Managing Ethnic Conflict in Africa Donald S. Rothchild, 1997 In this book Donald Rothchild analyzes the successes and failures of attempts at conflict resolution in different African countries and offers comprehensive ideas for successful mediation The book demonstrates how negotiation and mediation can promote conflict resolution along with a political environment that fosters development

The Roots of Ethnic Conflict in Africa Wanjala S. Nasong'o, 2016-01-26 This book focuses on the problem of ethnic conflict in Africa and seeks to explain its root causes The main thesis of the book is that ethnic political mobilization is essentially a function of deeply felt grievances on the part of the groups so mobilized

Subnationalism in Africa Joshua Forrest, 2004 This examination of the politics of ethnicity and nation building in Africa stresses the trend towards subnationalist autonomy and away from a singular state centric system based on the Western model Forrest ranges across the continent to explore a variety of subnational movements

The International Spread of Ethnic Conflict David A. Lake, Donald Rothchild, 2020-10-06 The wave of ethnic conflict that has recently swept across parts of Eastern Europe the former Soviet Union and Africa has led many political observers to fear that these conflicts are contagious Initial outbreaks in such places as Bosnia Chechnya and Rwanda if not contained appear capable of setting off epidemics of catastrophic proportions In this volume David Lake and Donald Rothchild have organized an ambitious sophisticated exploration of both the origins and spread of ethnic conflict one that will be useful to policymakers and theorists alike The editors and contributors argue that ethnic conflict is not caused directly by intergroup differences or centuries old feuds and that the collapse of the Soviet Union did not simply uncork ethnic passions long suppressed They look instead at how anxieties over security competition for resources breakdown in communication with the government and the inability to make enduring commitments lead ethnic groups into conflict and they consider the strategic interactions that underlie ethnic conflict and its effective management How why and when do ethnic conflicts either diffuse by precipitating similar conflicts elsewhere or escalate by bringing in outside parties How can such transnational ethnic conflicts best be managed Following an introduction by the editors which lays a strong theoretical foundation for approaching these questions Timur Kuran Stuart Hill Donald Rothchild Colin Cameron Will H Moore and David R Davis examine the diffusion of ideas across national borders and ethnic alliances Without disputing that conflict can spread James D Fearon Stephen M Saideman Sandra Halperin and Paula Garb argue that ethnic conflict today is primarily a local phenomenon and that it is breaking out in many places simultaneously for similar but largely independent reasons Stephen D Krasner Daniel T Froats Cynthia S Kaplan Edmond J Keller Bruce W Jentleson and I William Zartman focus on the management of transnational ethnic conflicts and emphasize the importance of domestic confidence building measures international intervention and preventive diplomacy

Facing Ethnic Conflicts Andreas Wimmer, 2004 Ethnic conflict is the major form of mass political violence in the world today and it has been since World War II Dramatic acts of terrorism and calculated responses to them may distract the attention of policymakers and the public but ethnic and nationalist conflict continues to pose the greatest challenge to peace and security across the globe Causes of such conflict and ideas about how to address it are hotly debated in the literature that has emerged over the past fifteen years This volume offers a unique overview of research and policy approaches to ethnic conflicts It is the first book to bring together experienced policymakers and key scholars from all disciplines They debate how to best understand the rise and escalation of ethnic conflict assess different strategies for peacemaking mediation and reconciliation and evaluate the prospects for conflict management through institutional design In contrast with a more enthusiastic assessment of the willingness and capacity to successfully intervene in ethnic conflict this volume documents the new realism that has emerged over the past decade It recognizes the complex and protracted nature of such conflicts and demands a multifaceted case by case approach sustained by long term political engagement Published in co operation with the Center for Development Research University of Bonn

Political Culture, Change, and Security

Policy in Nigeria Kalu Kalu, 2018-03-15 Demonstrating how political culture facilitates or distorts political preferences and political outcomes this book explores how the historical development of social conditions and the current social structures shape understandings and constrain individual and collective actions within the Nigerian political system Political Culture Change and Security Policy examines the extent to which specific norms and socialization processes within the political and civic culture abet corruption or the proclivity to engage in corrupt practices and how they help reinforce political attitudes and civic norms that have the potential to undermine the effectiveness of government It also delineates specific doctrinal models and strategic framework essential to the development and implementation of Nigeria's national security policy as well as innovative approaches to national development planning Professor Kalu N Kalu offers an exhaustive study that integrates several quantitative models in addressing a series of theoretical and empirical questions that inform historical and contemporary issues of the Nigerian project The general premise is that it is not enough to simply highlight the problems of the state and address the what question we must also address the why and how questions that drive political change policy preferences and competing political outcomes

