Manchester The Warehouse Legacy:

Manchester: The warehouse legacy Simon Taylor, Malcolm Cooper, P S Barnwell, 2015-04-01 Manchester is known for its cotton mills the Town Hall and its imposing commercial architecture but it is textile warehouses that provide the distinctive element in its streetscape and make it unlike any other town in England These warehouses were only built during the century following 1825 a relatively short time in the history of Manchester and were never found throughout the city However they are intimately connected with Manchester's past position as the centre for the manufacturing and selling of cotton goods within England and to other parts of the world Their monumental scale and sometimes exuberant architectural style dominate the areas of the town in which they are clustered Nowhere else in Britain has there ever been such a concentration of buildings of this kind the streets of the commercial quarter of Manchester are as distinctive as are those of governmental London

The Railway Goods Shed and Warehouse in England John Minnis, 2016-09-15 Although goods traffic accounted in many cases for a higher proportion of railway companies revenue than passengers the buildings associated with it have received very little attention in comparison to their passenger counterparts They once played as important a role in distribution as the big sheds near motorway junctions do today The book shows how the basic design of goods sheds evolved early in the history of railways and how the form of goods sheds reflected the function they performed Although goods sheds largely functioned in the same way there was considerable scope for variety of architectural expression in their external design The book brings out how they varied considerably in size from small timber huts to the massive warehouses seen in major cities It also looks at how many railway companies developed standard designs for these buildings towards the end of the 19th century and at how traditional materials such as timber brick and stone gave way to steel and concrete in the 20th This building type is subject to a high level of threat with development pressure in urban and suburban areas for both car parking and housing having already accounted for the demise of many of these buildings Despite this some 600 have been identified as still extant and the book will for the first time provide a comprehensive gazetteer of the surviving examples

