David B. Capes, 2025-05-20 Students in seminary or graduate theology programs learn that some books in the Bible are anonymous Their professors will make the point that many Pauline letters have disputed authorship and may in fact not be written by Paul Students will also learn about the practice of pseudonymity in the world of the Bible and how some Gospels or letters are written under a false name Now for those who become pastors or church leaders what are they to do with what they learn Do they teach their congregants about these authorship questions Do they ignore that part of their training as irrelevant to the task Do they avoid teaching or reading publicly from disputed books Do these questions not matter in the end because the church settled on the canon This book aims to address these pastoral challenges An international group of scholars from universities seminaries and graduate theology programs convened to discuss these matters at the Lanier Theological Library in May 2022 These essays represent how many faculty are wrestling with the pastoral implications of anonymity and pseudonymity in the New Testament doctrines of the Gospel including the nature of God the roles of scripture and prophecy and the Atonement In this unique volume fictionalized dialogues between the various voices of scripture illustrate how these differences and disagreements are not flaws of the texts but are rather essential features of the canon These creative dialogues include Abraham and Job debating the utility of suffering and our submission to God Alma and Abinidi disagreeing on the place of justice in the Atonement and the authors Mark and Luke discussing the role of women in Jesus s ministry. It is by examining and embracing the different perspectives within the canon that readers are able to discover just how rich and invigorating the scriptures can be The dialogues within this volume show how just as iron sharpeneth iron so can we sharpen our own thoughts and beliefs as we engage not just the various voices in the scriptures but also the various voices within our community Proverbs 27 17