Ethnic Conflict and International Politics: Explaining Diffusion and Escalation S. Lobell, P. Mauceri, 2004-01-16 Combining theoretical analyses with case studies this book increases understanding of the internationalization diffusion and escalation of ethnic conflict The essays stand at the nexus of comparative politics and international relations examining the influence on ethnic conflict of the weakening of state institutional structures the role of non state regional and international actors changes in the ethnic balance of power and the degree of economic social and cultural integration within the regional or global system The variety of approaches provides useful analytical tools for students while the diversity of cases from different regions gives the reader a sense of the scope of such problems

Ethnic Politics and State Power in Africa Philip Roessler, 2016-12-15 Why are some African countries trapped in vicious cycles of ethnic exclusion and civil war while others experience relative peace In this groundbreaking book

Philip Roessler addresses this question. Roessler models Africa's weak ethnically divided states as confronting rulers with a coup/civil war trap: sharing power with ethnic rivals is necessary to underwrite societal peace and prevent civil war but increases rivals' capabilities to seize sovereign power in a coup. What how rulers respond to this strategic trade-off is shown to be a function of their country's ethnic geography and the distribution of threat capabilities it produces. Moving between in-depth case studies of Sudan and the Democratic Republic of the Congo based on years of field work and statistical analyses of powersharing coups and civil war across sub-Saharan Africa, the book serves as an exemplar of the benefits of mixed methods research for theory building and testing in comparative politics.

Intra-State Conflict, Governments and Security Stephen M. Saideman, Marie-Joelle J. Zahar, 2008-05-29 This volume seeks to understand the central role of governments in intra-state conflicts. The book explores how the government in any society plays two pivotal roles: as a deterrent against those who would use violence and as a potential danger to the society. These roles come into conflict with each other as those governments that can best deter potential rebels are also those that can do the most harm to their citizens. Therefore, a balance must be achieved, raising difficult trade-offs for policy makers. This volume marks a departure from studies of ethnic conflict and civil war in recent years which have focused on failed states in considering the idea that governments themselves may be the source of violence. The contributors not only explore the balancing act that governments must perform but also on the positive and negative roles that the international community can play in these conflicts. In doing so, the book covers a range of cases from both advanced and newer democracies to the most conflict-prone parts of the world.

Ethiopia and Political Renaissance in Africa Bertus Praeg, 2006 The Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia has made fresh attempts to deal with the intra-state challenges to the nation-state in multi-ethnic societies. This book examines how that country is trying to implement a programme of decentralising state power to ethnically based regional constituencies which could be of interest to other countries in Africa. The study reveals that the Ethiopian Experiment questions conventional images of polyethnic states. This book presents a practical example of the formulation of new approaches towards ethnicity, federalism and objective nation-statehood, attempting to examine the changing meaning of ethnicity and nationalism throughout history in Western Europe to discuss how they impacted on state formations in Africa and to consider why Ethiopia stands unique in the process of state building versus ethnicity. The study elaborates the factors which convinced the new Ethiopian leadership to embark on such a revolutionary path, one on which each of the country's Nations, Nationalities and Peoples is guaranteed the right to self-government, self-determination and even independence, federalism and the transition to democracy.

Ending Civil Wars Stephen John Stedman, Donald S. Rothchild, Elizabeth M. Cousens, 2002 A project of the International Peace Academy and CISAC The Center for International Security and Cooperation P ii

Governance and Internal Wars in Sub-Saharan Africa Abdulahi A. Osman, 2007-03-31 The 1990s have brought unprecedented violence, economic decline and suffering for many African countries. Much of the optimism that greeted the independence decade of the 1960s when Africa was called the continent of the future has turned into failure and disappointment. The increase in these conflicts has been blamed on several variables including colonialism, ethnic diversity, end of the Cold War and economic decline. While many African countries have managed to maintain a modicum of peace, stability and growth, some have clearly failed woefully in this regard. This raises a very fundamental question: How and why did some countries manage to avert internal wars while others did not? The book measures and provides rich details of governance from contextual, structural and policy perspectives. It systematically and uniformly compares two categories of countries: those that experienced internal war and those that did not. Africa and the North Ulf Engel, Gorm Rye Olsen, 2004-11-10. This volume discusses Africa's place in the international system, examining how the Westphalian system in light of the impact of globalization and transnational networks continues to play a major role in the structuring of Africa's international relations.

