Black Writers Interpret the Harlem Renaissance Cary D. Wintz, 2020-11-25 First Published in 1996 One of the most interesting features of the Harlem Renaissance was the degree to which black writers and poets were involved in promoting and analyzing their own literary movement One of its formative events was the 1926 attempt by Wallace Thurman Langston Hughes and other young writers to publish a literary magazine FIRE This was the first of several efforts by black writers to establish literary journals While these efforts failed the magazine Opportunity employed a series of black poets as columnists to analyze and review black literary efforts This volume collects the writings of this important literary journal as well as including many autobiographical and historical sketches      Encyclopedia of British Women's Writing 1900-1950 Ashlie Sponenberg, 2015-12-23 This study provides a comprehensive and wide ranging resource which includes information on many previously neglected British women writers novelists poets dramatists autobiographers and topics It provides contextualizing material with concise introductions to related topics including organizations movements genres and publications      British Women Writers 1914-1945 Catherine Clay, 2017-09-20 Catherine Clay's persuasively argued and rigorously documented study examines women's friendships during the period between the two world wars Building on extensive new archival research the book's organizing principle is a series of literary historical case studies that explore the practices meanings and

Saving the Children Emily Baughan, 2021-11-23 Saving the Children analyzes the intersection of liberal internationalism and imperialism through the history of the humanitarian organization Save the Children from its formation during the First World War through the era of decolonization Whereas Save the Children claimed that it was saving children to save the world the vision of the world it sought to save was strictly delimited characterized by international capitalism and colonial rule Emily Baughan's groundbreaking analysis across fifty years and eighteen countries shows that Britain's desire to create an international order favorable to its imperial rule shaped international humanitarianism In revealing that modern humanitarianism and its conception of childhood are products of the early twentieth century imperial economy Saving the Children argues that the contemporary aid sector must reckon with its past if it is to forge a new future

Joannou, 2016-01-03 Featuring sixteen contributions from recognized authorities in their respective fields this superb new mapping of women's writing ranges from feminine middlebrow novels to Virginia Woolf's modernist aesthetics from women's literary journalism to crime fiction and from West End drama to the literature of Scotland Ireland and Wales

British Decolonisation and the Female Middlebrow Novel Anne Wetherilt, 2025-09-01 British Decolonisation and the Female Middlebrow Novel offers the first detailed discussion of middlebrow fiction by women writers who personally witnessed the dismantling of the British Empire the intensification of the Cold War and the domestic tensions following the arrival of thousands of migrants from Britain's former colonies. Studying selected novels by Cecilie Leslie Elspeth Huxley, Mary McMinnies Han Suyin and Kamala Markandaya, this study demonstrates that women's middlebrow writing reveals a much deeper engagement with the politics and economics of decolonisation than is usually ascribed to the genre. As Anne Wetherill argues, by transcending the politics of domesticity, the female middlebrow registers a critique of both Britain's colonial history and mainstream conceptions of decolonisation as a well-managed transition from empire to commonwealth. As such, the middlebrow novel of the immediate post-war decades takes us back to a place where the end of empire was imagined rather than denied and the ambiguities of British colonial politics exposed rather than repressed.

Interwar Modernism and the Liberal World Order Gabriel Hankins, 2019-08-29. Articulates the interwar modernist response to the crisis of liberal world order after 1919.

Winifred Holtby, "A Woman In Her Time" Lisa Regan, 2009-12-14. Winifred Holtby's A Woman In Her Time Critical Essays brings together for the first time a range of scholarly perspectives on one of Britain's best-loved regional authors. Remembered for her vivid portrayal of 1930s rural Yorkshire in her final novel South Riding (1936) and for her friendship with Vera Brittain, Winifred Holtby (1898-1935) has become a key figure for those interested in British literature, politics and culture between the wars. Epitomising the professional independence and political passion which we have come to associate with the newly emancipated women of her era, Holtby's was a life devoted to myriad causes and directed to the pressing issues of her day. With fresh perspectives on Holtby's better-known novels alongside new critical forays into her short stories, drama, journalism and historical writing, Winifred Holtby: A Woman In Her Time sheds new light on a woman who not only spoke out in support of feminism, peace and racial equality at a time when fascism and war loomed, but who also shared with us her views on a wide spectrum of topical concerns, from Virginia Woolf, D. H. Lawrence, H. G. Wells, psychology, spinsters, mothers and the BBC to her delight in clothes, films and village gossip.

Winifred Holtby's Social Vision Lisa Regan, 2015-10-06. Winifred Holtby (1898-1935) is best known today for her friendship with fellow feminist and pacifist Vera Brittain and for her last novel South Riding. This is the first monograph to provide a literary criticism of Holtby's social philosophy and presents in depth readings of all her major works as well as some of her less well-known writing.
