Managing In The Modular Age Architectures Networks And Organizations:

Managing in the Modular Age Raghu Garud, Arun Kumaraswamy, Richard Langlois, 2009-02-09 This book brings together seminal articles by leading scholars of technological and organizational systems exploring the impact of modularity. Modularity refers to an ability to take apart and put together different products and networks or to mix and match components in order to meet different user specifications. This is of key importance today where new systems such as the World Wide Web and many areas of the computer industry depend on it. The volume pulls together and defines an exciting new area of inquiry into how our modular age is reshaping the business ecosystem. Includes contributions from leading scholars of technology and organization. Modularity refers to an ability to take apart and put together different products and systems or to mix and match components in order to meet different user specifications. Consolidates and defines an area of inquiry that is becoming increasingly important with the development of web based and network industries. Sensitizes readers to the complexity of issues surrounding new modular products and systems created by e business. Encourages readers to make connections among different levels and disciplines. Initiates a debate around issues of modularity. Includes a commentary co-authored by the late Nobel Laureate Herbert A. Simon to whom the book is dedicated.

Managing Military Organisations Joseph Soeters, Paul C. van Fenema, Robert Beeres, 2010-02-02 This book deals with the processes and theories involved in managing military organisations in both peacetime and crisis conditions. Examining the challenges faced by policymakers and military commanders in conducting military operations, this book considers the benefits of conventional management and organisation theory for the military. At the same time, these essays recognise that the military should be considered as a highly individual organisation operating in exceptional circumstances. This awareness of the differences between the military and other organisations generates important lessons not only for the military but also for general organisations as it teaches them how to cope in exceptional hyper conditions These theoretical lessons are illustrated by case studies and experiences from recent military operations such as those in Iraq and Afghanistan This book will be of great interest to students of military studies security studies and organizational studies Joseph Soeters chairs the department of management and organization studies and defence economy at the Netherlands Defense Academy and he is a professor in organizational sociology at Tilburg University Paul C van Fenema is an associate professor of organization studies at the Netherlands Defence Academy and Tilburg University Robert Beeres is an associate professor in the field of defence accounting and control business administration at the Netherlands Defence Academy and at Nyenrode Business School

Information Management Capabilities in Public Safety and Security Fraser Moffatt, Brian Rector, 2024-10-19 This book provides thoughtful and extensively researched perspectives to improve understanding of risks and rewards and to outline strategies for developing and implementing mature information management capabilities focused on core public safety and security outcomes Decision makers in Canadian public safety and security organizations law enforcement fire and paramedic services emergency management and national security from local to national scopes and scales are faced with an onslaught of rapidly changing technologies with uncertain application in an increasingly complex safety and security How do these technologies fit into a strategic information management capability for public safety and security organizations How do these technologies impact other areas of the organization How can we harness these technologies to improve safety and security outcomes for Canadians How would information governance strategy governance and resourcing need to be structured and how would this function in the current operating environment and how would ethics standards privacy and information sharing and protection mechanisms need to be addressed in the face of compliance with legislation regulation or policy This volume makes the case for adopting strategic IM mindsets and practices intended to address a range of persistent IM challenges in public safety and security such as building mature analytics and information sharing capabilities building ethics privacy security and standards into IM governance aligned with public safety and security outcomes The book is intended for senior decision makers in organizations that have responsibilities to delivery on core public safety and security outcomes and rely on information management to do so These decision makers face rapidly changing technologies in an increasingly complex business environment face pressures for talent management and face risk laden practices that impede or constrain the optimal use of information to achieve these outcomes for their organizations

Mass Customization Flavio S. Fogliatto, Giovanni J.C. da Silveira, 2010-11-09 Mass customization MC has been hailed as a successful operations strategy across manufacturing and service industries for the past three decades. However, the wider implications of using MC approaches in the broader industrial and economic environment are not yet clearly understood. Mass Customization Engineering and Managing Global Operations presents emerging research on the role of MC and personalization in today's international operations context. The chapters cover MC in the context of global industrial economics and operations. Moreover, the book discusses MC topics that are relevant to the manufacturing and service sectors such as product platforms, learning curve modeling, additive manufacturing, and service customization. Case studies in manufacturing (e.g., apparel and transportation) and services (e.g., banking and virtual worlds) are also included. Mass Customization Engineering and Managing Global Operations is a valuable text for mass customization researchers and practitioners. Researchers will find a selection of chapters prepared by internationally renowned authors comprising most of their recent research in MC. Engineering professionals will be drawn by the vivid discussion of operational aspects and methods of MC as well as by the selection of cases illustrating their practical application.