Crafting Peace Caroline A. Hartzell, Matthew Hoddie, 2009-02-27. The recent efforts to reach a settlement of the enduring and tragic conflict in Darfur demonstrate how important it is to understand what factors contribute most to the success of such efforts. In this book, Caroline Hartzell and Matthew Hoddie review data from all negotiated civil war settlements between 1945 and 1999 in order to identify these factors. What they find is that settlements are more likely to produce an enduring peace if they involve construction of a diversity of power sharing and power dividing arrangements between former adversaries. The strongest negotiated settlements prove to be those in which former rivals agree to share or divide state power across its economic, military, political and territorial dimensions. This finding is a significant addition to the existing literature which tends to focus more on the role that third parties play in mediating and enforcing agreements. Beyond the quantitative analyses, the authors include a chapter comparing contrasting cases of successful and unsuccessful settlements in the Philippines and Angola respectively.

Political Rebellion Ted Robert Gurr, 2015-01-09. This volume comprises key essays by Ted Robert Gurr on the causes and consequences of organized political protest and rebellion, its outcomes and strategies for conflict management. From the Castro inspired revolutionary movements of Latin America in the 1960s to Yugoslavia's dissolution in ethnonational wars of the 1990s and the popular revolts of the Arab Spring, millions of people have risked their lives by participating in protests and rebellions. Based on half a century of theorizing and social science research, this book brings together Gurr's extensive knowledge and addresses the key questions surrounding this subject: What grievances, hopes and hatreds motivated the protesters and rebels? What did they gain that might have offset myriad deaths and devastation? How effective are protest movements as alternatives to rebellions and terrorism? What public and international responses lead away from violence and toward reforms? The essays in the volume are updated and are organized around the evolving themes of the author's research, including theoretical arguments, interpretations and references to the evidence developed in his empirical research and case studies. The concluding essays bring theory and evidence to bear on the past and future of political violence in Africa. This book will be of much interest to students of rebellion.

political violence conflict studies security studies and IR Power, Networks and Violent Conflict in Central Asia Idil Tunçer-Kılavuz, 2014-06-27 When the five Central Asian republics gained independence from the Soviet Union in 1991 expectations of violent conflict were widespread Indeed the country of Tajikistan suffered a five year civil war from 1992 to 1997 The factors that the literature on civil wars in general and on the Tajikistan civil war in particular cites as the causes of war were also present in Uzbekistan but this country had a peaceful transition Examining this empirical puzzle by isolating the crucial factors that caused war to break out in Tajikistan but not Uzbekistan this book applies a powerful comparative approach to the broader question of why civil wars occur Based on fieldwork in both countries it challenges many common explanations of civil war both generally and in Tajikistan in particular This includes highlighting the importance of elites power perceptions which have their origins in the interaction of structural process and network related variables Without examining these interactions macro structural explanations alone cannot explain the occurrence of civil war in one country and its absence in another Applying the insights of bargaining theories of war from the literature on international relations to the civil war in Tajikistan this book will be of interest to students of violent conflict civil wars Central Asia and Asian Politics

Rwanda 1994 Barrie Collins, 2014-08-26 Through a rigorous critique of the dominant narrative of the Rwandan genocide Collins provides an alternative argument to the debate situating the killings within a historically specific context and drawing out a dynamic interplay between national and international actors Political Science in Africa , 2023-12-28 Bringing together African and international scholars this book gives an account of the present state of the discipline of political science in Africa generating insights into its present and future trajectories and assessing the freedom with which it is practiced Tackling subjects including the decolonization of the discipline political scientists as public intellectuals and the teaching of political science this diverse range of perspectives paints a detailed picture of the impact and relevance of the political science discipline on the continent during the struggles for democratization and the influence it continues to exert today Opportunities Missed, Opportunities Seized Bruce W. Jentleson, 1999-11-22 The basic logic of preventive diplomacy is unassailable Act early to prevent disputes from escalating reduce tensions that could lead to war deal with today's conflicts before they become tomorrow's crises Yet as we look at the record of these first years of the post Cold War era it is quite mixed There have been some preventive diplomacy successes and opportunities that have been seized by major powers and international organizations to help preserve and protect the peace But there also have been other opportunities that have been missed with some of the century's most deadly conflicts the result This study examines ten major post Cold War cases including Croatia Bosnia Rwanda the Baltics Russia Ukraine Macedonia and North Korea _to assess the key factors contributing to both the success and failure of preventive diplomacy The method of case study analysis employed is based on the work of Alexander L George Authors include both leading academics and prominent policy officials with first hand knowledge Personalized Politics In-wŏn Hwang, 2003 This book is an innovative analysis of regime maintenance and transformation in Malaysia It goes beyond familiar approaches centred on communal politics or the corporate workings of Malaysia Inc to stress the importance of power maintenance tracing a path from consociational bargaining to authoritarian UMNO dominance to Dr Mahathir s personal dominance The author has synthesized a diverse range of sources and in particular made insightful use of interviews with nearly all the key actors The analysis is up to date including the dramatic challenge to Dr Mahathir s dominance associated with his sacking of deputy Anwar Ibrahim following the Asian economic crisis
