Brisk, 2001

Advances in Control Education 2000 saw the additional sponsorship of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers IEEE Control System Society and the Institution of Engineers Australia National Committee on Automation Control Instrumentation One hundred and three authors from 31 countries submitted their full scale manuscripts Each received at least three reviews overseen and co ordinated by the International Program Committee members Twenty six members of the International Program Committee participated in the review process All reviews were anonymous In many cases after writing initial assessments reviewers were put in touch with the Program Committee Co Chairman to discuss a paper further by e mail Sixty papers were selected for full presentation Only those successfully presented at the conference are included in these proceedings Despite its small population Australia has always had a high level of international activity in control with Australian researchers contributing world leading academic work in control It has had a President of IFAC itself Professor Brian Anderson and many names are instantly recognisable at the forefront of developments in control theory It also has major industrial processes in minerals petrochemicals food and agricultural processing in manufacturing in transport and in communications that look to control for safety efficiency and reduced environmental impacts The education of engineers in the various aspects of control is thus of vital importance to Australia as it is to all developed and developing countries

Robust Control Design 2000 (ROCOND 2000) Vladimír Kučera, Michael Šebek, 2000 This Proceedings contains the papers presented at the IFAC Symposium on Robust Control Design held in Prague on 21-23 June 2000 The technical program included 21 sessions on robust control and related topics in identification and signal processing The methods presented in these sessions included linear matrix inequalities polynomial techniques sliding modes optimal control fuzzy and adaptive control Attention was also paid to linear as well as nonlinear systems The highlights of the technical program were two plenary lectures by J Geromel Universidade Estadual de Campinas Brazil and H Kwakernaak University of Twente The Netherlands      Power Plants and Power Systems Control 2000 J.-P. Waha, 2000 Paperback With the decentralisation and liberalisation of the electrical energy system in Europe the network companies as well as the power plant companies will be faced with many new emerging technical problems This Proceedings contains papers presented at the IFAC 2000 Symposium on Power Plants and Power Systems Control this symposium aimed to provide international experts with a platform to discuss the challenges facing the power plant industry and to present solutions developed in countries who have previously encountered these new paradigms of grid control One of the main aims of the symposium was to promote a better knowledge of the behaviour of the power plants and power systems with the ultimate goal of an efficient flexible and secure operation coupled with a high level of service to their customers

Lagrangian and Hamiltonian Methods for Nonlinear Control 2000 N.E. Leonard, R. Ortega, PT, 2000-10-26 This Proceedings contains the papers presented at the IFAC Workshop on Lagrangian and Hamiltonian Methods for Nonlinear Control held at Princeton University USA in March 2000 The workshop featured presentations and in depth discussions of recent theoretical and practical developments in Lagrangian and Hamiltonian approaches to nonlinear control New technologies have created engineering problems where successful controller designs must account for nonlinear effects yet existing theory for general nonlinear systems often proves insufficient This workshop focused on recent research that gives modeling a central role and focuses on structure that can be exploited in controller design The research presented covered a diverse set of application areas

Manoeuvring and Control of Marine Craft 2000 (MCMC 2000) Mogens Blanke, M. M. A. Pourzanjani, Zoran Vukić, 2001 This Proceedings contains the papers presented at the 5th IFAC Conference on Manoeuvring and Control of Marine Craft held in Aalborg Denmark on 23-25 August 2000 The conference attracted more papers than any of the previous events in this series of meetings The Proceedings contains three plenary papers from key international speakers on the topics of nonlinear ship control fault detection and resolution in AUVs and control of the human element Altogether there are over 60 papers covering recent progress in all areas of this growing research area Topics covered include but are not limited to application of new theory on manoeuvring related problems for surface ships and the complex manoeuvring control and sensor problems for autonomous underwater vehicles Underwater activity is clearly a hot international topic as shown by the fact that over one third of the conference sessions were dedicated solely to this issue Non linear control motion control autopilots and path control high speed vessels modelling information systems and offshore systems are other areas where there is considerable activity as shown by the large range of topics covered by the papers in the Proceedings

Computer Aided Control Systems Design 2000 (CACSD 2000) J. O. Gray, 2001 This Proceedings contains the papers presented at the 8th IFAC Symposium on Computer Aided Control Systems Design held at Salford UK on 11-13 September 2000 Modelling has emerged as a central issue here and industrial users require the development of modelling languages for both analyses and design as well as generic models and tools which can be used for system identification optimisation and fault diagnostics Linear lumped parameter systems of general complexity are currently well addressed by a range of commercially available packages However there is a dearth of tools suitable for the analysis and synthesis of large scale distributed non linear hybrid and stochastic systems which are increasingly a feature in modern manufacturing and process engineering As the scale of the problems to be addressed increases there is a need for numerically robust and efficient computational procedures linked to powerful interactive graphical interfaces which maximise the use of limited human resources and of course standardised data bases which can be used with wide range of analysis and design procedures Topics covered included the now traditional domains of algorithm architectures and tools and there was a very welcome emphasis on applications where no less than four sessions were devoted to this important aspect

Modelling and Control in Agriculture, Horticulture, and Post-harvest Processing (Agricontrol 2000) Gerrit van Straten, K. J. Keesman, J.
