Symbolic Power in the World Trade Organization Matthew Eagleton-Pierce, 2013 Questions of power are central to understanding global trade politics and no account of the World Trade Organization WTO can afford to avoid at least an acknowledgment of the concept A closer examination of power can help us to explain why the structures and rules of international commerce take their existing forms how the actions of countries are either enabled or disabled and what distributional outcomes are achieved However within conventional accounts there has been a tendency to either view power according to a single reading namely the direct coercive sense or to overlook the concept entirely focusing instead on liberal cooperation and legalization In this book Matthew Eagleton Pierce shows that each of these approaches betray certain limitations which in turn have cut short or worked against more critical appraisals of power in transnational capitalism To expand the intellectual space the book investigates the complex relationship between power and legitimation by drawing upon Pierre Bourdieu's notion of symbolic power. A focus on symbolic power aims to alert scholars to how the construction of certain knowledge claims are fundamental to and entwined within the material struggle for international trade. Empirically, the argument uncovers and plots the recent strategies adopted by Southern countries in their pursuit of a more equitable trading order. By bringing together insights from political economy, sociology and law, Symbolic Power in the WTO not only enlivens and enriches the study of diplomatic practice within a major multilateral institution, it also advances the broader understanding of power in world politics.

International Trade Negotiations and Domestic Politics Oluf Langhelle, 2013-08-29 In spite of many years of negotiation on trade liberalization, progress seems to have stalled. This book explores why resistance to further market liberalization seems so strong, given that the benefits are seen to outweigh the costs. This volume argues that in order to understand the slow progress of World Trade Organization negotiations, we need to take into consideration the intermestic character of trade politics: that is, the way in which international and domestic aspects of politics and policies have been woven together and become inextricably related to each other. This is a general trend in our globalizing world, and one that is most pronounced in the case of trade politics and policy. International Trade Negotiations and Domestic Politics therefore presents an in-depth analysis of institutions, ideas, interests, and actors in the interplay between international trade negotiations and national negotiating positions. At the international level, the authors focus on the multilateral negotiations within the World Trade Organization, together with the plurilateral and bilateral negotiations on free trade agreements. At the regional and domestic level, they analyze the trade politics and policies of two established powers, the European Union and the USA, two rising powers, China and India, and a small industrialized country with an open economy, Norway.

EU Trade Law Rafael Leal-Arcas, 2024-10-03 In this highly topical second edition of EU Trade Law, Rafael Leal-Arcas presents a thorough analysis of EU law and policy in the field of international trade, with an updated focus on sustainability. This updated edition provides a clear overview of the substantive and procedural aspects of EU trade law and policy, balancing problems and solutions using timely case studies.

Globalisation, the State and Regional Australia Amanda Walsh, 2018-05-15 If we are to understand global capital, neoliberalism, and the state in meaningful ways, we must understand them as they operate in and on particular places and people. Amanda Walsh's Globalisation is an inescapable term in the 21st century, but its real meaning is often difficult to pin down. This book sheds new light on the political and economic implications of globalisation by examining the lived experience of a particular region, the Shoalhaven area of New South Wales, where two iconic Australian industries, dairying and manufacturing, struggled to survive in the face of global competition. Drilling down through layers of theory, policy, and politics, Amanda Walsh surveys how globalisation has played out in regional Australia. Using industry case studies, she explores how decisions made at a national level have affected regional communities and considers the role of the state in promoting and mediating globalising forces.

Trade in Goods Petros C. Mavroidis, 2012-07-19 This new edition of Trade in Goods is an authoritative work on international trade by one of the most influential scholars in the field. It provides a comprehensive and detailed analysis of every WTO agreement dealing with trade in goods. The focus of the book is on the reasoning behind the various WTO agreements and their provisions and the manner in which they have been understood in practice. It introduces both the historic as well as the economic rationale for the emergence of the multilateral trading system before dealing with WTO practice in all areas involving trade in goods. It contests the claim that the international trade agreements themselves represent incomplete contracts realized through interpretation by the WTO and other judicial bodies. The book comprehensively analyses the WTO's case law and it argues that a more rigorous theoretical approach is needed to ensure a greater coherence in the interpretation of the core provisions regulating trade in goods. This second edition readdresses and moves beyond the discussion of the GATT presented in the first edition to assess in significant detail every trade in goods agreement at the WTO both multilateral as well as plurilateral. The book is written to be accessible to those new to the field with an authoritative level of detail and analysis that makes it essential reading for lawyers and economists alike.