The Built Environment Transformed Geoffrey Timmins, 2021-12-02 This book is concerned with the remarkable changes made to the built environment in Lancashire's main textile district essentially the eastern and central parts of the county during the Industrial Revolution c1780 c1850 A case study approach is taken with findings from investigations at six different types of site being presented The sites included are water powered mill remains in the Cheesden Valley near Rochdale Barrow Bridge factory village near Bolton the former handloom weavers colony at Club Houses Horwich Preston's Winckley Square Eanam Wharf at Blackburn and to the north of Bolton the road between Bromley Cross and Edgworth The case studies show how in rural and urban areas alike developments in industry housing and transport greatly extended the built environment and brought striking new features to it Emphasis is placed on interpreting the physical evidence the sites provide linking it with that taken from various types of documentary source especially historical maps By making comparisons with developments occurring at similar types of site elsewhere in Britain as well as in Europe and North America the forms the changes took are explained and their significance assessed Additionally insights are provided into the economic and social impact the changes brought especially on the everyday lives that people led Cities in the World: 1500-2000: v. 3 Adrian Green,2018-12-13 Papers presented at the Cities in the World conference held at Southampton University and organised through the Society for Post Medieval Archaeology challenged the commonly held perception that cities are about the present and the future not about the past All cities have an innate sense of the past and this volume encompassing as it does Industrial Heritage Re-tooled James Douet,2016-07 This book comprises the authoritative work from the International Committee for the Conservation of the Industrial Heritage detailing the latest approaches to and the best practices for the conservation of the global industrial heritage Manchester at Work Michael Nevell,2018-11-15 A pictorial history of the industrial and working life of the city of Manchester over the last century and more Culture in Manchester Janet Wolff,2015-11-01 This book brings together studies of cultural institutions in Manchester from 1850 to the present day giving an unprecedented account of the city s cultural evolution These bring to light the remarkable range of Manchester s contribution to modern cultural life including the role of art education popular theatre religion pleasure gardens clubs and societies The chapters show the resilience and creativity of Manchester s cultural institutions since 1850 challenging any simple narrative of urban decline following the erosion of Lancashire s industrial base at the same time illustrating the range of activities across the social classes This book will appeal to everyone interested in the cultural life of the city of Manchester including cultural historians sociologists and urban geographers as well as general readers with interests in the city It is written by leading international authorities including Viv Gardner Stephen Milner Mike Savage Bill Williams and Janet Wolff Manchester's Northern Quarter Simon Taylor,Julian Holder,2015-04-01 This book raises awareness of the wide range and the varied character of the historic buildings which make up the Northern Quarter s townscape and the forces and trends which contributed to its appearance It also shows how the area has evolved over the last two and a half centuries forming the historic backdrop to everyday life in a particularly vibrant and culturally distinctive quarter of the city The book will have a broad appeal both to the established urban community and to those with an interest in the city of Manchester and its buildings Constructing Industrial Pasts Stefan Berger,2019-09-01 Since the 1960s nations across the developed world have been profoundly shaped by deindustrialization In regions in which previously dominant industries faced crises or have disappeared altogether industrial heritage offers a fascinating window into the phenomenon s cultural dimensions As the contributions to this volume demonstrate even as forms of industrial heritage provide anchors of identity for local populations their meanings remain deeply contested as both radical and conservative varieties of nostalgia intermingle with critical approaches and straightforward apologies for a past that was often full of pain exploitation and struggle Urban Design and the British Urban Renaissance John Punter,2009-10 An insightful exploration of the strengths weaknesses and implications of New Labour's urban renaissance agenda experts in urban design and planning critically review the development and application of the strategy in Britain's largest cities The Oxford Handbook of Industrial Archaeology Eleanor Casella, Michael Nevell, Hanna Steyne, 2022-05-12 Representing the first substantial English language text on Industrial Archaeology in a decade this handbook comes at a time when the global impact of industrialization is being re-assessed in terms of its legacy of climate change mechanization urbanization the forced migration of peoples and labour relations Critical debates around the beginning of a new geological era The Anthropocene have emerged over the last decade This approach interrogates the widespread exploitation of natural resources that forged industrialization from its early emergence in 18th century northern Europe to its contemporary ubiquity environmental impacts and social legacy within our globalized world Through a broad international and multi-period set of chapters this volume explores the complex origins processes and development of industrialization through both its physical remains and human consequences both the good and the bad It provides a diverse material framework for understanding our modern world from its industrial origins through its future paths in the 21st century The Archaeology of Britain John Hunter, Ian Ralston, 2009-12-16 The Archaeology of Britain is the only concise and up-to-date introduction to the archaeological record of Britain from the reoccupation of the landmass by Homo sapiens during the later stages of the most recent Ice Age until last century This fully revised second edition extends its coverage including greater detail on the first millennium AD beyond the Anglo-Saxon domain and into recent times to look at the archaeological record produced by Britain's central role in two World Wars and the Cold War The chapters are written by experts in their respective fields Each is geared to provide an authoritative but accessible introduction supported by numerous illustrations of key sites and finds and a selective reference list to aid study in greater depth It provides a one-stop textbook for the entire archaeology of Britain and reflects the most recent developments in archaeology both as a field subject and as an academic discipline No other book provides such comprehensive coverage with such a wide chronological range of the archaeology of Britain This collection is essential reading for undergraduates in archaeology and all those interested in British archaeology history and geography Freud's British Family Roger Willoughby, 2024-10-29 Freud's British Family presents ground-breaking research into the lives of the British branch of the Freud family their connections to the founder of psychoanalysis and into Freud's relationship to Britain Documenting the complex relationships the elder Freud brothers had with their much younger brother Sigmund Freud's British Family reveals the significant influence these hitherto largely forgotten Freuds had on the mental economy of the founder of psychoanalysis Roger Willoughby shows how these key family relationships helped shape Freud's thinking attitudes and theorising including emerging ideas on rivalry the Oedipus complex character and art In addition to considering their correspondence and meetings with Freud in continental Europe the book carefully documents Freud's own visits to his brothers and to Britain in 1875 and again in 1908 Freud's British Family concludes with a discussion of Freud's final 15 months in London after he left Nazi Vienna as a refugee Freud's British Family offers a rich contextualised understanding of the sibling familial and socio cultural ties that went into forming the tapestry of psychoanalysis Freud's British Family will be of great interest to psychoanalysts and psychotherapists in practice and in training and to scholars of the history of psychoanalysis twentieth century history psychosocial studies and Jewish studies Industrial Archaeology Eleanor Casella, James Symonds, 2007-01-04 Eleanor Conlin Casella and James Symonds The essays in this book are adapted from papers presented at the 24 Annual Conference of the Theoretical Archaeology Group held at the University of Manchester in December 2002 The conference session An Industrial Revolution Future Directions for Industrial Archaeology was jointly devised by the editors and sponsored by English Heritage with the intention of gathering together leading industrial and historical archaeologists from around the world Speakers were asked to consider aspects of contemporary theory and practice as well as possible future directions for the study of industrialisation and industrial societies It perhaps fitting that this meeting was convened in Manchester which has a rich industrial heritage and has recently been proclaimed as the archetype city of the industrial revolution McNeil and George 2002 However just as Manchester is being transformed by regeneration shaking off many of the negative connotations associated with factory based industrial production and remaking itself as a 21 century city then so too is the archaeological study of industrialisation being transformed In the most recent overview of industrial archaeology in the UK Sir Neil Cossons cautioned that industrial archaeology risked becoming a one generation subject that stood on the edge of oblivion alongside the mid 20 century pursuit of folklife studies Cossons 2000 13 It is to be hoped that the papers in this volume demonstrate that this will not be the case City of Capital and Labour Tom Saunders, 2025-08-15 This compelling book explores the evolution of industrial Manchester offering a fresh perspective on its built environment through the lens of architecture archaeology and social history Richly illustrated and designed for both academic and general audiences it sheds new light on Manchester's transformation during the Industrial Revolution highlighting how the city's physical form shaped and was shaped by its socio economic and cultural dynamics By analysing architectural styles building types land use and spatial relationships the study identifies distinct phases of development from the early eighteenth to early twentieth century It delves into how Manchester's material landscape mediated industrialisation and social tensions reflecting the emergence of both bourgeois and proletarian communities The book argues that the city's evolving physical structure was deeply intertwined with the capitalist logic of class relations where architecture and urban spaces became arenas for competing social identities Through mapping the enduring physical traces of these changes and using a Marxist lens to examine shifting power structures in cities the book underscores Manchester's role as a microcosm of industrial and urban transformation It invites readers to rediscover the city's industrial heritage emphasising the importance of its historic buildings in understanding the socio economic forces that shaped modern urban life before they are irrevocably altered by contemporary redevelopment Manchester's Military Legacy Steven

