are they still committed to the search for truth which is really the search for God Thomas Rausch an eminent educator is a Catholic priest long interested in Catholic theology as a work of the church not just of the academy He insists we must also ask of Catholic higher education today Does it truly form students in the faith that does justice or does it simply speed their passage into successful corporate lifestyles Does it help students come to a personal encounter with the divine mystery revealed in Jesus Keeping these questions before them Rausch and five other contributors to this volume provide wisdom insight and concrete examples of how Catholic higher education can indeed foster faith that

Smith, Katharina Glaab, Claudia Baumgart-Ochse, Elizabeth Smythe, 2019-10-23 Struggles for global justice are being fought by civil society groups across the globe addressing global inequalities challenging neoliberal market driven globalization and demanding to remedy its negative implications This book examines the roles religious communities and organizations in particular play in the struggles for global justice roles too often ignored by scholars of the Global Justice Movement GJM It has two central themes the role religion and religious actors play in global justice struggles and the idea that justice is a contested concept among both religious and secular actors which requires some sort of faith from its proponents These chapters transcend simplistic either/or binaries highlighting the difficulties of clearly distinguishing between religious and secular progressive and conservative or rational and irrational motives and norms in struggles for justice Challenging the secularization paradigm that marginalizes the role religious actors play in public life these chapters show how these actors engage with a broad range of justice issues how deeply contested justice is and how its meaning may vary and change among religious actors as a result of the social or political context within which an injustice is encountered The chapters originally published as a special issue in Globalizations The Cumulative Book Index ,1989 A world list of books in the English language The Religion of the Twentieth Century Joseph McCabe,1899

Literature & Philosophy ,2002 Using literature as a source of challenges to questions in philosophy and law this book explores the inculcation of the legal subject and the relationship between modernism and postmodernism as well as how such concepts might evolve in the construction of community ethics Christian Faith and Social Justice: Five Views Vic McCracken,2014-06-19 The Judeo Christian tradition testifies to a God that cries out demanding that justice roll down like waters righteousness like an ever flowing stream Amos 5 24 Christians agree that being advocates for justice is critical to the Christian witness And yet one need not look widely to see that Christians disagree about what social justice entails What does justice have to do with healthcare reform illegal immigration and same sex marriage Should Christians support tax policies that effectively require wealthy individuals to fund programs that benefit the poor Does justice require that we acknowledge and address the inequalities borne out of histories of gender and ethnic exclusivity Is the Christian vision distinct from non Christian visions of social justice Christians disagree over the proper answer to these questions In short Christians agree that justice is important but disagree about what a commitment to justice means Christian Faith and Social Justice makes sense of the disagreements among Christians over the meaning of justice by bringing together five highly regarded Christian philosophers to introduce and defend rival perspectives on social justice in the Christian tradition While it aspires to offer a lucid introduction to these theories the purpose of this book is more than informative It is purposefully dialogical and is structured so that contributors are able to model for the reader reasoned exchange among philosophers who disagree about the meaning of social justice The hope is that the reader is left with a better understanding of range of perspectives in the Christian tradition about social justice The Twentieth Century Magazine Benjamin Orange Flower,1911 The

Twentieth Century Magazine ,1910 The Twentieth Century ,1924 Faith Communities and the Fight for Racial Justice Robert Wuthnow,2023-11-14 The work for racial justice in the U S in the decades after the high water mark of the Civil Rights movement is a significant yet too often neglected chapter of American religious history a chapter overshadowed to a great extent by the Religious Right which has gotten much more scholarly attention For decades little known faith leaders across the U S did what they could to create fair and affordable housing contribute to community development advocate for affirmative action protest racial profiling and mobilize voter registration Many of these leaders were affiliated with mainstream majority White Protestant denominations Black denominations Roman Catholic groups and Jewish organizations Many of the Protestants were African Methodist Episcopal Baptist Lutheran Methodist Presbyterian or United Church of Christ Some were Brethren Disciples of Christ Mennonites Moravians or Quakers The leaders often formed coalitions of faith based and nonsectarian organizations The focus of Wuthnow's new book will be on local unsung struggles for racial justice happening in response to local events led by local clergy and drawing on local networks This was advocacy work that wasn't covered by national or international news media and the achievements of these struggles were often small rather than sweeping and dramatic These struggles will be covered in a series of thematic chapters one chapter on concerted action by faith groups another chapter on affirmative action and housing a third on efforts to advocate for policy reform and for the end of racial profiling etc Wuthnow will discuss the systematic racism that these racial justice advocates confronted racism that's thoroughly ingrained in institutional structures and that has proven to be impervious to strategies that involve personal approaches to sensitizing hearts and minds to the evils of racism Wuthnow argues that this historical record provides lessons for contemporary racial justice warriors working either within or outside of faith communities Progressive religious groups have been most effective in supporting civil rights efforts when they're focused on very specific tasks e.g. voting rights gerrymandering discrimination in hiring inequality on the job and lack of access to equal opportunity in education and when they organize strategically form coalitions use the right kinds of knowledge and expertise and adapt to new situations
