L. Jacob, 1874 Art must be the faithful expression of a society since it represents it by its works as it has created them undeniable witnesses of its spirit and manners for future generations But it must be acknowledged that art is only the consequence of the ideas which it expresses it is the fruit of civilization not its origin To understand the Middle Ages and the Renaissance it is necessary to go back to the source of its art and to know the life of our fathers these are two inseparable things which entwine one another and become complete one by the other Preface study Barbarian Roman and Christian customs and character are mixed up in the same society and very often in the same individuals Apart from feudalism the counter of dealers fairs and markets manufactures commerce industry and fashion and dress will attract the attention of the reader in this work The author has taken great pains in reproducing by means of strict facsimiles the engraving and chromo lithography pertaining to the Middle Ages and the rarest engravings of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries as well as the most precious miniatures of the manuscripts preserved in principal libraries of Europe This has not made it easier to understand the subject under study more intimately but has also added the beauty and value of the book The detailed introduction by the Editor provides added and latest information about the subject under study It is hoped that the book and the subject would be of greatest interest not only to the man of science and students of European history but to the common man of the world also Besides the way the book has been produced it can be an excellent coffee table book