Dickens,2020-01-31 The establishment of the Roman fort of Mamucium in AD79 is the first known record of any military construction or presence in the area that is now the Castlefield district of the city The Roman auxiliary units posted here used the fort as a garrison located at Mamucium for the purpose of protecting the Roman road from Chester Deva Victrix to York Eboracum The site was previously occupied as a defensive hill fort by the ancient Britons or Brigantes who were native to the area The next epoch of military activity at Manchester occurred in the Civil War and the Siege of Manchester in 1642 Manchesters declaration as a Parliamentary town had far reaching consequences in terms of its military legacy on the voting rights of Mancunians Upon his restoration Charles II removed Manchesters two MPs from Parliament and Manchester was not to receive any political representation until the Reform Act of 1832 The Peterloo Massacre of August 1819 was the scene of a mass rally brought about by a desire to repeal the Corn Laws introduce universal suffrage and reform other repressive legislation The cavalry charge which resulted in the deaths of an estimated eighteen innocent protesters and the wounding of over 500 took place at St Peters Field now Square in the heart of the city Its legacy resulted in the establishment of the Manchester Guardian and the rise of radical freethinking in the city not always welcomed by those in authority Both World Wars have had a profound influence on the city The establishment of the Manchester Regiment is detailed and later the Manchester Pals are recalled through the pages of the local press Heaton Park became their base whilst General Kitchener visited the city in order to boost recruitment Later the Luftwaffes bombing campaign of December 1940 the Manchester Blitz left the city with a legacy that has changed it beyond all recognition into the twenty first century

Politics of Urban Knowledge Bert De Munck,Jens Lachmund,2023-03-23 This book uses politics of urban knowledge as a lens to understand how professionals administrations scholars and social movements have surveyed evaluated and theorized the city identified problems and shaped and legitimized practical interventions in planning and administration Urbanization has been accompanied and partly shaped by the formation of the city as a distinct domain of knowledge This volume uses politics of urban knowledge as a lens to develop a new perspective on urban history and urban planning history Through case studies of mainly 19th and 20th century examples the book demonstrates that urban knowledge is not simply a neutral means to represent cities as pre existing entities but rather the outcome of historically contingent processes and practices of urban actors addressing urban issues and the power relations in which they are embedded It shows how urban knowledge making has reshaped the categories rationales and techniques through which urban spaces were produced governed and contested and how the knowledge concerned became performative of newly emerging urban orders The volume will be of interest to scholars and students in the field of urban history and urban studies as well as the history of technology science and knowledge and of science studies

Manningham Simon Taylor, Kathryn Gibson, 2010 This book raises awareness of the wide range and varied character of the historic landscape and buildings which constitute Manningham and the forces and trends which have contributed to its appearance over time It tells the story through its buildings and landscape of Manningham's development from a thinly populated rural township to a fully developed mostly middle class fashionable 19th century city suburb full of self assurance civic pride and high quality architecture It examines how successfully and in what ways the suburb and its buildings have subsequently continued to function following the decline and disappearance of the traditional industries on which its success was originally based and a substantially changed cultural and demographic profile The publication will appeal to all of those with an interest in Bradford and its buildings In addition by supplementing the research project and literary work with a major outreach and film project the fruits of which help to inform the publication text and are incorporated into the book as a DVD insert the publication will be extremely effective in engaging and developing new audiences amongst the people living and working in Manningham It gives them a voice allowing them to share their memories and put forward their own views and opinions on the district which has become increasingly known to outsiders only for its problems of economic out migration increasing levels of crime and headline making outbreaks of civil unrest The publication also serves as a response to recently growing nation wide development pressure on historic suburbs and this will increase understanding of historical suburban development and modern adaptation and appeal to those with an interest in social urban and industrial history
