WHAT IS A MANIFESTO?

It's a public declaration of beliefs, values, and intentions. Manifestos have been used throughout history to spark change and inspire others to take action.

HERE ARE SOME EXAMPLES OF MANIFESTOS:

The Shrewsbury Edition of the Works of Samuel Butler Samuel Butler, 1926 The Shrewsbury Edition of the Works of Samuel Butler: The note-books of Samuel Butler Samuel Butler, 1926 The Onlife Manifesto Luciano Floridi, 2014-11-16 What is the impact of information and communication technologies ICTs on the human condition In order to address this question in 2012 the European Commission organized a research project entitled The Onlife Initiative concept reengineering for rethinking societal concerns in the digital transition This volume collects the work of the Onlife Initiative It explores how the development and widespread use of ICTs have a radical impact on the human condition ICTs are not mere tools but rather social forces that are increasingly affecting our self conception who we are our mutual interactions how we socialise our conception of reality our metaphysics and our interactions with reality our agency In each case ICTs have a huge ethical legal and political significance yet one with which we have begun to come to terms only recently The impact exercised by ICTs is due to at least four major transformations the blurring of the distinction between reality and virtuality the blurring of the distinction between human machine and nature the reversal from information scarcity to information abundance and the shift from the primacy of stand alone things properties and binary relations to the primacy of interactions processes and networks Such transformations are testing the foundations of our conceptual frameworks Our current conceptual toolbox is no longer fitted to address new ICT related challenges This is not only a problem in itself It is also a risk because the lack of a clear understanding of our present time may easily lead to negative projections about the future The goal of The Manifesto and of the whole book that contextualises is therefore that of contributing to the update of our philosophy It is a constructive goal The book is meant to be a positive contribution to rethinking the philosophy on which policies are built in a hyperconnected world so that we may have a better chance of understanding our ICT related problems and solving them satisfactorily The Manifesto launches an open debate on the impacts of ICTs on public spaces politics and societal expectations toward policymaking in the Digital Agenda for Europe s remit More broadly it helps start a reflection on the way in which a hyperconnected world calls for rethinking the referential frameworks on which policies are built

Manifesto for a Post-Critical Pedagogy Naomi Hodgson, Joris Vlieghe, Piotr Zamojski, 2018-01-09 The belief in the transformative potential of education has long underpinned critical educational theory But its concerns have also been largely political and economic using education as the means to achieve a better or ideal future state of equality and social justice Our concern is not whether such a state can be realized Rather the belief in the transformative potential of education leads us to start from the assumption of equality and to attend to what is educational about education In Manifesto for a Post Critical Pedagogy we set out five principles that call not for an education as a means to achieve a future state but rather that make manifest those educational practices that do exist today and that we wish to defend The Manifesto also acts as a provocation as the starting point of a conversation about what this means for research pedagogy and our relation to our children each other and the world Manifesto for a Post Critical Pedagogy invites a shift from a critical pedagogy premised on revealing what is wrong with the world and using education to solve it to an affirmative stance that acknowledges what is educational in our existing practices It is focused on what we do and what we can do if we approach education with love for the world and acknowledge that education is based on hope in the present rather than on optimism for an eternally deferred future