Redesigning the World Trade Organization for the Twenty-first Century Debra P. Steger, 2010-05-06 Two high level commissions the Sutherland report in 2004 and the Warwick Commission report in 2007 addressed the future of the World Trade Organization and made proposals for incremental reform. This book goes further it explains why institutional reform of the WTO is needed at this critical juncture in world history and provides innovative practical proposals for modernizing the WTO to enable it to respond to the challenges of the twenty first century. Contributors focus on five critical areas: transparency, decision and rule making procedures, internal management structures, participation by non governmental organizations and civil society and relationships with regional trade agreements. Co published with the International Development Research Centre and the Centre for International Governance Innovation.

Contested World Orders Matthew D. Stephen, Michael Zürn, 2019-07-11 World orders are increasingly contested. As international institutions have taken on ever more ambitious tasks they have been challenged by rising powers dissatisfied with existing institutional inequalities by non governmental organizations worried about the direction of global governance and even by some established powers no longer content to lead the institutions they themselves created. For the first time this volume examines these sources of contestation under a common and systematic institutionalist framework. While the authority of institutions has deepened at the same time it has fuelled contestation and resistance. In a series of rigorous and empirically revealing chapters the authors of Contested World Orders examine systematically the demands of key actors in the contestation of international institutions. Ranging in scope from the World Trade Organization and the Nuclear Non proliferation Regime to the Kimberley Process on conflict diamonds and the climate finance provisions of the UNFCCC the chapters deploy a variety of methods to reveal just to what extent and along which lines of conflict rising powers and NGOs contest international institutions. Contested World Orders seeks answers to the key questions of our time. Exactly how deeply are international institutions contested? Which actors seek the most fundamental changes Which aspects of international institutions have generated the most transnational conflicts And what does this mean for the future of world order

Foreign Policy Steve Smith, Amelia Hadfield, Timothy Dunne, 2016 The only introduction to foreign policy to combine theories actors and cases in one volume

Regulatory Autonomy and International Trade in Services Bregt Natens, 2016-07-27 This book considers how the interplay between multilateral and preferential liberalisation of trade in services increasingly raises concerns both from the perspective of the beneficiaries of such liberalisation whose rights are uncertain and that of regulators whose regulatory autonomy is constrained The author shows how these concerns lead to vast underutilisation of and strong prejudices against the benefits of services liberalisation The book meticulously analyses and compares the EU's obligations under the GATS and the services chapters of several RTAs to finally assess the merits of the raised concerns

Law and Development of Middle-Income Countries Randall Peerenboom, Tom Ginsburg, 2014-02-10 In 1960 there were 101 middle income countries By 2008 only thirteen of these had become high income countries Why do so many middle income countries fail to develop after a promising start becoming mired in the so called middle income trap This interdisciplinary volume addresses the special challenges that middle income countries confront from both a theoretical and a practical perspective It is the first volume that addresses law and development issues in middle income countries from the perspective of political administrative and legal institutions and policies The goal is to provide international development agencies and domestic policy makers with feasible recommendations to address the wide range of technically politically and socially complex issues that middle income countries face

Middle Powers in World Trade Diplomacy C. Efstathiopoulos, 2015-03-01 Examining how leading developing countries are increasingly shaping international economic negotiations this book uses the case studies of India and South Africa to demonstrate the ability of states to exert diplomatic influence through different bargaining strategies and represent the interests of the developing world in global governance

Tourism Governance Bill Bramwell, Bernard Lane, 2013-12-16 The role of governance has only recently begun to be researched and discussed in order to better understand tourism policy making and planning and tourism development