The Network Experience Peter H.M. Vervest, Diederik W. van Liere, Li Zheng, 2008-10-14 Digital networking technologies are empowering organizations to form dynamic networks generating exceptional or smart results. These Smart Business Networks (SBNs) enable individual organizations to compete more effectively and to respond better to a changing world. This idea attracted a diverse group of academic scholars and business professionals to Beijing from May 19-23, 2008, hosted by Tsinghua University. They discovered new ways to manage network resources, operate business processes across a network, create a business operations platform, understand the importance of network position, and the smart mastering of technology. Effective managers, they concluded, must have a firm understanding of these fundamental network concepts in order to orchestrate the networks of the future. This book presents the results of an intense and energizing event which resulted in new theoretical foundations and practical insights.

Collaboration in Outsourcing S. Brinkkemper, Slinger Jansen, 2016-01-06 Although IT outsourcing is nothing new, it remains surprisingly challenging for professionals. This book assists the IT professional in several areas of the outsourcing process: establishing outsourcing relationships, maintaining and managing the relationship, and finally governing outsourcing projects successfully.

Collaborative Leadership and Innovation Elis Carlström, 2022-09-19 Original ideas start in a person's mind, but the environment where they operate is crucial for the capture and development of these ideas. Equally important is the interaction with others in developing and evaluating ideas, as a brilliant idea only influences the world if it is put into use. This book hopes to inspire the team leader, innovation manager, or research group leader. It deals with the delicate balance of managing and controlling intellectual property in a collaborative environment. Insights on how new inventions can be evaluated are offered. Following the whole cycle of innovation from a creative idea to where a product or service can be put on the market, examples illustrate how an innovative environment can be created and maintained. Strategies and solutions based on the science of team development are presented, and leadership models for the different phases of group development are provided. The book will be of interest to researchers academics product developers entrepreneurs and advanced students in the fields of technology and innovation management and entrepreneurship and small business management but also for leadership Between Truth and Power Julie E. Cohen, 2019 This work explores the relationships between legal institutions and political and economic transformation It argues that as law is enlisted to help produce the profound economic and sociotechnical shifts that have accompanied the emergence of the informational economy it is changing in fundamental ways Online Communities and Open Innovation Linus Dahlander, Lars Frederiksen, Francesco Rullani, 2014-07-16 The advent of Internet marked a significant change in how users and customers can be involved in the innovative process History is rife with examples of how users innovate but Internet and its associated communication technologies brought radically new means for individuals to interact rapidly and at little cost in communities that spur new innovations These communities are initiated and governed by people that differ in their motivations for taking part and participate to varying degrees Such communities are outside the immediate control of companies seeking to develop open innovation strategies aimed at harnessing their work This book brings together distinguished scholars from different disciplines economics organization theory innovation studies and marketing in order to provide an improved understanding of how technological as well as symbolic value is created and appropriated at the intersection between online communities and firms Empirical examples are presented from different industries including software services and manufacturing The book offers food for thought for academics and managers to an important phenomenon that challenges many conventional wisdoms for how business can be done This book was published as a special issue of Industry and Innovation Flexibility and Stability in the Innovating Economy Maureen McKelvey, Magnus Holmen, 2006-04-27 Interactions between business technological public policy and organization processes are changing the way modern economies work In this book the concept of change is problematized in terms of flexibility and stability across these processes examining the central issues of industrial dynamics structural change and transformation It adopts a perspective of the economy that sees it as an inherently dynamic and complex system consisting of diverse components and activities which interact and change in different ways over time This means placing an emphasis not only on economic transformation but also on the diverse actors in this transformation who are deciding doing and acting in ways which affect the outcomes of this change Chapters are grouped within three themes which readers will find are core to the fields of innovation studies industrial dynamics and evolutionary economics Experimenting and Inertia Evolution and Adaptation of Structure and Innovating and Technological Transformation Platform Strategy for Global Markets Hirofumi Tatsumoto, 2021-02-08 This book explains the strategic behaviors of platform firms on the global market drawing on extensive research on the mobile communication systems semiconductor equipment personal computer and automobile electronics industries The book focuses on Ericsson Applied Materials Intel and Bosch as representative global platform companies The book s introductory section reports on the rise of platform business and addresses the theoretical basis of their competitive edge based on a review of prior studies on the network effect of open standards and the economic theory of strategic behavior The platform business obviously secures a competitive advantage on the global market Yet this theory alone does not provide sufficient explanation for why the platform business achieves competitiveness on the market The book proposes a theoretical framework and provides rigorous supporting evidence by using case studies and empirical analysis on the global business of platform firms This evidence reflects the variety of global ecosystems the mobile communications system in China the semiconductor equipment industry in East Asia personal computers in Taiwan and automobile electronics in China In conclusion the book reviews these studies and identifies the key factors of platform strategy on the global market Given its breadth of coverage the book will benefit all academic researchers and undergraduate students in management and economics with an interest in global competition and collaboration in the open economy

Procuring Complex Performance Nigel Caldwell, Mickey Howard, 2010-09-13 This book examines the management of Procuring Complex Performance PCP in large scale programmes that includes the downstream support phase in sectors such as construction healthcare transport aerospace marine and defence It brings together a series of edited chapters to explain why the traditional combination of linear project management and highly detailed contracts are now unsuited to the dynamics of emerging customer requirements based on performance and outcome Working with leading business professors across the UK and Europe Caldwell and Howard present the case for why large scale programmes of world class organizations often represent a shifting frontier between the boundaries of public private provision and silos of operations expertise Adopting a procurement perspective the authors explain how complex performance means not just coping with the dynamics of buyer supplier relationships but incorporates the shift from production orientation towards availability of bundled services such as maintenance and upgrade delivered over extended often multi decade timeframes The strength of PCP is its empirical case based support for new business models based on through life management availability contracting and service support which challenge simplistic notions of dyadic hierarchical relationships and transfer of risk to the supply base This unique publication is essential reading for scholars and practitioners seeking to understand the context of innovation and supply as a coordinated and integrated approach to managing and procuring complex performance

Collisions and Collaboration Max Boisot, Markus Nordberg, Saïd Yami, Bertrand Nicquevert, 2011-07-28 After twenty five years of preparation the Large Hadron Collider at CERN Geneva is finally running its intensive scientific experiments into high energy particle physics These experiments which have so captured the public s imagination take the world of physics to a new energy level the terascale at which elementary particles are accelerated to one millionth of a percent of the speed of light and made to smash into each other with a combined energy of around fourteen trillion electron volts What new world opens up at the terascale No one really knows but the confident expectation is that radically new phenomena will come into view The kind of big science being pursued at CERN however is becoming ever more uncertain and costly Do the anticipated benefits justify the efforts and the costs This book aims to give a broad organizational and strategic understanding of the nature of big science by analyzing one of the major experiments that uses the Large Hadron Collider the ATLAS Collaboration It examines such issues as the flow of interlaced knowledge between specialist teams the intra and inter organizational dynamics of big science the new knowledge capital being created for the workings of the experiment by individual researchers suppliers and e science and ICTs the leadership implications of a collaboration of nearly three thousand members and the benefits for the wider societal setting This book aims to examine how in the face of high levels of uncertainty and risk ambitious scientific aims can be achieved by complex organizational networks characterized by cultural diversity informality and trust and where big science can head next Perspectives on Commercializing Innovation F. Scott Kieff,Troy A. Paredes,2011-11-21

Intellectual property is a vital part of the global economy accounting for about half of the GDP in countries like the United States Innovation competition economic growth and jobs can all be helped or hurt by different approaches to this key asset class where seemingly slight changes in the rules of the game can have remarkable impact This book brings together diverse perspectives from the fields of law economics business and political science to explore the ways varying approaches to intellectual property can positively and negatively impact our economy and society Employing approaches that are both theoretically rigorous and grounded in the real world Perspectives on Commercializing Innovation is well suited for practising lawyers managers lawmakers and analysts as well as academics conducting research or teaching in a range of courses in law schools business schools and economics departments at either the undergraduate or graduate level
